The vitated termination or common co disciples at once catch His meaning; the past is illumined with a new and glorious light in which all that Jesus said and did are seen in there true relations and proportions. The gospel measage is grasped and preached with extraordinary power and effect by men who, but a little before the "hour came," were ignorant, perplexed, almost accounting themselves as put to shame by the death of their Master whom they had hoped would have redeemed Israel. The proverbs have become "plain." And ever since that day of Pentecost the Spirit bas been leading us, little by little, into the truth, as we have been able to bear it, taking of the things of Jesus and declaring them unto us, speaking plainly, and ever more plainly, of the Father. We have made many mistakes; but the Spirit working in the hearts of men is teaching them that—

There's a wideness in God's mercy.

Like the wideness in God's mercy.
