Quite a number of our Ferry people have gone to Boston to visit friends. Among whom are: Mrs. James Rhodes, Mrs. Hugh M. Irvine, Miss Rhods Mills, and Miss May Mills, accompanied by her friend, Miss Pickles, of Annapolis.

Rev. Mr. Gale preached his farewell scremon here Sunday evening, and although the weather was quite inclement a large number ware out to hear the last admonition of the rev. gentleman from the sacred desk. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gale have made hosts of friends since they have been in the parish, and it is with feelings of deep regret that we will have to part with them. He goes to his new field of labor this week, at London derry, Colchester county, and will carry with him the good wishes of all his parishioners.

Yesterday your correspondent had the privilege of conversing with the oldest person probably in the county, if not in the province. Mr. Thomas Marsh is 108 years of age and is still in fair possession of all his faoulties, hearing and memory quite good, and he is still able to do some work; can go to the store and do his own shopping. It is wonderful to hear him tell of events that happened 75, 80 and 85 years ago. A very few centenarians are to be found these days, and this old colored gentleman's longevity is something truly remarkable. Men who have lived around here all their days and who are now considered old, say that Mr. Marsh was called an old man when they were boys. Lovers of longevity would be much interested in conversing with this man of 108 summers.

The supervision of voters' lists, the direct canvass of voters, the superintendence of polling arrangements, are matters of vital importance that must be looked after wisely and thoroughly without overlapping, clashing or mistakes. Every city, town, village, township ought to have its local prohibition union, or alliance or club, the name is a matter of little moment. Later on will come county federation of these local unions for work that can be better done by the larger organizations.

The local organization thus formed will be ready for any exigency that may in the meantime arise. Its members will find much to do that will draw them closer together, as well as planning for the coming contest. Actual work is the best training school.

Actual work is the best training school. They may take part in municipal elections, influencing public affairs so as to aid us greatly in the later fight. They may in many instances secure the immediate enactment of prohibitory by-laws under our local option legislation. Such efforts and agitation will be powerful, education agencies may result in at once wiping out the liquor traffic in many localities.

"Organization should be undertaken on a well thought-out basis. Of course it would not be wise for any central body to insist upon any specific method of work. Friends in every place will decide for themselves. Uniformity, as far as practicable, is however desirable.

"There should be called in each locality

"There should be called in each locality, either a mass meeting of all those interested in the temperance cause, or a meeting of representatives from every temperance society and religious body in the municipality. Special care should be taken to have the cooperation of all societies and churches in this movement. SCENES IN CONSTANTINOPLE DURING THI New York, Oct. 18.—Madjhi Rahsian, a Christian Turk, was one of the passengers on board the Lagascogne, which arrived today. He comes to this country on a business trip. Through an interpreter he told about the massacres of Armenians. He was at Constantinople during the three days' massacre in August last. During the three days three thousand Armenians, he says, were alaughtered throughout the empire. Waggons filled with bodies were constantly passing through the streets of Constantinople, and none of the bodies were buried, but cart load after cart load were dumped into the sea. The sight was a sickening one, and what added to its horror was the fact that in these waggons were piled the dead and the dying, and the feeble cries of the wounded for release could be heard coming from the carts, but the appeals were utterly unheeded. Whether killed or wounded, all were thrown into the sea. New York, Oct. 18. - Madjhi Rahsian, into the sea.

Bruce.

At a late hour the guests were treated to a bounteous repast, under the modest title of refreshment. That the surprise party was in every respect a success was due to the efforts of the Misses Laura and Almeda Downie in promoting the sffair, and they received more than one compliment during the evening for their energy and skill as managers. Toronto, Oct. 15.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s into the sea.

Mr. Rahsian said he saw Turkish soldiers walking along the streets with revolvers in their hands while other Turks would be carrying clubs. The Jews of the city would point out the Armenians, and then the soldiers would aboot or clubs would be used.

The Jews would also, according to Mr. Rahsian, point out a certain house, declaring that it was inhabited by Armenians, whereupon the soldiers would break into the dwelling and kill every one, nen, women and children. The Armenians in many instances had sought refuge on roofs of houses, but the Turks would pursue them and compel them to jump off into the street and thus he killed or maimed.

Until now the Europeans have not been killed, but they are leaving Constantinople, fearing that they may be attacked. It is the general feeling in Constantinople that the European powers should interfere as soon as possible, because the Armenians are not yet conquered, and are contemplating revolt to avenge their massacred hethere.

New York, Oct. 18.—A number of Armen ians who have fied from Turkey are expected to arrive Monday, and will be met by a contigent of the salvation army, who will accompany them to Ellis island and lay their case before Commissioner Senner in order to obtain permission for the Armenians to land. At noon to morrow the Salvation army will hold a meeting at Memorial building in the interest of the Armenians. Commander Booth-Tucker and Consul Booth will address the meeting.

The Forests of Canada.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly statement of trade in Canada says: There is rather a more cheerful feeling apparent in Montreal business circles. The movement of merchandise is somewhat freer, though it can hardly be called briek, and some houses report money as coming in a little better, though improvement in this respect is not general. Cheese shipments last week were heavy, over 100,000 boxes; the market in this line, as well as butter, shows steadiness. In staple groceries there is a better general distribution; sugars are again a point weaker; teas show a tendency to advance, especially Ceylons and Japans. A fair seasonable sorting business is being done with country dry goods dealers; the general run of city retailers complain of some dulness, and there is no question of the fact that business is becoming more centralized in the large departmental stores, to the detriment of the retailer of moderate calibre. The tendency of the hide market is continued upwards, and dealers are paying a cent more for green hides. Sheepskins were also higher. Metals and hardware are moving more freely in moderate lots. In the money market there has been no recent change.

