Vanderbilt's Sister-in-Law And Others of Social Elect Start Hegira to Hollywood 358.50

HOLLYWOOD, CAL.—Want to get into the movies, girls? Let's check over your qualifications. Have you: one multimilitionaire sather, one good set of "camera features," and one famous name? Then you can walk right in. Among the social celebrities now drawing their $500 a day as "extras" in the films are Craig Biddle, Jr., heir of the Philadelphia Biddles, Thelma Morgan Converse, daughter of Ambassador Harry Hays Morgan and sister-in-law of Reginald Vanderbilt, and Miss Mary Hartje of Philadelphia, heiress of the late Augustus Hartje.

Denying the charge of murder, O'Sullivan said that he had been a close friend of McElroy since boyhood.

According to the police, he admitted after his arrest that he had been on a drinking bout with McElroy and a third man. A quarrel arose during the evening and McElroy was shot in the back, the police said.

The hotel and cafe proprietors will ask the London County Council to draw up a new law to be presented to parliament, and they have obtained the backing of the "Brighter London" movement committee which is seeking to make London a rival of gay Paris, there is nothing certan in the present they see the vertising fold. Auburn, Me., Aug. 6.—No one can speak disparagingly of the late President and get way with it in the presence of tormer Deputy Sheriff Elmer B. Lyon of Auburn. This was made plain by Mr. Lyon in commenting on the incident which resulted in the former deputy slapping the face of E. W. Russell, night watchman at the Munroe Shoe Company's plant.

"I was talking with a friend about the deputy of Provident Heading when the delay of the provident Heading when the delay of the delay Shoe Company's plant.

"I was talking with a friend about the death of President Harding when a stranger to me, who I later learned was Russell, butted into the conversation and made slurring and uncalled for remarks about the late President," said Mr. Lyon. "I told him he ought to have his face slapped. He stuck his face out and invited me to slap it, and he got it slapped without any decay." Mr. Lyon is now a special officer of the Auburn police department, and when Chief Harry Rowe heard of the incident he made a thorough investiga-tion. Russell is said to have admit-ted to the chief that he made the re-marks attributed to him and that he offered his cheek to be slapped. He had threatened to swear out a warrant against Special Officer Lyon but so far
