CONTENTS

SECTIO	N .		PAGE
10.	Potential Railway Traffic	• •	346
	Actual Traffic
	Traffic Interrelations of Canada and the United State
	Volume of Transit

CHAPTER II

FREIGHT CLASSIFICATION

Classification Fundamental	•		•			352
How Classifications Are Built	•	•				356
Classifications of the United States .	•	•	•			357
Canadian Classification	•	•	•			358
International Traffic	•	•	•			359
Expansion of Canadian Classification .		•	•	•		360
Quantity Differences	•	•				362
Car Measurements	•	•	•	•		364
Cost of C. L. and L. C. L. Shipments						365
Uniformity in Canada	•		•	•		366
Mixing Privilege	•	•	•	•		367
Effect on Shippers and Consumers .	•		•	•		368
Factors Affecting Classification	•	•	•	•		371
Value of the Article	•	•	•	•		372
Bulk and Weight	•	•	•	•		374
Risk Attached to Carriage	•	•	•	•		374
Facilities and Equipment Required .	•	•	•	•		375
Classification in Operation in Canada .	•	•	•	•		377
False Classification and Complaints .		•	•	•		380
	How Classifications Are BuiltClassifications of the United StatesCanadian ClassificationInternational TrafficExpansion of Canadian ClassificationQuantity DifferencesCar MeasurementsCost of C. L. and L. C. L. ShipmentsUniformity in CanadaMixing PrivilegeEffect on Shippers and ConsumersFactors Affecting ClassificationValue of the ArticleBulk and WeightRisk Attached to CarriageFacilities and Equipment RequiredClassification in Operation in Canada	How Classifications Are BuiltClassifications of the United StatesCanadian ClassificationInternational TrafficExpansion of Canadian ClassificationQuantity DifferencesCar MeasurementsCost of C. L. and L. C. L. ShipmentsUniformity in CanadaMixing PrivilegeEffect on Shippers and ConsumersFactors Affecting ClassificationValue of the ArticleBulk and WeightRisk Attached to CarriageFacilities and Equipment RequiredClassification in Operation in Canada	How Classifications Are Built.Classifications of the United States.Canadian Classification.International Traffic.Expansion of Canadian Classification.Quantity Differences.Car Measurements.Cost of C. L. and L. C. L. ShipmentsUniformity in Canada.Mixing Privilege.Effect on Shippers and Consumers.Factors Affecting Classification.Value of the Article.Bulk and Weight.Risk Attached to Carriage.Facilities and Equipment Required.Classification in Operation in Canada.	How Classifications Are Built.Classifications of the United States.Canadian Classification.International Traffic.Expansion of Canadian Classification.Quantity Differences.Car Measurements.Cost of C. L. and L. C. L. Shipments.Uniformity in Canada.Mixing Privilege.Effect on Shippers and Consumers.Factors Affecting Classification.Value of the Article.Bulk and Weight.Risk Attached to Carriage.Facilities and Equipment Required.Classification in Operation in Canada.	How Classifications Are Built	How Classifications Are Built.Classifications of the United States.Canadian Classification.International Traffic.Expansion of Canadian Classification.Quantity Differences.Car Measurements.Cost of C. L. and L. C. L. Shipments.Uniformity in Canada.Mixing Privilege.Effect on Shippers and Consumers.Factors Affecting Classification.Value of the Article.Bulk and Weight.Risk Attached to Carriage.Facilities and Equipment Required.Classification in Operation in Canada.

CHAPTER III

FREIGHT RATES

33.	Importance of Freight Tra	ffic .		•	•	•	•	• •	381
34.	Railway Rates of Universa	ıl Int	erest		•	•	•		382
35.	Competition		•	•		•	•		383
36.	Compared with Mercantile	and	Man	ufa	ctur	ing	Bu	siness	384
37.	Evils of Parallel Lines .		•	•	•	•	•		385
38.	The West Shore Case .		•	•	•	•	•	• •	387
39.	"Postage Stamp" Rates	• •	•	•	•	•	•		387
40.	Distance Rates	• •	•	•	•	•	•		389