MAY OPEN FAIR SUNDAYS.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 19.—The World's Fair may be opened on Sunday after all. Within the next two weeks, at the outside, it is planned to begin the Sunday opening.

It is asserted by those who are engineering the move that they have found a loophole in the Congressional enactment which will permit of Sunday opening. The success of the fair, both from a financial and an educational point of view, depends upon, it is urged, throwing open the gates of the fair on the remaining Sundays of the exposition period.
