

I would not want these measures to be interpreted as being taken in contemplation of an early outbreak of war but rather as insurance which any prudent Government, realizing the possibilities, must take as safeguarding precautions.

