

$1.50 Per Annum $1.50

VOL. 22.

Victoria Times.

VICTORIA, B. C., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1901.

Twice-a-Week.

NO. 65.

ARRIVAL OF BODY AT WHITE HOUSE

A SILENT PROCESSION THROUGH WASHINGTON

Remains of President McKinley Reached National Capital Last Night—The Charge Against Czolgosz.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 16.—The remains of President McKinley to-night lie in the east room of the White House, where for more than four years he had made his home as the chief magistrate of the United States.

The silence that marked the progress of the funeral party through the national capital was profound. The people as a whole did not talk, even in whispers, and the only sign of agitation in the great crowd was the silent pressing and striving against the ropes to see the mournful cortege which swept slowly along.

At the Pennsylvania railroad station men in bright uniforms gathered, a mixture of soldiers and sailors. Presently in silence two troops of cavalry from Fort Meyer swung from Pennsylvania avenue into Sixth street. Then came the Secretaries Hay and Gage and Acting Secretary Granger and Commissioner McFarland and a few subordinates privileged to enter the space within the station.

The train was due at 8:25, but the clock stood at 8:38 when the headlight of the big locomotive flashed along the rails and the cars swept quietly to a stop at the gates. They were met at the entrance of the observation car, while down the pathway strode a body of sturdy soldiers and sailors chosen as the body-bearers and guards.

Meanwhile, further down the station the party on the funeral train were alighting. Secretary Hay and Secretary Gage had pressed forward, and entered the car where the mourners sat and assisted them to descend. Mrs. McKinley was aided by Almer McKinley and Dr. Rixey, and was speedily placed in a carriage, which drove off at once to the White House without awaiting the procession.

Close behind came the members of the family of the late President who likewise were driven away immediately to the executive mansion. Mrs. McKinley was deeply veiled. She appeared to bear up with fortitude, but leaned heavily on the arms of her supporters.

detected this afternoon by the County court grand jury for the crime of murder in the first degree in fatally shooting President William McKinley at the Temple of Music, in the Pan-American exposition grounds, at 4:15 o'clock on the afternoon of September 6th.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The day of the state funeral of the late President McKinley opened as sombre as the occasion. The sky was overcast with a slow moving gray clouds, occasional showers of rain fell, giving way for momentary intervals to gleams of dull sunshine, and a soft wind hourly stirred into relief the signs of mourning on the building fronts that told, as well as the subdued air of the public, that this was a day of sorrow.

To-day was the occasion on which the nation was to pay its last tribute of respect and admiration at the bier of the dead President. All the country had sent here its representatives to testify that the dead had his place Deep in the National Heart.

Other nations had ordered their diplomatic and military representatives to be present as a token that they mourned with America in its loss.

Ex-President Cleveland was here to take part in the ceremony, and, like President Roosevelt, paid his tribute first in private at the White House, and later at the public services in the rotunda of the Capitol.

The King of Great Britain was represented by Mr. General Lovthier, chargé of the British embassy, whom Edward VII. had specially commissioned to participate in the services as his personal representative.

About the White House the patrol of soldiers and sailors guarding the entrance and grounds told the sad story. The night had been a quiet one. A vigil over the dead had been maintained throughout the night watches. Details of cavalrymen, artillerymen and infantrymen, sailors and marines were on guard around the grounds. A sentry paced back and forth on the portico. Inside the house others did duty. In the east room, sombre with its drawn shades and dim burning lights and with its leavy black casket in the centre, the guard of honor watched over the dead.

At 9 o'clock silent command was given and the body bearers Raised the Casket to Their Shoulders. They walked with slow step, and as they appeared at the main door of the White House, the marine band stationed opposite the mansion struck up the President's hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee."

country will sustain such a movement and make Anarchism a thing of the past.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The day of the state funeral of the late President McKinley opened as sombre as the occasion.

Other nations had ordered their diplomatic and military representatives to be present as a token that they mourned with America in its loss.

