UNCLE SAM DIDN'T LIKE DECISION

Result of the Venezuelan Arbitration Regretted at Washington.

Washington, Feb. 22. — A prominent official of the state department when shown the press dispatch relative to the decision in the Venezuela arbitration, stated that while the department regretted exceedingly the precedent which the Hague tribunal had made in this case, there was nothing for the United States to do but accept the result philosophically as binding in international law. The question which the United States shall receive the amount of awards was the smallest question. It is regarded as a premium on violence, and as tending to discourage nations which are disposed to settle their claims by the peaceful methods of diplomacy. The Venezuelan Government, while the principal party nominally to the proceedings before the Hague tribunal, was really rather indifferent as to which power should be paid first, recognizing the fact that they must all be paid in some order. That Government has been carrying out the undertaking reached in the protocols which terminated the allies' intervention to set apart 30 per cent of the customs receipts at La Guayra and Puerto Cabello, month by month, and the money has been placed in banks awaiting this decision. The funds accumulated up to date will be paid over to England, Germany and Italy, as well as 30 per cent of the subsequent customs receipts at the ports named, until the claims at these ports shall be satisfied in full. This probably will take about two years, and after that the claims of non-oilied or peace powers will be taken up and paid pro rata.

Tuberculosis of the Lungs Cured

THE WORLD'S GREATEST PHYSICIAN EULOGIZE CATARRHOZE, WHICH KILLS ALL THE GERMS, HEALS THE MEMBRANES, CURES THOROUGHLY.

That consumption is due to the presence of germs in the air passages is now admitted by all physicians. Before the disease can be cured, these germs must be killed. Liquid medicine taken into the stomach can't possibly reach the air cells of the lungs, and is therefore useless.

Catarrhoze never fails to kill the bacilli of consumption for the following reasons, which are plain to every thinking person: First—Each breath of medicated air you draw through Catarrhoze Inhaler is at once sent through every air cell and air passage in the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs; it is then sure to reach the nest of the consumption germs.

Being a powerful antiseptic Catarrhoze at once kills these germs and establishes such a healthy condition in the lungs that microbes can't live there. Once the cause of the disease is removed it is only a matter of time till you get well and healthy again. That Catarrhoze does permanently cure Tubercular Trouble can no longer be doubted. Ample evidence of its marvelous merit is furnished every day. Thousands have been cured after all else failed by this great germ destroyer which is inhaled to the very source of the disease.

Mrs. G. P. McClosky, writing from Salt Lake City, United States, says: "My doctor ordered me to Colorado, where I first used Catarrhoze. I inhaled it probably 20 times a day. In one week it stopped my cough completely, and it was not very long in taking every bit of soreness and hoarseness out of my throat. The antiseptic vapor of Catarrhoze must have certainly have killed all the germs of consumption in my lungs, for I came home in seven months a 'cure.' My doctor says Catarrhoze is a marvel. It is of the greatest assistance in lung trouble, and cured me permanently."

Not only consumption but every form of catarrh and throat trouble is easily cured by Catarrhoze. Two months' treatment costs $1.00. At druggists or by mail from N. C. Folsom & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont. For a quick and certain cure use only Catarrhoze.

Georgia's new vagrancy law makes it lawful to put to work on the highways any adult who cannot show he has regular employment. As a result of the enforcement of this law the highways of that State are being put in the finest condition.

"BY MEDICINE LIFE MAY BE PROLONGED." So wrote Shakespeare nearly three hundred years ago. It is so today. Medicine will prolong life, but be sure of the qualities of the medicine. Life is prolonged by keeping the body free from disease. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, used internally, will cure coughs and colds, eradicate asthma, overcome croup, and give strength to the respiratory organs. Give it a trial, sure and effectual.

WANTED AT TORONTO.
Spokane, Wash., Feb. 22. — John Thamer, wanted at Toronto, Ont., on a charge of forgery, alleged to have been committed in 1903, has been captured in Spokane. He has consented to return without extradition. Thamer had been working in Spokane nearly two years under an assumed name.

SOCIAL DAYS IN LONDON

Weddings and Dances Are the Notable Features.

London, Feb. 22. — Weddings and amateur theatricals and one or two dances have been the chief items on society's programme of the last week. In the first category the most important was that of the Duke of Norfolk, but that, taking place quietly in the country, was less of a function in the eyes of west enders than the marriage of Miss Hope and Lord Kerry, the future Marquis of Lansdowne.

