BALLOON VALVE STUCK CAR DRAGS OVERLAKE UNTIL STEAMER SAVES

Exciting Finish to Lieut. Bennett's Latest Cruise in Columbus Aero Race-Nearly Drowned in Lake Erie's Waters.

BUFFALO, Aug. 31.-The balloon, Queen Louise, which started with two other balloons from Columbus, Ohio, Saturday afternoon with Lieut. J. J. Bennett of the British Army Balloon Corps as pilot, and accompanied by Tom L. Sample, was picked up in Lake Erie yesterday afternoon off Pigeon Island. Owing to a defective valve the pilot was unable to keep the talloon

After throwing out all of their ballast, they sighted the steamer Mohegan, and, signailing that they were in danger, the captain of the ship accompanied them for nearly ten miles, when seeing that it was impossible to keep the balloon in the air any longer they cut the gas bag and permitted the gas to a.m. Sunday we were over Lake Erie, and not more than 200 feet above the surface. Our gas had become chilled, but we managed to keep afloat. When the sun began to rise it expanded our gas and caused us to ascend. We got up to an altitude, so far as I could estimate, of about 20,000 feet.

"We lay down i nthe basket and fell asleep. I awoke with a start, feeling a rush of cold air over me. The air had again condensed the gas and the balloon was dropping. We dropped possibly 10,000 feet within four minutes, going down at a terrific speed.

"When we reached warmer air currents the balloon balanced again and we sighted the steamer Mohegan. We signalled the vessel aand Capt. James Cunningham agreed to stand by. On signal from the balloon, the captain lowered boats and rescued up from the rigging of the balloon to which we were clinging, I having pulled the ripping cord and permitted the gas to escape and the balloon to drop into the water."

Lieut. Bennett will go to Springfield to right and Mr. Sample to ble home.

The question is being asked in some quarters: Who are the enginemen in the B. of L. E. and F.? The enginemen, it is explained, are engineers who have risen from firemen and keep their membership in the brotherhood because they have paid their insurance assessments into it while firemen. They are just as much engineers as the members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and perform the same services in driving the engines.

Keir Hardie Addresses a Large Gathering Temple-Wage-Earners Should Join Trades Unions.

Kier Hardie, M.P., who thinks a trip to Canada with his f amily just a nice sort of way to enjoy a holiday, refreshed himself after the heat of yesterday by addressing a crowded meeting at the Labor Temple. Every seat was taken a quarter of an hour before the time for opening the meeting, a sprinkl-taken a quarter of an hour before the time for opening the meeting, a splinkling of ladies on the floor and in the balcony attesting their interest in the speaker and his mission. The use of fans made from folded newspapers and the freedom with which a score of the auditors in the gallery shed their coats featured the gathering. It was no social function. Society might gaze askance as at any gathering of the like. The earnest-faced audience, whether of highly skilled mechanic or his less famed comrade, had a serious aspect, indicative of deep interest in an important movement.

A burst of applause vigorously repeated greeted the advent of the speaker of the evening, his wife and daughter, who filed in behind the ever-popular James Simpson. Rev. E. D. Silcox also took a seat on the platform.

"Now comrades and friends," said Chairman Simpson, as a preliminary, "let me explain that this grand meeting is under the auspices of the church and labor conference. This conference was to have been held last night, but was changed into a public meeting to hear Mr. Hardle."

Prolonged applause for several minutes greeted Keir Hardle when he rose to address the meeting. In accepting the invitation to address the meeting it was because of his desire at all times to do all in his power to hasten the time when the working class. shall occupy its rightful position of political equality and eventually of superiority. In Great Britain, while in 1900 only one Labor candidate was elected. The entire trades union movement had cut away from the Liberai and Conservative parties and formed a great fighting organization in alliance with the Socialists. In the old times labor had been content to accept promises, and then had to expend thousands of pounds to lobby members of parliament to keep their promises. Now labor sends to own men to parliament, and they do content to accept promises, and then had to expend thousands of pounds to lobby members of parliament to keep their promises. Now labor sends its own men to parliament, and they do their work. During the past three years there has been more real labor legislation than in the preceding thirty. As long ago as 1885, old age pensions and three acres and a cow—(laughter)—were dangled before their eyes. A milking stool and pail were sent as wedding presents to his wife. She had them yet, but the three agres never came; and meals for school children were promised. It is terrible to think that children in thousands of homes in Great Britain are going hungry nightly to bed because for no fault of their own the bread-winners are out of employment. The advent of the Labor party has resited in every educational authority in Great Britain being empowered to feed hungry children out of the rates. It has placed trades union funds outside the pale of the law. Two years ago the privy council would have affirmed the judgment against the Toronto Metal Workers instead of quashing it.

The old age pension bill giving five shillings a week to persons of over 70 years of age had been adopted.

In Toronto labor conditions are not, so superlatively good. There are three strikes—the machinist for a nine-hour day, and the C.P.R. mechanics and the stove moulders against reduction of wages. In the time of strikes where are the politicians? The workingmen forget that they are Liberals or Conservatives, and as in the case of the C.P.R. the capitalists unite as shareholders. As it is in the strike so in

C.P.R. the capitalists unite as share-holders. As it is in the strike so in the elections workingmen's interests are identical. Since he had worked as a boy in a pit he had belonged to the miners' union, and he was most emphatically of the opinion that man or woman wage-earner, who failed to join a trades union was untrue to the working class, for trades unionism is the foundation on which industrial working class, for trades unionism is the foundation on which industrial freedom will have to be built up. In this C.P.R. strike, in which the workingmen are making such a magnificent fight for their rights, the C.P.R. is scouring the world in search of the riddlings of society to take their places. Every non-unionist is a menace to his fellow workman. Trade unionism was necessary as a foundation, and for temporary protection, but it had its limitations. It will not provide work in time of depression. Under the present system the landlord and the capitalist exploit the working class for profit. The only solution was the destruction of the private ownership of land and of capital. This could only be brought about by socialism as was gradually being done in Glasgow.

In Great Britain the trades unionis was now in alliance with the social-ist by supporting each other's candi-MONTREAL, Aug. 31.—(Special.)—
