The extraordinary man, who was the author of these volumes, left no subject relating to the history of the affairs of his wonderful order in America untouched, and as the Missions of the Company of Jesus among the Indians were the principal purpose of the fathers in both of the Americas, the curiosity of Charlevoix permeated every accessible square mile of their surface to learn the habits, the customs and the secrets of the life of the strange people his brethren sought to subdue to the influence of the cross.

"It is doing no more than justice to the merit of Charlevoix, to say that in all the high qualities requisite for a great historian he has no superior."—Field.

(i) Sagard (Gabriel).—Le Grand Voyage au Pays des Hurons Situé en l'Amérique vers la mer douce, ès derniers confins de la Nouvelle France dite Canada, avec un Dictionnaire de la Langue Huronne, par F. Gabriel Sagard, Théodat, nouvelle édition, 2 vols., 8vo, half red morocco, $13.50. Paris, 1865.

Father Sagard, a member of the Recollets in Paris, was directed by a congregation of his order to accompany Father Nicholas in a mission to the savages of New France. Arriving at Quebec, he at once proceeded to the scene of his mission among the Hurons, one hundred and fifty leagues west of Quebec. Here he labored for a time, endeavouring to bring the Indians to a knowledge of God, and at the same time he was carefully observing their manners, ceremonies, and remarkable customs.
