

Stationery and Professional Prestige

There is an indefinable "something" about really good stationery that impresses the recipients of your letters. Correct letterheads and statement forms will increase your prestige in the neighbourhood in which you practise, just as surely as the car you drive or the clothes you wear.

For years past it has been our privilege to co-operate with many prominent medical men in the execution of their professional stationery. It has been and is, our constant aim to produce only stationery of dignity and character at a "usable" price.

You will be interested in looking over a number of sample letterheads and statement forms which we have executed for other professional men. A phone message or a postcard will bring a free portfolio to your office by return mail. Shall we send it?
