When we feel our inability to resist evil, and to do good, what a comfort it is, to know that our heavenly Father will, if we humbly apply to him, hear our prayers, and graciously assist us!

Young people too often set out in life, with too much confidence in themselves. Alas! how little do they know the dangers that await them!

To repine at the improvement of others, and wish to deprive them of the praise they have deserved, is an envious and odious disposition.
