Around the City

Just a Half Dozen.

The police, both civic and military, yesterday afternoon and last night, placed six drunks behind the bars in the police headquarters.

Left for New Charge.

Rev. A. F. Bourgeois, who has been stationed at the Cathedral for some time, left yesterday for Adamsville, Kent Co., having been appointed to succeed Rev. J. Gaudet, who has been appointed chaplain of the 165th Battalion.

Another Bonehead.

After being at rest for some time, a bonehead appeared at 11:50 o'clock last night on Middle street, "Old Port," West St. John, and sent in a false alarm from box 115. It is needless to say that the firemen were not very well pleased at being called out of their beds at such an hour by the action of a crank.

St. John Methodist District Meeting. The St. John District Methodist meeting was held yesterday in the Fairville Methodist church. Reports were received from the different committees. It was announced that Robert Smart had completed his course of study and probation for the ministry, and it was recommended that he be ordained at the Summer-wide conference.

Capt. Pidgeon Coming Home.

Capt. D. F. Pidgeon, who left here as paymaster with the Divisional Ammunition Column, is expected to arrive very soon. Word was received from him about a week ago to the effect that he was leaving for home. It is understood that he has been appointed to a position in Canada in the Militia Department.

Appointed to Victoria Hospital.

Dr. John A. O'Regan, who recently graduated from McGill University School of Medicine with honors, arrived at noon yesterday from Montreal on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Regan, 73 Elliott row. Dr. O'Regan has accepted an appointment on the staff of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, as assistant to Dr. Armstrong, and will take up his duties there in July.

Dr. Mary Crawford Entertained.

A number of ladies entertained Dr. Mary Crawford at tea at the Manor House yesterday afternoon. Mrs. H. A. Powell, Mrs. Richard O'Brien and Mrs. G. F. Smith received the guests, and Mrs. Kuhnig presented each one to Dr. Crawford. The tables were decorated with Snap-Drum, the official flower of the Allies. Dr. Crawford made a short address, thanking the ladies for the kind reception they had given her.

Bootleggers Arrested.

Despite the fact that a large number of men have been heavily fined for supplying soldiers with liquor, the bootlegging game is daily carried on in the city. Last night Peter Yapp was gathered in by the police on the Haymarket Square for selling liquor to a soldier in uniform. Considerable complaint has been made that bootlegging is being carried on in the alley off Sydney street, in the rear of John E. Wilson's establishment. Last night the city detectives were on watch and arrested Thomas Tredwell, a colored man and charged him with purchasing liquor for soldiers.

Driving Accident.

John Magee the tinsmith of 96 Princess street, had a narrow escape from very serious injury yesterday afternoon about 5:45 o'clock. While driving along St. James street his horse bolted and ran away. The frightened animal turned into Sydney street, and near the corner of Brittain street Mr. Magee was thrown from the express wagon to the street. He was severely shaken up and bruised, but otherwise uninjured. The horse ran down Sydney street, reached the railway tracks and ran along as far as the Imperial Oil tanks before it was brought to a stop. The wagon was not damaged, but the horse received a cut on one of its legs.

DR. MARY CRAWFORD TOLD OF HER WORK IN THE WAR ZONE SOLDIERS GET GRANT OF $200 FROM COUNCIL

Popular Action Taken by City Council at Yesterday's Meeting—The Question of Theatre Licenses.

It was decided to recommend the granting of $200 to the European War Veterans' Association, at the committee meeting of the Common Council, yesterday at noon. A delegation consisting of Messrs. "Bud" Tippetts, J. G. Dryden, G. F. Smith and T. McBrine attended and asked for a grant of $100 toward their permanent club room. Commissioner Russell moved that a grant of $200 be recommended. Commissioner Fisher thought they might wait and find out what the government proposed doing before taking any action. The mayor expressed the opinion that the only thing they would be criticised for in this connection would be niggardliness, and said he was in favor of the grant. Commissioner McLellan said he was ready to support this motion even if it were $2,000 instead of $200. These men had gone, and by their going, made it possible for the rest to stay at home in safety, and they were deserving of generous treatment at the hands of the citizens. The motion to grant the $200 was then carried unanimously.

The mayor brought up the question of theatre licenses and suggested that the rate be thirty cents per seat per month. This was laid over until the Monday meeting. Commissioner McLellan announced in this connection that the by-law requiring the aliases and stairways to be kept clear would be strictly enforced in the future. A new clause was inserted in the deed from the C.P.R. to the city, of the land at the corner of Mill and Main streets, stating that it was for street widening purposes only. Some discussion arose on the question of the duties of the road engineer, and it was stated that he had full charge in the matter of street work and the city engineer had nothing to do with them at all. Nothing further has been done in the matter of the agreement with the street railway.

Kid Gloves.

Kid gloves are very scarce, but due to foresight F. Dykema & Co. here have an ample supply of gloves that are considered wonderful value at the present time. Their Verona glove is priced $1.15. It is a French kid glove of good quality and comes in white and black only. Their Canadian made grey suede glove at $1.15 is a very popular make and comes in grey only. Their celebrated Montfort glove is also in grey suede and is priced $1.55. Their Moche dress washing glove at $1.50 is the same quality as sold in some stores at $2.25 in pastel shades only.

