

IDEALS OF LABOR SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Theosophists Treated to Exposition of Old Philosophy in New Form.

"Brotherhood and Labor" was the theme of an address delivered by Jas. E. Dodds before the Theosophical Society on Sunday evening, in which he declared that science had demonstrated a vital relationship between all forms of life in the three kingdoms known as inanimate, vegetable and animal, including man. As a result of this, the speaker claimed, the idea of universal brotherhood necessarily followed and that Theosophists had a great responsibility to make such an idea effective in the world. The speaker urged a spirit of pan-humanitarianism to ward the people of central Europe, whom he stated were in a starved, diseased and depleted condition.

Mr. Dodds stated that a lack of wisdom and love for humanity on the part of the leaders of world affairs had led the world into its present appalling condition and he stated that labor should make an effort to create a new world where there was no more "Let us strip this business of war of all its false glory and reveal in all his nakedness the hideous monster as he really is. Let us send those who believe in aggressive warfare back to their kindred in the jungle, where they belonged," stated the speaker. He concluded that great wisdom, rare common sense, and a unique devotion to duty was demanded of those who would build the new world of the future, and expressed his faith in the ability of labor to lead in the new democracy. To this end, he said, organized labor, thru its political party, invited the support of all groups of men and women who desired to help humanity forward.

Mr. Dodds stated that at least 90 per cent. of the children today get no further than the public school, and then drifted into unskilled occupations to earn a livelihood. "Thus poverty with the parents means lack of education for the children. Lack of education means unskilled work. Unskilled work means low wages. Low wages means poverty and so the vicious circle goes on from one generation to another," he said. To correct this state of affairs labor is asking that free and compulsory education, including textbooks, should be established in all institutions, including the universities.

PORT STANLEY STRIKE AT END

(Continued From Page 1). That higher wages can be paid. At the end of that time Mr. Parker and Mr. Compton will again confer with Sir Adam Beck. Mr. Hall would not express any opinion as to the action of the men if the commission do not grant a further increase. The matter had not been discussed, he said. The men are hoping that the increase will come and are all glad the strike is over.

Back is interviewed. Sir Adam Beck, in an interview, said the men had gone back to work with the understanding that the commission had not altered its attitude in the slightest degree. They have accepted the scale of wages which was offered and which was agreed to by the majority members of the conciliation board. The commission will, however, make an effort to find some way in which increased revenue can be realized, but the commission has made no promise.

"If a way can be discovered to realize greater revenue thru increased fares," he continued, "the extra money granted by the board will be paid to the men, but that is all the increase that the road can afford. It must also be remembered that the commission has been put to a great expense, because it was necessary to provide special constables to patrol the right-of-way during the strike. There was also a serious loss in business."

Not Adding to Note. Sir Adam said the suggestion made by Mr. Parker at the council meeting last week that the revenue be increased by a 75-cent excursion rate, instead of the 50 cents now charged, could not be considered, as such a rate would cause a loss of traffic.

Sir Adam does not expect another strike if at the end of two weeks it has been found impossible to give more than the commission has offered. "I made it clear," he said, "to Mr. Parker and Mr. Compton when they called on me, that if the men accepted our offer they would have to do so for a year. In a few more days if the strike continued we would have had enough men trained to resume operations fully, so it is not likely that we would stand idling back for two weeks." Mr. Parker assured me that the men fully understood that.

The men have returned to work without exception, and have resumed their old positions and seniority.

F. and A. M., No. 339, and Metcalfe L.O.L., No. 781, of which the deceased was an active member.

WANT PLAIN "YES" OR "NO."

Regarding the water and sewers installation in the eastern section of York township, Reeve Fred H. Miller, in an interview with The World yesterday, said that the township council is waiting for the decision of the city council in the matter of annexation, and requires a straight "Yes" or "No." "The township," said the Reeve, "is big enough to have a water system of its own, and will get water either from the lake or the Don river. The council is giving its earnest consideration to the problem, and is fully alive to the need of the residents in the eastern section," said Mr. Miller.

SIDEWALKS FOR VAUGHAN ROAD

Cement sidewalks will shortly be laid by York Township Council on both sides of Vaughan road from the city limits to Dufferin street, the plans being now prepared by the township engineers. A wider roadway will then be laid when the sidewalks are completed. Between 25 and 30 miles of cement sidewalks have been laid to date in various parts of the township, as well as many permanent roadways. In addition to the foregoing improvements, nearly 90 miles of water mains have been laid in the western section, and it is contemplated to lay water mains in the Hampstead Park district, along Dufferin street from Eglinton avenue northwards.

