EVERY STUDENT AND SUNDAY-SCHOOL TEACHER SHOULD READ

CHRISTIANITY

AND SOME OF ITS EVIDENCES.

By SIR OLIVER MOWAT, Premier of Ontario.

“We read through its pages in one sitting, and with increasing pleasure and thankfulness. It is remarkable for its clearness and conciseness of statement, its firm grasp of fundamental truths, its cogency of reasoning, and its charitable tone. But most of all it is remarkable as the production of a layman, a lawyer, a politician, the Premier of Ontario, one to whom law and politics have been supposedly all-absorbing, and literature and theology but by the way. It is plain, however, that Attorney-General Mowat has given much careful attention to questions of religion and theology. Not long ago he set himself to study the subject of Evidences in the light of recent changes. The result he stated in a lecture delivered in Woodstock, and now published in a neat little book after the style of the English edition of Drummond's ‘Greatest Thing in the World.’ It is deserving of careful study on the part of students of theology and Christian people generally. Its standpoint is the true one—Jesus Christ, the founder of Christianity, His life, His Spirit, His influence. Its method is good, its spirit is earnest and devout. That it may have a very wide circulation will be the desire of every well-wisher of Christianity.”—Rev. James MacDonald, in Knox College Monthly.