Women's Canadian Club Heard Delightful Lecture Last Evening.

If a word of Dr. Mary Crawford's lecture in Centenary church was missed by the large audience gathered to hear this lady, who has done such a great work in the French hospital at Neuilly, it was a distinct loss. Sedon has an audience listened to such an interesting talk, giving personal experiences and such intimate and human views of the soldiers whom this surgeon came to know and to love in this hospital where she worked for eleven months. Her humor and sympathy must have taken her through many trying moments.

The meeting opened with "The King," followed by a short address by Mrs. Kuhnig, who spoke of the pleasure the club felt in having Mrs. Wood the Lady patroness at the meeting. In a few words Mrs. Kuhnig introduced Dr. Mary Crawford, "who comes to us," she said "crowned with the glory of the battle field."

Dr. Crawford in a few introductory remarks expressed feelingly her joy at seeing people knitting, for in Paris everybody knitted, and you know that it showed the right spirit. But she did not need that to tell us of the Canadian spirit. "The whole world knows the Canadian spirit. The French soldier knows that breed of English soldier who is not English. He is so, they say. He speaks French too, and that gives the feeling of the double entente. 'Canada' at home is the army that cares for the army."

Dr. Crawford was for eleven months at the hospital of Neuilly. This is an American hospital, started by American residents in Paris, and maintained by voluntary American funds. It has 500 beds, is a military hospital, and is in a new school that was being built for boys. In three weeks it was fully equipped, and the French and American people gave gladly, even to monogrammed linen. The percentages of cures is very high. The hospital has been for British soldiers, Arabs and men from the French Sudan. All the soldiers called Dr. Crawford "Mamma." She was in Paris at the first Zeppelin raid, and saw a captured German Zeppelin exhibited in Invalides Court in Paris. There was no panic in Paris. One of the British gifts to France was the splendid morale of the British army, while the other hand the British soldier never forgot being fed by French villagers in the days of the retreat from Mons.

The personnel of the hospital consisted of American doctors, resident in Paris, among whom was the well-known Dr. Blake. Nurses flocked to help, among whom were Australians and Canadians. A large untrained staff was needed, and many volunteered. Among the orderlies, who scrubbed the floor of the ward, was a titled gentleman from Russia, and all classes offered their services. Miss Blake did not occur in the case of one girl who said she knew the patient was getting better, because his temperature was higher every day, but as there was a trained nurse in charge no harm was done.

There were many nationalities in the hospital, but no neutrals. Dr. Crawford then showed her pictures, which were full of interest. The hospital terrace with convalescents, men being taken out of ambulances—just here the speaker remarked that the Ford cars had done far better work in this war than Mr. Ford (Laughter). A view was shown of men receiving the French Decoration, of which a ceremony is made.

The work of reconstruction which goes on in the Dental Clinic, headed by Dr. Hayes, was perhaps, some of the finest done in France. A photograph was shown of Dr. Crawford with four Tommies—Pat McCarty with his Arab friend, Shik, who learned "language" from Pat. A photograph of Sergeant Walker, who cut off his own leg, which had been shattered by bullets; of a Frenchman giving his blood to save a comrade, and only regretting that he was not giving it to an Englishman; of Moosa from the French Sudan, who, when given butter greased his feet with it, but became lame and learned to walk, and also promised the doctor not to touch wine, and kept his word like a gentleman; of some French boy scouts serving France in their little way; of Armand, "Dr. Crawford's oldest son," who has two wives and seven kids in Tunis, but who will kill all Germans he can because of the atrocities he has seen.

The last picture was of a French girl eight years old, who knits two scarfs each week, which she sells to help at home, which Dr. Crawford said was typical of the French spirit. She ended her lecture by speaking of the duty of the world to conserve the children and how a fund is being raised to care for French orphans.

A vote of thanks beautifully worded was moved by Mrs. B. A. Hutt, and ably seconded by Miss Eleanor Robinson, and tendered to Dr. Crawford by a rising vote. A solo by Miss Blenda Thompson followed.

BOY THIEVES DEALT WITH

Several Before the Police Court Yesterday Afternoon—Police Will Watch Buyers of Stolen Goods.

The city detectives, during the past couple of days, arrested a few boy thieves. Yesterday two were arrested for stealing morning newspapers from doorways. One of the boys was yesterday allowed to go on suspended sentence as it was his first offence, while his companion was remanded, having been in custody on a previous occasion. There is a third boy who is wanted, but who is still at large. In addition to stealing the papers the boys stole a large quantity of cigarettes from Paddock's grocery on Haymarket square. The detectives found forty packages in the grocery store kept by W. E. Pye on Somerset street, where the boys stated they sold them for fifty cents.

A main street boy who stole over twenty dollars worth of brass and lead pipe from George Blake's plumbing store on German street, was yesterday sentenced to a term of four years in the Boys' Industrial Home. The boy sold the stolen goods to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dritz, junk dealers on the Long Wharf, receiving for the same $2.40. Mrs. Dritz was fined forty dollars and ordered to return what stolen goods she had received to Mr. Blake. Louis Dritz was fined fifty dollars, and as he could not pay he did not have a place to dispose of the stolen articles, and in the future any dealer who purchases articles from minors, and who do not keep a correct record of all goods purchased will be dealt with accordingly.
