WANTED THE SKIPPER TO DOFF HIS CAP
Row Over Relative Honors of Quarter Deck and Forecastle Ends in the Police Court
William Johnston, a sailor on the Swedish bark Maoriland, which is lying at Long Wharf, was arrested last night on a charge of assaulting the master of the ship, Captain Munk. The complainant said that he returned yesterday afternoon to his ship and found two men missing. He asked the defendant if he knew anything about them and then went into the forecastle. He said that Johnston ordered him out claiming that he had no right there, and at the same time knocking his hat off his head. Later, the sailor followed him about the deck using abusive language to him, as a result, he said, he had him arrested.
Three witnesses corroborated the captain's statements. One of them, an old man, kept the court convulsed with laughter while he gave his version of the affair.
The defendant said he had been sent up town by the captain to procure some plates from a chandler. He was away all afternoon and, he said, this made the captain mad and he went for him. One time when he entered the captain's cabin he was told that he should take off his hat. When the captain entered the living apartments of the sailors he consid-

Vallie Sandall, 225 Pitt street, in honor of an approaching nuptial event. In which Miss Taylor will be a principal. She was the recipient of a fine array of varied novelties, contained in a large wicker clothes basket prettily decorated with golden red and white satin ribbon. NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING
James Mountain and Jack Thompson Rescued From Overturned Canoe — Rescuers Had Only Boards For Paddles
James Mountain and Jack Thompson of Ketepec were rescued from drowning on the St. John river about a mile from Ketepec on Sunday morning, at day-break by H. C. James, Harold L. Lindsay and V. M. McDonald of this city.
Mountain and Thompson, both unable to swim, were thrown into the water when their canoe upset while the young men were paddling from Ketepec toward Millidgeville shortly after six o'clock. Both managed to take hold of the overturned craft and their shouts for assistance were heard by a party of young men from the city who were camping on the Ketepec shore.
The campers, Messrs James, Lindsay and McDonald, pushed off in a small boat and by means of flat sticks, propelled the boat to the canoe.
The journey was made in short time, despite the handicap of lack of proper means of propulsion, and Mountain and Thompson were soon safe in the row boat, little the worse for their narrow escape.
It was fortunate for the canoeists that the wind was blowing from them toward shore, otherwise their cries might not have been heard and there was a strong possibility that they would have been carried down river without being noticed in the early morning mist. Their chances of being rescued would have been most uncertain.
The men lost most of their clothing in stripping themselves of movement garments to give freedom of movement while clinging to the canoe.

$350 FOR RED CROSS SOCIETY
Proceeds of Retail Merchants' Picnic — Committee Explains Why Sum is Not Larger
The Merchants' committee met last night in the board room of the Retail Merchants' Association, at which the active workers of the picnic committee were present. A report of the picnic shows a balance of approximately $350, which is to be handed over to the local Red Cross Society.
It is said by the committee that this is a very good showing, when it is taken into consideration that there were no lotteries or games of chance, or any other similar devices permitted on the grounds. It is also suggested that a greater sum could have been secured had the local members of the Red Cross Society attended and assisted in the work, as it was expected they would do, but, unfortunately, the Red Cross Society held their postponed garden fete on the same date. This left the Merchants' picnic short handed on the grounds and, as a consequence, a quantity of the refreshments, etc., were not sold and were not returned, but the association had to pay for them. However, on the whole, the committee were well satisfied with their first venture. Everybody seemed well pleased and no accidents occurred.
A vote of thanks was passed to be extended to the press; to all those giving prizes, etc.; to E. W. Rowley for the use of his grounds, and also to each one of the workers who gave their services. The final returns will be made in a few days when all the bills are in. It is expected that the association will put on a more elaborate event next year, when it is hoped there will be no war.

