Giants, 9; Victor, 5.
In the West End League, last evening, before a large crowd of spectators, the Giants won over the Victor by a score of nine to five, the game going five innings. The battery for the winners consisted of Brown, Wright and Milan, and for the losers King and McIntyre. Tonight the Courtenays and the Dominions play.
THE TURF.
Fast Stepping at Philadelphia.
Philadelphia, Aug. 12.—Spirited racing at the grand circuit meeting at the Belmont Driving Club's track today. The .04 pace furnished the feature. Murphy landed the first and third heats but every one of the three was a hard drive. Baxter Lane took the second heat and led to the half in the third but the pace was too fast and Director J. won the heat from Hal Boy in 2:03. The 2:08 trot was a procession for Chilcoat.

GET IN FOR THE FINISH
A ball game is not won until the last man is out. The final jump wins the race. The game man and the game horse show their gameness in the final moment.
This war will be won by the gamest side. The Allies have it, but it will be in the final quarter.
There is a chance for every man to get in on the finish. Farms of Canada need men and the Allies need the products of Canadian farms. Get out with the harvesters and make sure of the crop.

Anna Held Dead
New York, Aug. 12.—Anna Held, the actress, died here late today after an illness of several months.
Miss Held had been ill since April of a rare malady known as myeloma, a disintegration of the spinal marrow, and her condition was reported several times as critical. She rallied repeatedly, however, and until attacked by pneumonia a few weeks ago was regarded as on the road to recovery. Her physicians said that only her remarkable will power had prevented her from succumbing long ago.
Anna Held was born in Paris in 1876, of a Polish mother and a French father. Upon the death of her father the family removed to London where, for two years prior to going upon the stage, Anna was a street singer. When sixteen years old, Miss Held returned to Paris after touring Holland and other countries with a comedy company and after that appeared in all the European capitals, winning by reason of her beauty and the daring magnificence of her gowns.
When she reached New York in 1896, the American public's desire to see and hear the chic Parisian had been whetted by stories of her beauty, of the perfection of her complexion, which she was reported as sustaining by means of daily milk baths, and the charm of a French concert hall song, "Won't You Come and Play With Me."
For more than ten years Miss Held was in a musical comedy on the American stage nearly every year, appearing part of that time as one of the stars in plays produced by Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr. Miss Held subsequently was married to Mr. Ziegfeld but after several years they separated. A daughter, Liana Held, now twenty-three years old, born of a previous marriage, is now on the stage.
Anna Held had the reputation of having played and sung in more towns and cities than most actresses and of dressing with even more lavishness than the celebrated Otero. She was a great favorite of New York audiences. As a star in light comedy she was known throughout the United States.
She had repeatedly told interviewers that she would "never grow old" and failed in her prediction almost to the end. Friends say she had a wonderful spirit and indomitable courage. Told by the doctors that she must die, she is said to have gravely remarked to one of them: "It is the last curtain. I have lived and I will hold out to the very end. It is the spirit of Joan of Arc and the spirit of my percentage—the unconquerable French."

SANK NEUTRAL SHIP IN LEISURELY MANNER
Boston, Aug. 12.—The crew of the Swedish steamer Sydland, which was sunk by a German submarine Aug. 8 southeast of Nantucket, were landed at this port today. The Germans, in sinking the neutral ship, proceeded in a leisurely manner, spending three or four hours in examining the papers, in exploring her holds and in making ready the bombs which finally sank her, according to the story told by the officers. The Sydland was bound in ballast from Gothenburg, Sweden, to Hampton Roads for orders.

