4/5 of this Dirt was IN the Rug not ON it!

NEARLY all of the dirt in your rugs is deeply embedded. It is dirt that you cannot see. Only powerful suction can remove it. The Torrington has powerful suction, because the motor power is not used to drive the brush.

The big bristle brush revolves freely just like a carpet sweeper. It takes up all the threads, lint and surface litter and gently combs out the nap of the rug.

Big Brush—Powerful suction. This is the secret of perfect cleaning.

MANY FIRMS NOW HAVE SPRINKLERS

Automatic Fire Fighting Systems Installed in Various Parts of City.

A movement which promises to lessen greatly the fire risk in the city and at the same time effect considerable saving for those taking part in it in the way of reduction of insurance premiums, has developed amongst some of the larger business houses of the city recently in the installation of automatic sprinkler systems.

There are now 25 of these systems installed in various parts of the city and vicinity, and the installation of others is expected in the near future. It is felt among those interested that further development along these lines will cut down the fire losses that have suffered by business houses and factories in the Dominion—losses which are said to be greater than in any other country in the world. Canada's annual per capita loss is placed at $8, whereas that of England is only 30 cents.

What It Is

The sprinkler system consists of a network of pipes, all connected to the street main, and reaching every nook and corner of the buildings in which they are installed. At short intervals along these pipes are placed small openings, sealed with brass contrivances held in place by small lead plates. In the event of fire near one of these openings, the heat causes the pressure on the lead tag and cause it to give way. This opens the plug and a conical shaped curtain of water is precipitated about the area affected by the fire. Besides wetting the surrounding area, this curtain shuts off the oxygen supply from the blaze and both features effect the desired aim.

It is of interest to note that 92 per cent. of the fires occurring last year, where sprinkler systems were installed were extinguished by two or less sprinklers.

Water Curtain

Where a space intervenes between the buildings in which some of the systems are installed and those next door, there is also provided an apparatus which causes a water curtain to be spread across the face of the structure in which the sprinklers are located. This prevents the spread of the fire and would also prove effective, in the event of a large city conflagration, in helping to protect other property beyond. Thus, in adopting the sprinkler systems of protection for their own property, it is felt that those who do so are rendering a service to their neighbors as well.

All those in whose premises sprinkler systems have been installed report reductions in insurance rates of from 55 to 80 per cent.

"BUY AT HOME" IS BACKED BY PREMIER

Hon. P. J. Veniot, in a communication to the secretary of the Buy at Home and Maritime Made campaign, states that he heartily approves of the movement, and adds that things should have been started long ago.

The Premier's letter comes as a reply to a communication calling his attention to the campaign, and suggesting that the departments of the Government give a fair consideration to all things of maritime manufacture.

Hon. Mr. Veniot goes on to state that for the last four or five years it has been the policy of the Government to look first for goods of local manufacture, and that this principle of home buying will be continued.

TRAVIS ELECTS TO BE TRIED BY JURY

John Travis, who is being held by the police on a charge of setting fire to a dwelling house at 124 Mill street, occupied by Mrs. Lillian Vaughan, was taken before Judge J. A. Burt in the County Court Chambers yesterday and elected to be tried by a jury. His case likely will be taken up at the next sitting of the Circuit Court.

ENLIVEN THE SURROUNDINGS

Imperial Theatre's two new flagstaffs with their long flaunting Union Jacks give new life to the south side of King Square and enhance the colorful setting of green grass, flowers and trees in the foreground. The theatre has also been re-painted outside and is aglitter with light summery tints, while green window boxes with red geraniums and white chrysanthemum finish a very tasteful and creditable decorative scheme. It is understood the national flags will be flown daily in keeping with the ideal of the American concern in all cities where they have theatres.