There was quite a large gathering at Marylebone parish church, including Ambassador and Mrs. Clouston, Mr. Henry and Miss Muriel White, the latter in moleskin colored cloth with a coat of the same color. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Mott, the latter in black velvet, pale blue hat, and turquoise. Lady Essex, beautifully dressed, as usual, wearing some fine furs, was with Mrs. George Cornwallis West.

The Duke of Marlborough came with the duchess, who looked beautiful in a long brown velvet cloak embroidered and trimmed with fur, and a large picture hat of the same color.

The Duchess of Marlborough, by the way, had a nasty fall at Lady Cowper's dance recently, but seemed none the worse for it.

Mrs. Harry Lawson was another dance-giver of the week. The invitations came in the form of "tiny dances," but it was well done. The supper menu cards were over a foot square, with all the delicacies of the season, hot soup, quails, and grilled ham with new peas.

The amateur theatricals which took place at Claridge's hotel for charity were successful. Royalty was present both days. Mrs. Ronalds worked hard in arranging the part of the programme, to which Mrs. George Cornwallis West contributed.

HAPPY IN OLD CLOTHES

King Wears His Suits as Long as an Ordinary Gentleman.

London, Feb. 22. — A tailor's trade journal stated that King Edward never wears the same suit of clothes twice. That, of course, is an exaggeration, for even a king is not that extravagant.

As His Majesty frequently wears the same suit in one day, the difference makes a thousand suits a year, which, at $50 a suit, would be $50,000 a year. Certainly the King wouldn't throw away that much money every year.

The fact is, the King wears his ordinary suits as long as any gentleman of the world likes comfortable clothes, and when in the country wears a shooting suit that looks to be at least three years old.

His Majesty has an enormous number of uniforms—some 500 in all—but he doesn't wear any of them except on state occasions.

The King doesn't like to wear his uniforms. He feels uncomfortable in them. Certainly he looks uncomfortable.

His Majesty, while not so fat as before his illness, is still very comfortably stout, and his waist is of aldermanic proportions.

NOW WE HAVE N-RAYS
Science Proves That Man Is Much Like Radium.

London, Feb. 22. — After the X-rays we have the "N-rays." No longer any doubt, according to the Lancet, that rays are given off by actinometers, or the so-called "N-rays." The King doesn't like to wear his uniforms. He feels uncomfortable in them. Certainly he looks uncomfortable.

HARRIETVILLE.
Harrietsville, Feb. 22. — Mrs. S. York, Aymer, is the guest of her son Harry, of this place.

Dixie Second, London, visited under the patronage of the town.

Mrs. Samuel Adams has returned from a pleasant visit with relatives at Gloucester, Mass. She is a daughter of the late John Adams, a son of the late John Adams.

On Tuesday evening the members of the Masonic Lodge, together with their ladies and friends, to the number of about 50, met at the residence of Dr. W. Doan to witness the presentation of a gold Masonic past master's jewel, beautifully engraved, to a member of the lodge.

The following address was read by H. W. York, while the presentation was made by D. D. York:

"Dr. W. Doan: Dear Sir and Bro.—We, your brethren of the lodge, No. 202, A. F. and A. M., have met this evening to give an expression of our appreciation of your services to the lodge, and to our order. They are of such a nature that anything we may say or do will be a poor return for the many good deeds which you have done for the lodge and for the order."

The doctor made a few remarks, and then the lodge adjourned. The presentation was made by D. D. York, and the lodge adjourned.

WARNS LONDON AS TO HOSTILE GUNS

Defense Held Inadequate in Case of an Attack.

OVERHAULING OF THE FORTS

In Case of Defeat of British Fleet Capital Would Be at the Mercy of an Enemy.

London, Feb. 22. — London at the mercy of German gunboats, the metropolis shelled from the lower Thames, her shipping destroyed, her public buildings reduced to ruins, and the British Empire thus struck that terrible blow over the heart against which the late Lord Salisbury warned his countrymen in one of his last speeches—such is the picture which has been painted in colors as the outcome of a lecture the other night at the United Service Institution.

Admiral Close, who took part in the discussion following the lecture, which was entitled "Coast Defense from an Imperial Standpoint," said he was astonished at the want of proper defenses in the Thames. If Germany declared war on Monday it could have a couple of gunboats up the river to the middle of London the next night.

London would never be safe until it had a couple of such craft stationed at the river. A gunboat could get past Sheerness and there would be nothing to stop it except a few police boats.