A varied musical program was contributed by the following artists: Miss Phillips, Mrs. Hill, Miss Atkins and Bro. Alex. Forbes. George Morrison acted as accompanist. Refreshments were served by the ladies' committee and an enjoyable time was spent by the members and friends.

DRAIN MEN TRY TO OUST DEALER

Ask Suppliers for Rebate and Consider Being Own Middlemen.

That the drain contractors of Toronto have made up their minds to protect their interests thru solid co-operation, was well demonstrated at the second meeting of the Toronto Drainmen's Protective Association, recently held in Alhambra Hall, William Tyler, president, in the chair. In his opening remarks the chairman reported that already 75 per cent. of the drain contractors of the city have joined the association, and pledged their support and the organization expected before many days to be almost 100 per cent. strong. The chairman contended that the builders' supply firms had large stocks on hand they took advantage of the rise in manufacturers' prices, and the drain men had to pay, although they had to stand by their own contracts, and in many cases lost money. "We should be our own builders' supply association, and by co-operation buy direct from the manufacturers," said Mr. Tyler.

The scheme suggested by the chairman was heartily endorsed by the large number of members, and a committee consisting of W. Tyler, Geo. Tucker and J. Edwards, was appointed to wait upon the Builders' Supply Association to request a rebate on existing contracts. A committee was also appointed to formulate a plan of campaign, and prepare bylaws for the guidance of the association.

T. H. Tucker declared that only by co-operation would the high cost of being reduced, and prices regulated. He instanced the German workmen in pre-war days, whose strongest weapon was co-operation, and which was proved effective in 33,000 places in Europe. Mr. Tucker firmly believed that better conditions and shorter hours of labor would result by their action. It was a curious fact, the speaker pointed out, that the manufacturers of drain tiles had not boosted up prices since the organization of the association. The price of cement was also discussed. It was shown that manufacturers have decided to raise the price 25 cents a barrel, and at this enhanced price, the cost will figure out at $4.65 a barrel plus 20 cents for empty bags. That this is a prohibition price was the unanimous feeling of the meeting.

It was decided to hold regular meetings on the second and fourth Friday in each month.

METHODISM IN NEED OF LARGER SPHERE

Regarding the scheme suggested by Rev. Dr. George H. Williams to scrap ten Methodist churches and to centralize the downtown work of Toronto Methodism, Rev. A. F. Brace, pastor of East Gerrard Street Methodist Church, one of the edifices on the downtown fringe, stated to The World yesterday that the members of the church, which made such a splendid showing during the past year, are fully alive to the fact that some larger sphere of action is necessary, and have been in favor for some time past of a wise system of amalgamation.

One or two centres, however, the pastor pointed out, would not be sufficient. The old house on East Gerrard street, although not centrally situated, might serve the eastern district. However, the problem will have to be faced, and no doubt a solution found at the next district meeting.

ACCEPTS N. BROADVIEW CALL

Hope Expressed That Budget Debate Can Be Wound Up This Week as Interest is Lagging.

BAND CONCERT PLANNED BY BLIND SOLDIERS

It is perhaps not generally known that a large number of veterans who lost their sight in the great war are residents of the eastern section of the city, and that the musical section of these blinded soldiers have organized a fine brass band, under the leadership of J. Dawson, and hold weekly band practice every Wednesday evening in Orde Street School.

In order to help these deserving men, a concert will be held in Rhodes Avenue Baptist Church, by kind permission of the management, on Thursday evening, May 27, when the band will give a varied musical program, assisted by Miss Squires, reader for the blind; Miss Stephens, pianist; Miss Harris and Mrs. Hewison, piano and violin duo. TWO-ROOMED SCHOOL ESTIMATES CALLED FOR

A special meeting of S. S. No. 29, which includes King George School, Runnymede, and George Syme, Scarlett Plains, was held on Friday night regarding the Harwood district, which borders the city between it and Mount Dennis, and which sends pupils to both the city (St. Clair School) and the George Syme School. The question of distance to either school has long been considered an injustice to the children. It was decided to call for estimates for a two-roomed portable school and also inquire how debates have or are arranged. Inspector A. I. Campbell estimated the cost at about $6000, and
