delays which have occurred, but also were the cause (indirectly, it may be-but still the cause throughout) of perverting and rendering ineffectual and powerless the original intentions of the Crown towards Mr. Laporte, relative to the disposal of the said property. And, further, in return to, and in a notable spirit of gratitude towards Government for past favours, and with a perfect indifference as to the consequences of legislative authority interfering with executive power, have the aforesaid and often quoted Messrs. Frasers, to suit private interests and for personal considerations, resorted to the bold, unique, and unprecedented measure, lately adopted by them, of summoning to their rescue legislative interference and legislative assistance.

Indeed, to every lover of justice alike with every wellwisher to Government, it must, upon a perusal of these facts, be to a certain extent not only a matter of regret but also a matter of alarm, to remark that individual rights and claims, of the nature of those set forth in the foregoing statement, duly and repeatedly acknowledged and admitted as already stated, should have been, and still remain, subject to delays so fatal to the interests of any subject of Her Majesty,

But Mr. Laporte, relying as he does with implicit confidence upon the well known faith of Her Majesty's Government, looks forward, as a special measure and act of justice on the part of the Crown towards him, to the honourable fulfilment and prompt completion of its engagements with Mr. Laporte, by granting to him a full and final confirmation of his claims and rights as already ordered and determined by Her Majesty's Government.