Invading vessels could inflict any amount of damage. They would destroy the houses of Parliament, the tower and play havoc with shipping. The danger was not realized by the public, said the admiral, and until it was London would never be safe.

Several alarmist articles were founded upon these premises, and may be presumed to have set multitudes of cockneys trembling in their shoes at the thought of the dread possibilities before them. It is pointed out that such a catastrophe might happen if the British fleet were defeated at sea.

It is not pleasant to reflect, said one newspaper, that the continental Anglophobia generated by the Boer war could have been backed up by a river attack on London, had any foreign power thought it worth while to make the attempt. Yet in 1899 there were no fewer than sixty obsolete muzzled-loading guns guarding the capital. Today thirty of these useless weapons, crown guns at Cliffe, and at the coast—these are some of the guns of ancient date, but at Tilbury and Sheerness "scrap iron" is now being supplied to the coast.

The Mersey defenses are in course of being brought up to date. The cordons of land forts around London is of comparatively modern creation, at the time of the Boer war. The volunteer artillery, who on mobilization would man the Thames forts, still drill with obsolete weapons, and it is doubtful indeed if there are six men in each battery who know enough about quick-firing guns to use one effectively if emergency should find them blind to the danger. The work of reorganization of the Thames defenses has begun and before the year is out the forts will all be supplied with modern guns.

Well known but anonymous military and naval experts have been called into consultation, and one of them drew a startling picture of torpedoes at Westminster.

Given first of all one indispensable condition of surprise," said he, "and the Thames could easily be entered at any time by an enemy's fleet. There are no defenses immediately available to check the ascent of the river, and a few vessels, say, a small squadron of swift-sailing, powerfully armed destroyers, or small cruisers, if they once got past Nore, could torpedo the houses of Parliament."

IT NEEDS NO TESTIMONIAL.—It is a guarantee in itself. If testimonials were required they could be furnished by thousands from all sorts and conditions of men in widely different places. Many have put forth every year which have but an ephemeral existence, and are every day of no more. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil has grown a reputation every day since it first made its appearance.

BOURASSA AND IMPERIALISM.
Montreal, Feb. 22. — Mr. H. Bourassa, M. P. for Labelle, and A. Lavergne, M. P. for Montmagny, were the speakers at a meeting held Sunday night under the direction of the French-Canadian National League. Mr. Bourassa, in his speech, strongly attacked the Chamberlain policy, and declared that rather than consent to it he would favor the cutting of the colonial ties. He also strongly attacked Sir Frederick Borden for sitting on the imperial defense commission. Mr. Lavergne, who was recently elected to represent Montmagny in the Commons, also made an anti-imperialism address.

DEATH OF A VETERAN.
Toronto, Feb. 22. — Michael Roach, a veteran of the Crimea and Fenian raid, and a respected resident of Toronto for more than thirty years, died Sunday, aged 75 years. He was a native of Ireland, and joined the Thirtieth Cambridgeshire Regiment at Manchester. He was at Alma, Inkerman and the fall of Sebastopol, and received a medal with three bars.

When bright steel clangs merrily on ice is the pleasure time for the lads and lassies. The blood surges strong—there is never a care in the world. Just after, when the reaction sets in when the danger for cold-taking is greatest—there should be a good cup of Blue Ribbon Tea. It gently exhilarates the system—helps the body to cool off gradually and prevents any cold-taking. Doubly pleasurable, it combines with its usefulness a deliciousness of taste and aroma that make it entrancing.

The test of a heating system is the warmth of the halls in the early morning. A hot water system will keep a comfortable, even temperature all over the house day and night. Getting-up time finds perfect comfort all over the house. The is the highest development of hot water heating. Other makers come as near as they can or dare to the Oxford idea. That is the standard they try to reach. If you prefer the Oxford idea, insist that you get it in the original not the imitation. This illustration shows the utility of the grate construction. Modern Languages

TAUGHT BY MODERN METHODS.
The old plan of learning a language was to memorize rules of grammar and then apply them in writing sentences. This is a phonographic method is different, and embodies the best ideas of the modern educational system. You learn French, German or Spanish, just as you learned English. You practice, and imitate, dwelling on points of grammar only as they arise; and there is no reason why you should not obtain just as thorough a mastery. If you are interested, would it not be well to investigate anyway? Sample lessons on the phonograph and full particulars may be had by writing to T. J. Sullivan, London manager.
