NEWS OF DOUBLE BEREAVEMENT SERVES ONLY TO INCITE LONDON GIRL TO HARDER PATRIOTIC WORK

She Receives Word Two Brothers Have Been Killed in Action and Proceeds to Be an Patch, Grief-Stricken, Yet Determined to Receive "The Torch" From Their Hands.

She got the news that her two brothers had been killed at the front on the way back to her work of pulling beans, and this is the way the brave little farmerette in khaki took it: "I received the papers with the terrible news in it, and, oh, I was so taken by surprise. I can hardly realize it even yet. I always thought I would be seeing W— again and can't believe or even think that he has been killed. I received the papers on my way back to the bean patch after dinner, and it gave me a strange, savage feeling, and made me pick those beans as if the rest of the boys' lives depended upon it. I know now that I am going to work until there is no more work to do. You see, if we have a good harvest and help enough to get it in, why, we can hang out longer than the Germans."