Seventy-Five K. of C. Men Go Abroad Weekly
William J. Mulligan, chairman of the Knights of Columbus committee on war activities, in an address before the "Victory Convention" at the Waldorf in New York, Tuesday night, for the first time issued an official statement, containing facts and figures covering the big work being done by the knights here and abroad.
Mr. Mulligan declared that since the drive for secretaries started a few weeks ago, 255 secretaries have reached France and 125 others are ready to sail. Secretaries are now being sent abroad at the rate of about seventy-five a week, he said.
In the big training camps and cantonments in this country, he said, there are 480 secretaries and others are being appointed daily. Twenty-eight new Knights of Columbus buildings are under construction in the United States. Negotiations are under way to establish service houses in New York, Boston, Baltimore, Washington, Chicago, Seattle, Tacoma, San Francisco and other cities.
In the last few weeks vast quantities of supplies have been shipped abroad. Mr. Mulligan gave some interesting figures in this connection.
Here is a partial list of supplies recently purchased for shipment abroad: Seventy-five million cigarettes—these are being sent over at the rate of 1,000,000 a week and each cigarette bears the mark of the K. of C.
Ten thousand pounds of hard candy. Twenty tons of milk chocolate. Fifty-five thousand dollars' worth of mixed candies.
Two hundred and twenty-five thousand cigars.
Thousands of cases of condensed milk and thousands of pounds of tea and coffee.
Twenty-five hundred cases of chewing gum.
Soap and towels by the hundreds of gross.
Two million smoking pipes.
Six hundred athletic suits, consisting of baseballs, indoor balls, volley balls, soccer balls, bats, gloves, and other articles. Part of this equipment is now in England and France.
"The committee have so organized the domestic service that the country has been divided into zones, each zone to have a department director, and each department director to have under him a number of supervisors, who will constantly keep in touch with the secretaries, and see that the service rendered to the soldiers in the various camps is kept at the very highest standards," said Mr. Mulligan.
The report that the committee had adopted the slogan, "Everybody Welcome and Everything Free" took the convention off its feet. It was explained that all supplies are being given free to sailors and soldiers.
The recommendation that the committee would go out for $50,000,000 was greeted with wild applause and the representatives from each state jumped to their feet and stated that any allotment made would be forthcoming.

Immigration Control Will Be Autonomous
Each Self-Governing Part of Empire To Have Full Control
Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Hon. J. A. Calder, minister of immigration and colonization, asked as to the scope of the resolution on the subject of immigration recently passed by the Imperial Conference, said:
"That resolution affirms the principle that each self-governing nation of the Empire should have complete autonomy in the matter of admitting and excluding immigrants, even though they come from some other part of the Empire. Thus, Canada could exclude Hindus and India could exclude Canadians. All the great States of the Empire concurred in the resolution, including India."
"What will be the practical effect?"
"That will depend upon circumstances. The Imperial Conference has no legislative authority, and it will still be for each nation to work out its own policy. The resolution in effect, provides that the Hindus settled in Canada should be allowed to bring their wives and children from India. Whether they will be allowed to do so or not must depend upon what action is taken by the government and parliament of Canada."
Discussing the matter of war immigration, Mr. Calder expressed the opinion that the authorities of the United Kingdom would be inclined to restrict rather than encourage immigration.
"It is quite possible," he said, "that the British government, by splitting up the land into small holdings and by stimulating trade and manufacture, may make times so good in the Old Country after the war that few will care to migrate. In any event, there will be little transport for emigrants to either the United States or Canada until after the soldiers are all brought back. They will be eager to get home, and they would certainly be entitled to first consideration."
Discussing the emigration bill now before the British parliament, Mr. Calder said that it had been so radically amended as to be unobjectionable.
As amended, there would be a commission to supervise emigration, but its function would be to direct and suggest rather than to restrict. He believed that upon this commission all the self-governing colonies would be represented. Indeed, the commission or board, he said, would probably be under the Colonial Secretary.

