

at the elevation of the Host, which may or may not be required, may or may not take place : I know that it is generally considered to be required, and is also, I am sorry to say, generally done,) "are partakers of the idolatry committed." If they are not partakers of what is done there, what do they there at all ? Does the denial of participation admit of argument in its support ? I think plain minds will feel that it does not. But, "the bigotry, intolerance, presumption, &c. &c. of the Clergy is disgusting," I think you say ; and others have spoken almost as harshly. At the ordination of Priests in the Church of England, they are asked by the Bishop, "Will you be ready with all faithful diligence, to banish and drive away all erroneous and strange doctrines contrary to God's word, and to use both public and private monitions and exhortations, as well to the sick as to the whole, within your cures, as need shall require and occasion shall be given ?" Answer, I will, the Lord being my helper." I think the call of the Ministers of this city to their people,