Terrible Suffering and Loss of Cattle. MR. MACOUN CHARGES THE GOVERNMENT WITH BEING RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR DESTRUCTION.

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—Prof. Macoun, of the Geological Survey, an eminent naturalist, in an address on the "Forests of Canada," referred to the vast and untold wealth of forests that Canada at one time possessed. They were, he said, Canada's chief assets, and instead of guarding them with care and zeal our present government appeared to be and instead of guarding them with care and zeal our present government appeared to be following a policy of utter annihilation. The means by which these wast forests were being destroyed was in some cases legitimate but in many others it was illegal. He believed that the legislatures had been grossly negligent of their duties in the preservation of this one great fortune which had been consigned to them for sure and safe keeping. The heritage of young Canadians was being squandered and when the rising generation reached years of maturity instead of taking possession of their once valuable heritage they would fall heir to a barren plain.

An Awful Beed.

Piedmont, N. Y., Oct. 16.—John Imboden, aged twenty-eight, of Reynolds County, killed his sister, brother and an ald man who made his sister, brother and an ald man who made his home with the Imboden on Wednesday afternoon, Imboden brained his fifteen year-old siver with an axe and when Jacob Wilhem interfered he was brained with the same weapon. Imboden then entered the house, and finding his twenty-year-old brother sick in bed, struck him in the head with the axe and then hacked his hody to pieces. He then attacked two younger sisters but they exaped and ran to their father who was at work in a cornfield. The father spread the news among the neighbors and the constable and a posse of farmers found Imboden in the yard. He defied arrest but was finally caught. Last May Imboden's wife and two daughters died sudden ly. It is now believed they were poisoned by the blood-thirsty fiend. The death of Rev. David W. C. Dimock, at the age of 85 years, took place at Truro on Tuesday last. Mr. Dimock was a well known retired Baptist clergyman, and was born 23rd December, 1812. He was educated at Acadia college, Wolfville, which institution conferred upon him the honorary degree of M. A. in 1852. In 1840 he was appointed agent of the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick Sabbath School Union. On December 6th, 1841, he was ordained and set apart for the Christian ministry at Chester. Shortly after his ordination Mr. Dimock became the minister in charge of the Onelow Baptist church, which included Truro, and a more extensive field of labor than it does at the present day. Here he labored with much success, and widened the bounds and usefulness of his church. He retained his pastorate over the First Baptist church, Truro, down to 1873, when he was succeeded by Rev. John E. Goucher.

London, Oct. 16.—The funeral services over the body of the Most Rev. Edward White Benson, archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of all England, were held in the cathedral at Canterbury this afternoon. The edifice was crowded with people among whom were the Duke of York and Prince Charles of Denmark as the representatives of the Prince of Wales. The Duke of Connaught, Duke of Cambridge and a host of ecclesiastical, political and social dignities. The edifice was crowded with people among the places I have heard the dispute in regard to the flight of bullets. Who among your readers is good authority in the matter of projectiles? Ist, do the grooves in all rifles turn the same way? 2nd, does the turn of a rifle ball from right to left tend to deflect it in its flight, from a line or plane parallel with the barrel? Does it tend to right or left? 3rd, if in firing a rifle the sights lean to the right of the perpendicular, will the ball have a tendency to go to the right or left of centre of the bull's eye? I am, yours,

Decided to Marry. TOUNG SMITH AND MISS MCINTOSH RETURN TO NOVA SCOTIA AS MAN

Salem, Mass., Oct. 16.—A marriage license was issued to-day to Harry E. Smith, aged 19, and Miss Bessie M. McIntosh, of Nova Scotia, aged 18. Smith is the young man held for the grand jury on the charge of abandoning his infant by the roadside in Wenham. The young woman is mother of the child. The person who called with her to secure the license, stated they were to be married and would take the child; the case against him would be placed on file, and they would return at once to Nova Scotia and establish a home there. There has been considerable sympathy expressed for Smith, from his youth. It was thought by many he hardly realized the enormity of his offence in abandoning the child, which was in the way as evidence of their fault. Toronto, Oct. 17.—The following manifesto will be issued by the Dominion Alliance at an early date:

"The Prohibitionists of Canada will soon have to face a most important crisis. A plebiscite of the electors of the Dominion is to be taken upon the question of prohibition. The leader of the government has promised that the mandate of the people thus recorded will be carried out. The Dominion Parliament has unquestioned power to enact a prohibitory law. In this contest the liquor traffic will fight as never before, for its existence is at stake. The interests involved are incalculably great. We ought to begin our preparations for the campaign.

"Our first duty is organization. Churches, W. C. T. Unions, Sons of Temperance Unions, I.O.G.T. lodges, R.T. of T. Councils, Young People's Societies and other organizations will do their duty in meetings, sermons, lectures, appeals and other means of informing the public mind and rousing the public conscience. We must have in every locality another special agency in which all can unite for the systematic planning and carrying out of the business details of the campaign.

—One of the most gruesome additions to the military equipment of the German empire is the crematory. Hereafter every German regiment in time of war will be accompanied by one of these grim reminders of a huge kind of baking oven mounted on four wheels. It is said that the soldiers resent the innovation on the ground that the machine is a too vivid reminder of the horrors of war. The inventor claims that the machine will dispose of the killed in a few hours, but it is not improbable that some of the wounded might be cremated by mistake. The invention does not find favor elsewhere and it is to be hoped that such a gruesome object will not become general.
