ANNOUNCE:

A DUET WITH AN OCCASIONAL CHORUS:

Being the story of the married life of a young couple from the halcyon days of courtship to the responsible period of housekeeping and better acquaintance with each other. A book that is full of human nature. By A. CONAN DOYLE, author of "The Memoirs of Sherlock Holmes," etc. Dr. Conan Doyle's name is enough to ensure for this book, on which he has bestowed much care, a very hearty reception. Crown 8vo, cloth $1.50; paper 75c.

THE BLACK DOUGLAS:

A Story of the Fall of the Great House of Douglas. By S. R. CROCKETT, author of "The Raiders," "The Stickit Minister," etc. In this story Mr. Crockett has distanced his former efforts. The book is full of the spirit of mediæval times, and the situations are stirring and engrossing. By the power of his genius the author makes us live in the fifteenth century. His men and women are real, and their loves and hates, their deeds of valour, or their duplicity draw us through page after page with unflinching power. Crown 8vo, cloth $1.25; paper 75c.

LIFE AND LETTERS OF "LEWIS CARROLL":

Whose real name was of course Rev. C. L. Dodgson. By his nephew, S. D. COLLINGWOOD, B.A. Nearly everybody now knows that "Lewis Carroll" was the pseudonym of the gifted author of "Alice in Wonderland," a book of humour which has had one of the most continuous successes in literary history. This most interesting memoir is illustrated by 100 beautiful half-tone reproductions of photographs taken by "Lewis Carroll" of the distinguished men and women he knew. Crown 8vo, cloth, ornamented, $2.00.

AYLWIN:

By THEODORE WATTS-DUNTON. A vivid, enthralling, absorbing love story, full of movement and life and vigor. Its open air freshness, its thrilling interest and its intense and noble passion, will make it one of the most eagerly read novels of recent years. It will be read with delight by multitudes who may scarcely reflect at all on its deeper meaning. Sinf is the finest heroine in recent fiction. The tenth edition of this remarkable work, by the friend of Tennyson, Browning, William Morris and George Meredith, is now selling in England. Crown 8vo, cloth $1.50; paper 75c.

LIFE OF JANE AUSTEN:

This book is a most interesting study of the life and works of the famous authoress, by GOLDWIN SMITH, D.C.L. To the writing of the life of Jane Austen, the gifted biographer has brought a rare literary insight and the most complete information. All who are interested in English literature should have this book on their shelves. Library edition, crown 8vo, half morocco, $1.50.

BIBLE STORIES:

In a form calculated for the general reader. Edited by RICHARD G. MOULTON, Ph.D., Professor of Literature in English in Chicago University. This attractive little book gives the classic narratives of the Scriptures without the arbitrary divisions into chapters and verses, which too often hinder a continuous perusal. Square 16mo, cloth 50c.

90 Wellington Street West, - TORONTO.

A BOOK THAT WILL LIVE.

"NEXT TO MARK TWAIN as a humourist.

ABOVE LOWELL as a master of dialect.

EQUAL TO BRET HARTE as a descriptive writer.

AS A NOVELIST on a par with the best of those who live and have their being in the heart of hearts of American readers."—Philadelphia Item.

BONHOMME

French Canadian Stories and Sketches.

By HENRY CECIL WALSH.

With 12 Illustrations by William Brymner, R.C.A. Paper, 60c.; Cloth, $1.25.

These stories are a vivid and faithful portrayal of the habitant of to-day as he stands on his native soil. The author, a native of Montreal, has spent his life among those whose habits, customs and little peculiarities he has deftly caught in his weaving. For ingenious arrangement, original conception, daring and sustained interest, the stories are unsurpassed in their field. Mr. Brymner's drawings greatly enhance both interest and value. While giving truthful impressions of the habitant and his environments, he has the rare faculty of idealizing these bits of every day life.
