be hired fast enough. But can you run the typewriter, Janet? "I ought to be able to," answered Janet.

"No," snapped Janet; "but an ogress!" And then she gave her aunt a detailed account of the events of the day and in ending, said: "And to think, that at the very moment you supposed him carrying on with me, he was preparing a delightful surprise for you, auntie!"

"I'm glad you've got it," said Janet, by way of introduction. "You," said the gentleman, with a pleasant smile. "I'm glad to see you."

"What, you know, John?" exclaimed Mrs. Bush, indignantly. "Yes, I know, Mary," said her husband with a heavy laugh.

No Such Thing as Luck. "You young people," said a successful banker, "are fond of talking of luck and chance. As for myself, I do not believe in either."

"Each year that I live I am more impressed with the order and meaning which attend events—the least as well as the greatest. Under this inexorable law the smallest incident in our lives works for our good, if we try to do right.

"I was forced to turn back. As I plowed my way through the night and storm, I heard a feeble cry for help, and found buried beneath the snow a woman and her child nearly frozen.

"But when I look back at it now, I find that the loss of money was but a temporary matter, which afforded me a human life actually. The firm recovered from the shock in a year or two.

"The boy, who would have died if I had not been driven back by the storm, was a thin, nervous little fellow, full of energy and courage. He pushed his way through snow and ice, and made a specialist in medicine, and has made scientific discoveries which have benefited the civilized world.

"No man is satisfied who does not know that he is at peace with God. The closer man looks to the Bible the more of God they will find in it.

"The devil would rather get one child by the hand than to make a dozen drunkards. The man who has learned to love people doesn't like to be on the right road to heaven. It is hard to convince a man who has no religion that any body else is as good as he is.

"Stoicly, truth, faithfulness, come into the very essence of friendship. If a man is worth knowing at all, he is worth knowing well.

"Ambitions is the object of love, the scope and end to obtain it, for whose sake we love, and which our mind covets to enjoy. It is of little trite that the greatest happiness is to be found in the love of God.

"Children especially find this the best of cereals, for they like its taste. It is soothed and healthful, and gives a refreshing effect. Every man feels instinctively that all the beautiful sentiments in the world weigh less than a single loving action.

"Prof. Bell, of telephone fame, has invented a machine which will be of great use in the manufacture and more especially in the construction of Newfoundland. The fishermen are frequently cut off from their vessels by fog and lose their lives as frequently by lack of drinking water as by exposure. The invention consists of a glass cylinder or bottle, through the neck of which is a rubber tube containing a smaller rubber tube. The glass is submerged, and a siphon cylinder, as a bellows through the rise and fall of the waves, pumps the atmosphere into the smaller tube. Then it becomes condensed, and a supply of fresh drinking water is always to be obtained.

HAD REACHED A STAGY WHEN HE WAS UNABLE TO TURN IN BED WITHOUT AID—HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS SPENT IN SEARCH FOR RELIEF—DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS AGAIN BROVE THROUGH WONDERS OF HEALTH GIVING POWER.

From the Kentville N. S. Chronicle. Mr. David O. Corkum, of Scott's Bay Road, is the owner of one of the best farms in King's Co., N. S., and is one of the best known farmers in that section of the county. He is naturally a hard working man and when strong is always to be found busy on his place. Last winter he spent the whole season in his lumber woods, was strong and healthy and worked as hard as anyone. But it has not always been so. In fact it is the wonder of the neighborhood that he is able to work at all. Before moving to Scott's Bay Road, Mr. Corkum lived at Chester, Lunenburg Co., N. S., and while there was a great sufferer from rheumatism, which affected him in such a way that he was unable to do manual labor of any kind. About this time he moved to his present home, but he could not get a moment's respite from the effects of his disease. Feeling that he must get well at any cost he had his old doctor brought from Chester to his relief, but he was unable to do anything for him. He tried many kinds of medicine being determined not to go to the west without a struggle, but his doctor summoned from Halifax, but still continued to get worse. About three years ago he took to his bed and his case developed into bone and muscle rheumatism of the worst type. It spread through all his bones, up into his neck and into his arms, causing partial paralysis of his limbs, rendering it utterly useless since he could not lift it under his waist. All the strength left his muscles, and he was unable to turn in bed without aid. He was able to stand upon his feet but could not walk. Still the doctors waited on him and still he took their medicine, but with no beneficial result. During this time Mr. Corkum paid out several hundred dollars in hard cash for doctor's bills and medicine, all of which did him not one particle of good. After lying in bed for fifteen months his case was pronounced hopeless and he was given up by all. About this time he heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as a last resource he resolved to give them a trial. The first four boxes produced no noticeable effect, but as the fifth he began to notice a change. Feeling encouraged he kept on and from that time he rapidly improved and after using the Pink Pills for a period of some twelve weeks he was restored to perfect health. Such was the wonderful story told a representative of the Western Chronicle by Mr. Corkum a short time ago. Mr. Corkum is now 50 years of age and perfectly healthy and feels younger and better than he has for years and attributes his recovery solely to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and he is willing to prove the truth of these pills to anyone who may call upon him.

"These pills are a positive cure for all troubles arising from a vitiated condition of the blood or a shattered nervous system. Send for all details by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Sneathway, N. Y., at 50 cents a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50. There are numerous imitations and substitutes against which the public is cautioned.

In the moments of despondency that come to every life—when cheerless plans seem likely to fail, when a gloomy future, instead of success seems a bad endeavor, when "everything goes wrong" and all the world looks blue to us—how comforting is the advice, "Look on the bright side; it will give you well!" This advice we must take, however. It is the person who looks on the bright side of looking on the bright side that ultimately are successful. For, to hope or to expect is to be successful. To live in the shadow of adversity is to drop and struggle and die. Our only hope lies in a struggle towards the sunshine.

To every mistress of a household is a bright outlook upon life especially valuable. Not only does it cheer her, but it is also the source of inspiration to all within her influence. If it is this that makes the cheerful moves the world, surely it is desirable that that should guide with the energy of a courageous, not faltering heart. "Forward is the watchword of youth, but when youth tempted to fall back, then is the mother's opportunity; she puts her children to the bright side, she urges them to persevere in well-doing, she keeps them true to their aspirations. So with the good man of the house. Weighed, discouraged, disgusted often, with the hardness, defects and imperfections of business life, he is half-minded to give up the struggle. He has been honest, and honest doesn't seem to count; he has been honest, and honesty "don't pay." Well for him in this crisis his wife can be his good angel, holding him back from despair, healing his wounded spirit with the balm of hopefulness, and restoring his faith in the right, so that he is enabled to "try again."

"That there is bright side to every shadow of our affairs, let us never doubt. The very failures that seem most appalling bring to us, if we will have it so, something new to succeed. Only let us not yield to despondency, and from every trial we shall gather strength, from every denial, patience, and from every defeat, experience. Strength, patience, experience, these three are inseparable helpers to our life's great guardian, and they come gladly to the side of those stout-hearted folk who persist in walking on the sunny side of the daily path.