BOYS AND APPLE BLOSSOMS.
Chief John Smith of the police department hailed some small boys in the street yesterday and inquired about some apple blossoms the little fellows were taking home. The lads, truthful to state, bought the blossoms from a stranger in the Mount Pleasant district for the magnificent sum of three cents but the chief was loath to believe the story and chided the lads severely for having so many useful blossoms in their arms. He explained why. A Times reporter knows the truth, however, and in the circumstances Chief Smith was declared justified in questioning their story. It is believed a real serious offence the youngsters might have suffered by the circumstantial evidence.

WILL LEAVE SOON FOR WORK IN WEST
Father Coffin, of St. Peter's, First P. E. I. Home.

Rev. George Coffin, C. S. R., has returned to the city after a visit to his home in Prince Edward Island. He expects to leave Monday evening for Regina, Sask., where he will be attached to the cathedral staff in that city, which is in charge of the Redemptorist Fathers. Father Coffin, who was stationed at St. Peter's since 1920, was recently transferred to the western house as consultant to Rev. Francis Hesley, C. S. R., who was appointed rector. The latter was formerly stationed at St. Peter's.

Father Coffin is a native of Charlottetown, P. E. I. and after graduating from St. Dunstan's University took up a course of studies for the Redemptorist Congregation. He made his first novitiate at Hechester, Md., and completed a course of higher studies at Mount St. Alphonsus at Esopus on the Hudson. He was raised to the dignity of priest at Hechester, Md., by Cardinal Hayes, then Archbishop of New York. After his ordination he remained at Mount St. Alphonsus for a year and then entered his second novitiate to take a special course for the mission field. In January, 1918, he came to this city and was stationed here for six weeks, after which he was transferred to St. Ann's church in Montreal. In July 1920 he returned to St. Peter's.

Father Coffin is a member of an English family which dates back to the days of William the Conqueror. They have a printed history of the family which shows that the first member to land in America was Tristan Coffin who came to this country with the Loyalists in 1642. General John Coffin, whose name appears in New Brunswick history, was a member of the family.

During his stay in this city Father Coffin endeavored himself to the members of St. Peter's congregation. His spare time was largely spent in visiting the sick and assisting and encouraging the poor. The good wishes of a host of friends will accompany him on his journey to Western Canada where he will continue his ministrations in the "Vineyard of the Lord."

SAD CASES IN ST. JOHN UNCOVERED

Statements in Report of the Children's Aid Society Agent for Month.

The May report of Rev. Geo. Scott, agent of the Children's Aid Society, submitted to the Board on Thursday evening, not only showed that he had a busy month, but revealed social conditions in the city concerning which the general public is perhaps ignorant.

There were reported two cases of the most base depravity. In one of these cases an arrest has been made, and in the other an investigation is in progress.

Another case with which Mr. Scott was called upon to deal was that of three children of tender years whose mother had left them for a week-end out of town. Their father is dead. While the mother was away they and another child were guilty of a theft of money from a store, and had to appear in the Police Court.

In another case a man and his wife both left the city for a few days, leaving two children, one of whom got into trouble by breaking a window.

Two unmarried mothers called upon Mr. Scott to see if their infants could be placed in the Home. The agent also had to deal with two cases of children suffering from congenital social disease.

In another case a mother came to him asking if her two children could not be taken by the society, because her husband does not support them, and she finds it necessary to go out and work to get clothing in order that they may attend school.

Mr. Scott's duty took him to another home where two girls attending school live with their father and grandfather, the mother being dead. The best they could. The conditions, however, were far from being such as most people would regard desirable for girls of fourteen and fifteen years.

Mr. Scott was also called upon to deal with a case of a young couple, the husband being 22 years old and his wife 23. They have two children. The mother says she has to leave them and go out to work because her husband is idle most of the time and she is unable to support them.

Another case was that of a widow, Mr. Scott's duty took him to another home where two girls attending school live with their father and grandfather, the mother being dead. The best they could. The conditions, however, were far from being such as most people would regard desirable for girls of fourteen and fifteen years.