Ex-President Cleveland was here to take part in the ceremony, and, like President Roosevelt, paid his tribute first in private at the White House, and later at the public services in the rotunda of the Capitol.

The King of Great Britain was represented by Mr. General Lovthier, chargé of the British embassy, whom Edward VII. had specially commissioned to participate in the services as his personal representative.

About the White House the patrol of soldiers and sailors guarding the entrance and grounds told the sad story. The night had been a quiet one. A vigil over the dead had been maintained throughout the night watches.

At 9 o'clock silent command was given and the body bearers Raised the Casket to Their Shoulders. They walked with slow step, and as they appeared at the main door of the White House, the marine band stationed opposite the mansion struck up the President's hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee."

At 9 o'clock silent command was given and the body bearers Raised the Casket to Their Shoulders. They walked with slow step, and as they appeared at the main door of the White House, the marine band stationed opposite the mansion struck up the President's hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee."

into the wound and that practically a culture cabinet for such a movement was supplied by the injured tissues. The result was the poisoning of the President's flesh through toxins. He doubts that the assassin intentionally poisoned the bullets, as has been suggested in some quarters.

London, Sept. 17.—In M. A. P., a weekly society paper, T. P. O'Connor will publish tomorrow one of the most interesting of his recollections of his meeting with the late President McKinley at Washington.

Buffalo, Sept. 17.—Justice Lewis, counsel for Czolgosz, has entered a plea of not guilty, reserving the right to withdraw that plea. The prisoner again refused to answer. The trial has been set for Monday next.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Emma Goldman today received two unsigned letters, the writers of which threaten to take her life at the first opportunity. One of them which was postmarked Washington, D. C., says: "If ever you are a free woman a bullet shall strike you just where it struck the President. Your devilish tongue shall incite no more the murder of good and honorable men."

Vancover, Sept. 17.—News was brought by the steamer "Fees this morning of a mystery in the North. The skull and bones of a man were found on the shore of Moresby Island, just south of Skidgate, the discovery being made by four prospectors who left Vancouver a month ago. They found the remains of what appears to be a white man in the bottom of a pile of rocks, where the body had been buried to a crisp.

Washington, Sept. 17.—When the doors of the rotunda of the Capitol were opened to-day in order to permit an inspection of the remains of President McKinley, the crowd brushed by the policeman and a terrible congestion followed on the Capitol steps and at the entrance door.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Physicians in this city are still much interested in the report of the Finnish company which has been made by the doctor who attended President McKinley. Several experts upon gun shot wounds are quoted as to McKinley's death.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 15.—Chemical Professor Dubrovsky has discovered a powerful explosive which is absolutely safe to handle, since the explosion only occurs upon ignition and after a small quantity of sulphuric acid is poured on the explosive.

ON WAY TO CANTON. The Remains of President McKinley Removed From Washington.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The state service for the late President McKinley in the Capitol to-day were conducted in accordance with the rites of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which Mr. McKinley was a life long member.

At the close of the hymn as Rev. Dr. Naylor, presiding elder of the Washington district rose to offer prayer, the hush that fell upon the people was profound. Scarcely had the "Amen" been breathed when the liquid tone of that sweetly pleading song, "Some Time We'll Understand," went straight to the heart of every auditor.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The Chicago Bar Association has adopted resolutions on the death of President McKinley which, in brief, are as follows: We, the undersigned, upon our chief magistrate, recognize a blow dealt at the law and the administration of the law.

Washington, Sept. 17.—President Roosevelt at 3 o'clock to-day convened his last cabinet meeting here in Washington. The President desired to learn if there were any matters of moment requiring his attention before his departure to-night for Canton.

Washington, Sept. 17.—When the doors of the rotunda of the Capitol were opened to-day in order to permit an inspection of the remains of President McKinley, the crowd brushed by the policeman and a terrible congestion followed on the Capitol steps and at the entrance door.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Physicians in this city are still much interested in the report of the Finnish company which has been made by the doctor who attended President McKinley.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 15.—Chemical Professor Dubrovsky has discovered a powerful explosive which is absolutely safe to handle, since the explosion only occurs upon ignition and after a small quantity of sulphuric acid is poured on the explosive.