WON SUCCESS IN CALIFORNIA
William Stirling Porter, Former New Brunswick Man, Dead in the West—Had Built up Large Estate
(Special Correspondence)
San Francisco, Aug. 9.—William Stirling Porter, vice-president and general manager of the Associated Oil Company, died at Mount Zion hospital in this city shortly after six o'clock this evening. His wife and son, Hugh, were at the bedside when he died.
While in the office of his friend, Judge Robert S. Lovett, in New York six years ago, he was stricken with apoplexy. While the attack was thought to be slight and he apparently recovered, it re-occurred. For the past three years he has been in ill-health.
Porter was fifty-two years old, and during his comparatively brief business career, had traveled far in the financial and industrial world. He had already built up a large estate and was reputed to be one of the wealthiest and most successful of the younger business men in California. Besides his executive position with the Associated Oil Company, he was vice-president of the Amalgamated Oil Company, and associated in the directorate of half a dozen minor oil companies. He was a close friend of the late E. H. Harriman.
Few men, according to his intimates, combined the essentials necessary to success in the business world with those of good fellowship as he did. He found time to maintain membership in practically every club in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Oakland. He was also a member of a Los Angeles Masonic lodge.
His Early History.
In the death of William Stirling Porter, a native son of this city was remarkably successful in the affairs of a great community.
William S. Porter was a son of the late Charles Porter of Long Beach, Kings county and, after leaving his home, about thirty-two years ago, achieved a commanding position in the business world of California by his marked ability and personal endeavor.
A comparatively young man when he died, he had earned a reputation as a captain of industry and had amassed a large fortune.
William Porter, when a youth, was engaged as clerk with a Mr. Myles who operated a grocery store in Bridge street and left his position to seek his fortune in Chicago.
His career in the business world began after he moved to California and secured control of an oil property which he developed.
A widow and one son, Hugh Beverly, aged twenty-four, survive.
A Brother Here.
Five brothers and three sisters also survive. Charles W., Colin C. and George W. in the West; James S., of Millidge avenue, St. John; Fred R., of the First Canadian contingent in France; Mrs. Minnie Gorham of Long Beach, Kings county; Mrs. Alvin Mann of Bangor, Maine; and Mrs. James Henderson of Milford.
Dr. Gorham of this city is a cousin and Melley Belyea of the West End is an uncle.

IN THE COURTS

The regular monthly sitting of the supreme court, chancery division, was held this morning. Chief Justice Grimmer presiding. No common motions were heard. In the case of Sarah McDermott, et al. vs. Archie Oliver, et al. M. G. THE BATTERY'S FAREWELL SONG

Artillerymen Leaving Saint John Tonight Invite Their Friends to Follow Them to the Fields of Flanders

The men of the heavy battery who have been training on Partridge Island for some weeks and who are leaving for Halifax tonight have been invited to a song composed by one of their number, Gunner L. D. Logan. It is in the nature of a farewell message coupled with suggestions for leaving you tonight. John men should join the colors. Gunner Logan is a former St. John man who returned from Manchester, N. H. to enlist. His song is as follows:

We are going to leave the old place, boys, the City of St. John. And many friends we'll leave behind — we cannot tell how long. And if ever we meet again, your dear faces we will see. But we are going friends, with courage, to maintain our liberty.
Chorus.
So three cheers for the Battery, boys! Shout with all your might! We are going off for Halifax, and And as we go, we're thinking friends, thinking of you all. And wonder why, not more of you don't heed old England's call.
For St. John has lots of men who can pass the army test— But some lack moral courage, some with lassiness are blest, While some they have sweethearts who're coaxing them to stay, And disgrace their name forever, when they do not go away.
Chorus.
If this is your belief, boys, your motto, Safety First. We hope they start the drafting, then Look out for the worst. You surely will be branded, as the cowards of St. John! Wake up and join the army. You then can sing this song!
Chorus.
So we are going to say goodbye to all, to each and every one. And hope the mothers here tonight, will sacrifice their son. To fight for king and country, and strive with all their might. To build a bigger army, for our cause is just and right.

Chorus.
We are going to say goodbye to all, to each and every one. And hope the mothers here tonight, will sacrifice their son. To fight for king and country, and strive with all their might. To build a bigger army, for our cause is just and right.
