Insists on Certain Conditions Which Company Claims Are Not Provided For.

Ottawa, June 25 .- It is stated here on good authority that there is a serious hitch in connection with the issue of the Canadian Northern bonds provided for in the legislation passed in Parliament last session. The report is to the effect that the Government is insisting upon certain conditions being placed in the mortgage, which the heads of the Canadian Northern claim are not provided for in the act. The Government, it is stated, desires that a minimum price be fixed for the selling of the issue, so that there shall be as little sacrifice of the face value as possible. It is further stated that the Government desires to place certain conditions in the mortgage as to the time when the bonds will be offered for sale

The Government does not desire that the whole amount of the issue shall be floated at the present, when its own most recent loan has not yet been taken up by the public in its entirety. It is under-stood that there are certain other conditions insisted upon by the Government which are causing the present hitch. As a consequence of this hitch, it is understood that Sir William Mackenzie has been borrowing on his own security in the New York market, in order to tide over the situation until the matter has been finally settled.

Keep Cool!

EEPING cool is not a matter of keeping still. The people who get the most enjoyment and the least discomfort out of summer days are those who go right along about their regular business and ignore the weather.

We can all take a lesson from the up-to-date and progressive merchants of our town. They never admit it is too hot to do business. Every working day in the year their stores are open to receive us. Every day the newspaper brings us their invitations in the form of advertising.

Why should we not respond to those invitations as readily on warm days as on cool?

They set us a good example when they say: "Come, people, we are ready to serve you, even if it is

Rules of The London Advertiser's Summer Pastime

READ THESE AND KEEP THEM HANDY FOR REFERENCE

A PLEASING GAME. The competition knewn as The London Advertiser's Summer Pastime will be held through the columns of this newspaper beginning Monday, June 15th. In each issue of The Advertiser there will be printed a rebus ploture cut of which the name of a baseball, lacrosse, hockey or football player can be made. The names are generally throughout Canada, being published in newspapers frequently. A part of the names are Canadian and a part are from the important leagues of the

HOW TO STUDY. See how a rebus picture will apply to any name you know. For example: MASON might be represented by a mason at work and WAGNER by a picture or statue of the famous musician. Only one name will logically fit any rebus picture when carefully analyzed. Although initials, first names or nicknames may be worked into rebus pictures as a guide to correct solving, it will suffice if surnames are written in Answer Form.

USE THE ANSWER FORM, Under each picture will be printed a numbered Sumer Pastime Answer Form. On this the name of the player is to be writ-Coupons is completed send to London Advertiser office. Only one name may be written on one Form. The contest-ant is to keep his or her Forms until the end of the series, then send to this office with a separate list of the names last picture has appeared.

WINNERS. The person who sends in the set of Answer Forms with largest number of correct names will be en-titled to the first prize. If there should be a tie, then the prize will be evenly divided, unless there should be more than three participants tied for a prize, in which case those who have sent in sets of equal merit will be given a further opportunity to determine which shall win by solving a supplementary competition test. This rule will also apply to the lesser prizes. There will be no lottery or chance selection; all winners will be rewarded according to merit.

COMMITTEE. A Summer Pastime Committee of fair-minded persons of high standing, who have no personal interest in this establishment or in the Pastime will be selected to ascertain the winners. The decision of the Committee shall be final and all who enter do so distinctly upon this understanding.

OPEN TO ALL. The Advertiser's Summer Pastime is open to everybody—except employees of this newspaper establishment and their families—regardless of sex or age; and it makes no difference where a competitor lives, provided the package of Answer Forms is returned within the time allowed. There can be no favoritism of any Mind.

HELP TO CONTESTANTS. As an aid to competitors who may not be familiar with the names of those who are associated with the games of baseball, lacrosse, hockey and football this year, a book has been published entitled "Summer Pastime Handbook" containing a selected list of about 2,500 players and including every one of the names used in our Pastime. The book is so arranged as to present the easiest possible method of finding the desired names. The price of the Handbook is 25 cents and is obtainable at the office of The London Advertiser, Advertiser Building, between 8 and 6 daily, or will be mailed on receipt of 26 cents in postage stamps. This book may be also obtained at various newsdealers' and can also be ordered at most newstands or of newspaper carriers. Additional to the information given in this book the purchaser vill receive free an extra supply of Answer Forms which will have the same standing as those published in The Advertiser. Any competitor who obtains this book is guaranteed that all the names illustrated ten and when the series of Answer Form by the rebus picture can be found therein. Therefore it is possible to a mathematical certainty for a competitor to compile a correct list by due study.

COMBINATION. The London Advertiser's Summer Pastime, with its $500 written additionally on a form that will in cash rewards, is being operated by be printed in The Advertiser after the The Lordon Advertiser. Readers of The Advertiser who may wish to give distant friends the pleasure of participating in the Summer Pastime, as well as in enjoying the wholesome weekly periodical of unusual interest, should call their attention to this opportunity.

GENERAL RULES. Answer Form may be filled in with pencil, ink or typewriter. Poor handwriting or triffing errors will not count against a participant. No sets of Answer Forms are to be sent in until called for in The London Advertiser after the last rebus pic-ture has appeared. The management reserves the right to make any modifica tion in the rules that may be found necessary during the progress of the Summer Pastime, or until the committee takes charge. One participant may send in as many separate sets of Answer Forms as desired, but he or she will be allowed to win not over four prizes. All persons are treated as independent individuals; therefore two or more members of a family or household have the same rights as if they were strangers