CABINET UNCHANGED. All United States Ministers Accepted Reappoint.

Washington, Sept. 18.—It was stated on excellent authority to-day that all members of the cabinet had accepted the reappointment tendered by President Roosevelt yesterday.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The Chicago Bar Association has adopted resolutions on the death of President McKinley which, in brief, are as follows: We, the undersigned, upon our chief magistrate, recognize a blow dealt at the law and the administration of the law.

Washington, Sept. 17.—President Roosevelt at 3 o'clock to-day convened his last cabinet meeting here in Washington. The President desired to learn if there were any matters of moment requiring his attention before his departure to-night for Canton.

Washington, Sept. 17.—When the doors of the rotunda of the Capitol were opened to-day in order to permit an inspection of the remains of President McKinley, the crowd brushed by the policeman and a terrible congestion followed on the Capitol steps and at the entrance door.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Physicians in this city are still much interested in the report of the Finnish company which has been made by the doctor who attended President McKinley.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 15.—Chemical Professor Dubrovsky has discovered a powerful explosive which is absolutely safe to handle, since the explosion only occurs upon ignition and after a small quantity of sulphuric acid is poured on the explosive.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 15.—Chemical Professor Dubrovsky has discovered a powerful explosive which is absolutely safe to handle, since the explosion only occurs upon ignition and after a small quantity of sulphuric acid is poured on the explosive.

CAMPAIGN IS NOW NEARING THE CLOSE

LAST NIGHT'S MEETINGS WERE WELL ATTENDED

Number of Speakers Are Taking Part in the Political Gatherings at New Westminster.

New Westminster, Sept. 17.—The last days of the bye-election campaign in New Westminster are certainly the warmest of any political contest ever held in the Royal City.

Two meetings were held last night, one in the opera house and the other in St. Barnabas parish room. The latter, called by Mr. Gifford, was well attended and was addressed by A. E. McPhillips and Capt. Tatlow, M. P. P.'s, David Bogle and Thomas Gifford. No one spoke on behalf of Hon. J. C. Brown or the government.

The meeting in the opera house was also well attended. The speakers were Smith Curtis, Richard McBride, Hon. J. C. Brown, Hon. W. C. Wells, M. P. P.'s, and G. R. Maxwell, M. P., of Vancouver. Hon. J. C. Brown confined his remarks to an appeal to the electorate to support him and make sure of the bridge. Mr. Maxwell did not support the government, but was working in the interest of Mr. Brown as he was a personal friend and had previously helped him (Maxwell) out of a tight place.

Quebec, Sept. 16.—After lunch at the Citadel to-day, the Royal party paid a visit to the University. They were received in the large hall of the Institution, the galleries being filled by pupils, while the body of the hall was filled with clergy and distinguished guests.

Quebec, Sept. 16.—After lunch at the Citadel to-day, the Royal party paid a visit to the University. They were received in the large hall of the Institution, the galleries being filled by pupils, while the body of the hall was filled with clergy and distinguished guests.

Advertisement for RIA (Royal Insurance Agency) featuring various services like Castoria, Arrive of Body at White House, and other news items.

Advertisement for H. Ross & Co. Cash Grocers, listing various food items and prices.

Advertisement for S. (likely S. & Co.) in the province, listing various goods and services.

Advertisement for Paper Boxes, listing various box sizes and prices.

Advertisement for R. and Bags, listing various bag types and prices.

Advertisement for Paper Boxes, listing various box sizes and prices.

Advertisement for R. and Bags, listing various bag types and prices.

Advertisement for Paper Boxes, listing various box sizes and prices.

Advertisement for R. and Bags, listing various bag types and prices.

Advertisement for Paper Boxes, listing various box sizes and prices.