BAUM'S STATEMENTS

"I simply wish to tell the coroner and the jury that if they get the person who chased Florence Kinrade from Portsmouth, they will get the person who murdered Ethel Kinrade."

"About a week before she left Portsmouth, she came to me and said that she had to leave, as some person had informed her that unless she did, he would drag her over the footlights and kill her. She was very much excited at the time." * * *

"Do you remember her getting sweetmeats?" "Yes, one evening I found some candles in a box in the dressing-room, and started to eat them, when she cried out not to touch them, as they might be poisoned. I tried them, however, and they were all right."

"Well, at times she appeared to be very unhappy, and several times I found her crying." "Was this condition of fright that attacked her noticed by any other people?" "Yes, sir: they all noticed it"

"Miss Knirade told me she was married," continued Baum. That she had been forced to marry a man twice her age, and that she had been divorced from him, and was then down south to get away from him. She also said that he was trying to get

"Was there a card on the flowers?" "Yes, it had a name; three names, in fact, on it, but I couldn't remember them. Mrs. Butler got the flowers and took them home to Miss Kinrade. This was a Saturday night. The next day, Sunday, I had a rehearsal with her, and I kidded her about the flowers. She said that the first two names on the card were right, but that the last name was wrong, and that if she had received the flowers while the sketch was on I would