Aeroplane Making Growing Industry
Development of the Enterprise in Dominion Surprisingly Rapid
Ottawa, Aug. 12.—The number of Canadians who have joined the royal air force and its predecessors the royal service and the royal flying corps, since the outbreak of the war is not available for publication owing to military reasons. The same secrecy, however, is not applied to the other activities in Canada in connection with the development and maintenance of the Allies' air service.
In January of last year, the Imperial Munitions Board, through Canadian Aeroplanes, Limited, commenced the construction of aeroplanes for training purposes in Canada at the national factory where the output of flying machines has now grown to a substantial total. The present capacity of the plant is 300 machines per month, which the spurs turned out is equivalent to 360 machines monthly.
The total number of machines manufactured to the end of last May, together with the spares, was 3,000.
The number of employees engaged at this factory is 2,150 and recently the plant has been engaged in constructing the United States navy, showing how close the two Allied countries of North America are co-operating in their effort to meet the war in the air.
The Imperial Munitions Board has placed a contract for the construction of an important number of their latest improved type of high power airplane engines to be used in equipping fighting planes for service at the front. This is a somewhat surprising development for a country so young as Canada in the airplane making industry, as this particular design of engine represents the highest class of workmanship attained in any machine of this nature yet produced.
No engines are manufactured at the National plant, but are supplied from various outside sources and assembled and mounted there. The principal materials entering into the construction of the machines—apart from the engines—are spruce, fir and high grade linen, all of which are used in fabricating the wings. A large number of women are employed at the plant in this capacity. The bodies of the machines are composed of the wooden frame covered with canvas. The seating space is protected by an aluminum frame and the propellers are made of mahogany.
The board, up to the end of May, has contracted for the cutting of 248,000,000 feet of spruce logs, from which it is expected to secure 48,000,000 feet of sawed airplane lumber, in addition to 8,700,000 feet of rived spruce for the British Air Board, and required for the construction of airplanes.
Further contracts have been made with approximately seventy mills in British Columbia for their total output for extended periods of clear Douglas fir for use in the construction of airplanes.
In connection with the training of Canadians as airmen, the Imperial Munitions Board has secured grounds, erected buildings and furnished equipment necessary for the carrying on of the work of the royal air forces at its various flying centres, including Camp Borden, Armour Heights, Leaside, Camp Mohawk and Beamsville.

The resolution in effect, provides that the Hindus settled in Canada should be allowed to bring their wives and children from India. Whether they will be allowed to do so or not must depend upon what action is taken by the government and parliament of Canada."
Discussing the matter of war immigration, Mr. Calder expressed the opinion that the authorities of the United Kingdom would be inclined to restrict rather than encourage immigration.
"It is quite possible," he said, "that the British government, by splitting up the land into small holdings and by stimulating trade and manufacture, may make times so good in the Old Country after the war that few will care to migrate. In any event, there will be little transport for emigrants to either the United States or Canada until after the soldiers are all brought back. They will be eager to get home, and they would certainly be entitled to first consideration."
Discussing the emigration bill now before the British parliament, Mr. Calder said that it had been so radically amended as to be unobjectionable.
As amended, there would be a commission to supervise emigration, but its function would be to direct and suggest rather than to restrict. He believed that upon this commission all the self-governing colonies would be represented. Indeed, the commission or board, he said, would probably be under the Colonial Secretary.

Immigration Control Will Be Autonomous
Each Self-Governing Part of Empire To Have Full Control
Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Hon. J. A. Calder, minister of immigration and colonization, asked as to the scope of the resolution on the subject of immigration recently passed by the Imperial Conference, said:
"That resolution affirms the principle that each self-governing nation of the Empire should have complete autonomy in the matter of admitting and excluding immigrants, even though they come from some other part of the Empire. Thus, Canada could exclude Hindus and India could exclude Canadians. All the great States of the Empire concurred in the resolution, including India."
"What will be the practical effect?"
"That will depend upon circumstances. The Imperial Conference has no legislative authority, and it will still be for each nation to work out its own policy. The resolution in effect, provides that the Hindus settled in Canada should be allowed to bring their wives and children from India. Whether they will be allowed to do so or not must depend upon what action is taken by the government and parliament of Canada."
