

BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS

Motion for Amnesty for Irish Political Prisoners

DID NOT MEET WITH FAVOR

Sir Matthew White Ridley Puts His Foot on the Proposal.

Conclusions of the Irish Taxation Commission to be Discussed Separately, in All Probability—Countess Cowley's Divorce Case—Jury Set Free Because of the Collapse of the Crown's Case—The Thunder on the Arbitration Treaty—General News by Cable.

London, Jan. 20.—The business of the House of Commons to-day was the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Patrick O'Brien, member for Killarney city, moved in amendment to reconsider the sentences of the Irish prisoners who had been condemned to imprisonment upon charges of treason. The amendment was seconded by J. G. Flynn, member for North Cork. Mr. Timothy M. Healy, member for North Louth, supported the amendment moved by Mr. O'Brien, and, in the course of his speech, declared that the outrages with which the convicts were charged.

Sir M. W. Ridley, Home Secretary, said that he was unable to see any reason for advising that amnesty be granted to the political prisoners referred to in the amendment, much as the Government desired to remedy any Irish grievances. These men had been found guilty of crimes against the law, and the Government was bound to maintain the impartiality of the courts had been attested this very day the withdrawal of the charges against them, or they would be regarded as a mockery of justice.

The Times expressed the belief that the Royal Commission will pursue its enquiry into the financial relations of Ireland. With the exception of The Daily News, the Liberal organ, the newspapers all admit that Mr. Balfour's announcement in the House of Commons yesterday, that a separate occasion would be given for the discussion of the Irish financial commission's report, and that the Government proposed to complete the investigation, will considerably shorten the debate on the address.

The Standard (Conservative) declares that many Liberals objected to the main conclusions of the recent commission. The Daily News says that the decision to enter upon a fresh enquiry excites the Irish members from dilemma, because the Irish Unionists would have declined to support Mr. Balfour's amendment to the address, which was regarded as a vote of censure on the Government.

The Countess, upon which the suit is based, is a daughter of the late Earl of Chesham, and her husband, who is a member of the House of Commons, is a member of the House of Commons. The Countess, who is a member of the House of Commons, is a member of the House of Commons. The Countess, who is a member of the House of Commons, is a member of the House of Commons.

Countess Cowley denied that she had assented to her husband's desertion of her. She had always been willing to act as a wife should, providing she was treated by her husband as a faithful wife should be treated. Mr. Charrington was called to the stand and testified that he had been aware that Earl Cowley was a frequent caller at his house, but he was not aware that his calls were made after the wife had left the house. Witness said that he was now living apart from his wife.

PROPOSE TO CELEBRATE.

Birmingham People Desire to Mark the Signing of the Treaty.

London, Jan. 20.—A meeting was held in Birmingham to-day to perfect arrangements for a suitable celebration of the signing of the general arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain. Among the speakers were Mr. G. F. Parker, United States consul at Birmingham, who said that the treaty would undoubtedly be ratified by the United States Senate, and that the people of both countries in the meantime must be patient. Mr. Parker said that he had recently made a tour of thirteen of the American States and had seen the course of his travels seen a single trace of anti-British feeling.

THE ARBITRATION TREATY.

London Times Fancies the U. S. Senate May Not Ratify It.

London, Jan. 20.—The Times comments editorially this morning upon the fears expressed by a correspondent in the United States that the general arbitration treaty will, perhaps, be not ratified by the Senate. The Times finds it difficult to believe that the treaty will be rejected after having found the approval of the executives of both countries. England, however,
