To have an imperial army officer, who has traveled around the world, say that he was highly pleased with the is no small compliment. But such a compliment was paid the Seventh in a speech delivered by Col. Seventh to Indulge in Maneuvers made "forbidden ground." There On May 24—The

The officers of the Seventh Regiment accomplished two things of importance last night. They formally opened their handsome messrooms over th main entrance of the armories, and, secondly, outlined plans for what will undoubtedly be a very enjoyable field day on May 24.

The field maneuvers on Victoria Day will probably be more interesting than any yet held in this vicinity. The difficulty of getting the required land at this time of the year was solved by choosing Springbank for the scene of the sham-battle. In the morning, one-half of the battation will march out to the park, and proceed as if it were an army about to assault or lay siege to the city. Their first move will be in the direction of cutting off the city's water supply.

When this shall, supposedly, have been accomplished, the defending party's scouts will telephone the dire news in to the city. The gallant defenders seeing that unless the city's water supply is restored, the might as well be tossed up, will hasten westward and throw themselves upon the enemy. They will, it is arranged, be driven back temporarily, but in the end will be able to ensconce themselves on the summit of the hill just west of the park. A dinner will be held at the

So novel is the plan of the "battle," and such a picturesque fighting-ground will the rolling scenery of Springbank form, that there is no doubt the movements will be extremely interesting from the spectator's standpoint. Moreover, there will this time be eight companies engaged, or about 200 men on each side, instead of only two companies, as on Thanksgiving Day. However interesting the scene will be to the Springbank holiday-maker, it

"THE OLD DELIGHT" Before Coffee Did It's Work.

When you get from food that power which keeps the heart beating high, full and regularly, and the nerves firm and steady, you may say with Monte Cristo, "The world is mine!" All things that may be attained by human endeavor are possible to you. But if you fill the stomach with drugs, instead of food, you get only an unnatural stimulation which leaves you in worse condition than you were before. Coffee is a drug. In time that sort of thing wears on you and wrecks the whole nervous system. Sure, sure, sure! A lady of Mamaroneck, N. Y. tells how she became a nervous wreck hrough the use of coffee:

"I had been a sufferer," she says, from nervous indigestion for a number of years, and doctored for the same without result. I was in part to blame, for although the physician for-bade me the coffee, and limited me to a small allowance of tea, I failed to My digestion got to be so poor that was unable to eat scarcely anything. became very much depressed and discouraged over my condition, for I had no hope of relief, until a little more than a year ago a friend recommended Postum Food Coffee. "I was greatly surprised to find that the new beverage acted almost immediately and most favorably upon my nerves. It certainly is a nerve build-er, at least it has been in my case. In in incredibly short time my nervous ndigestion disappeared entirely, and with it has gone the depression and blues" that follow in its train.

"I am careful to boil Postum Coffee from 20 to 30 minutes — then, using either boiled or condensed milk or ream, the latter preferred, I have as Church, South London, where they will attend service.

should be remembered that movements may be seriously interfered with, or robbed of their military atmosphere, by the over-anxiety on the part of civilians to get to the "front." Spectators will not be tolerated between the firing lines. It is the opinion of some that certain places of vantage in the park should be chosen, where onlookers may gather, and other localities be

But the discussion of the field day maneuvers did not by any means monopolize the evening in the officers' messrooms. Luncheon was served, and the beautiful rooms were "warmed" in good style. It was a late hour before a pleasant evening was brought to a

WASTED WORDS ON SEWER QUESTION

Ald. Cooper Had Another Oratorical Spell, Which Availed Him Nothing.

Though Reuben didn't figure in the proceedings of the city council last night, Cynthia did. That is, Cynthia street. Joseph Swartz owns a lot on Cynthia street. So does Ald. Gerry. Some years ago, when the latter built on the lot, he tried to induce the other propertly owners to sign for a sewer, but they objected. In order to overcome the difficulty. Ald. Gerry constructed through his own premises, at a cost of $43, a sewer to connect with the sewer on Askin street. This sewer he has used ever since. Now Mr. Swartz desires to build on his lot, but he has no sewer connection. He got up a petition for a sewer, but Ald. Gerry signed against it. Consequently Mr. Swartz is disappointed and several aldermen last night made it a point to go out of their way to per-sonally abuse Ald. Gerry, accusing him of obstruction. Ald. Cooper was the most bitter of

"I will say to Ald. Gerry's face that ought to be ashamed of himself, he said. "It's a downright shame for any man, much less an alderman, to reat his fellow-citizens in this way. Ald. Cooper continued in this strain, and he talked so long, and so often repeated himself, that his listeners began to betray symptoms of being bored.

"Your worship," said Ald, Greenlees, when at last he got the floor, "I think we have heard enough from this man "Man on your left!" shouted Ald. Cooper, in a voice as excited as if it was "man overboard." "What do you mean by that?"

"Order!" commanded the mayor.

You must address the chair.'

"I have been listening for some time and I must say that I do not know what all this talk is about," said Ald Greenlees.
"That's your fault," interjected Ald "Anyone could hear you talk all night and then not know what you were trying to talk about," retorted Ald. Greenlees. "Well, this man's just as good a man as you are," Ald. Cooper asserted.

"Just as good-perhaps better," Ald Greenlees answered. He then stated that an alderman had as much right as any other citizen to refuse to sign a petition if he felt inclined to. Ald. Gerry deemed it wise to explain his position. In a few words he changed the whole aspect of the matter, and told of how, in order to accommodate Mr. Swartz, he will be compelled to pay two sewer rates, and how also it will be necessary to tax a widow who does not want the sewer, and who is in rather poor circum "But personally I will not stand in Mr. Swartz's way," declared the alderman. "If he will agree to pay this lady's sewer rates, I will sign for the sewer."

Ald. Cooper was again elucidating upon equal rights for all when Ald Saunders interrupted:
"Your worship," said Ald. Saunders,
"I will move that Ald, Cooper be given two hours to get the wind off his

THE WAITZ MILLIONS

Hamilton Man, As Well As London, Interested in Big Estate.

The Hamilton Times has the following in regard to the large fortune to which the father of Wolf Waitz, of the Green, Swift Company, of this city, has fallen heir, the particulars of which were given in The Advertiser some time ago:
"Der Morgan Yournal, the only Hebrew daily paper published in New York City in Yiddish, contained an article one day last week of interest to Hamilton. A Jacob Waitz, who resided here two years ago, has fallen heir to an estate, part in Vienna, Austria, and part in New York City. It is reputed to amount to several million dollars. An uncle of Waitz's left Vienna over a hundred years ago for New York and amassed a fortune, securing much valuable land in the heart of New York City. He then returned to Vienna and invested money there, af-also had a married son in this city, left for Toronto after having worked ronto two New York lawyers came and broke the interesting news to him and took him to New York, and then to Vienna. After two trips across the ocean the Morgen Yournal says the case is now settled and decided in his favor. Much of this valuable land, it s said, was temporarily appropriated by the city of New York and is now very valuable. "The elder Waitz, who is the sole heir, has a family of eleven children, and while in the city was frequently want, and at times Relief Officer McMenemy came to the rescue with a little fuel. The eldest son, Wolf Waitz, who left Hamilton for London, has been telegraphed for and has gone to New York to join his now wealthy father.'
