INDIANTOWN FIRE WAS PICTURESQUE AND VERY EXPENSIVE

Confagration Was a Fine Spectacle—The Name "Star" Was Visible Framed in Fire.

Quick Work Alone Saved the Crew-Northrup's Gallantry—Burned Hull of Steamer Sank Before It Could Be Towed to a Beach.

Blazing from stem to stern the steamer Star swung majestically out into the centre of Indian town harbor Thursday morning in tow of the tug Wess Laddie and W. H. Murray.

Fire was discovered on the steamer soon after 2 o'clock and before it was completely under control the steamer was burned, two warehouses were destroyed and a machine shop was gutted.

To Isaac Northrup, a deckhand employed on the steamer, belongs the credit of discovering the blaze.

Northrup was sleeping in his berth and was awakened by some unknown agency. His room was full of smoke and there was every evidence that the steamer was on fire.

He yelled "fire" and, hustling on some clothes, jumped on the tug Wess Laddie, which was lying at the stern of the steamer and blew a loud warning note on her steam whistle.

An alarm was then sent out by the tug Wess Laddie and No. 2 engine, which was lying at the stern of the steamer, was put to work.

Chief Kerr and District Engineer Blake and Brown were on hand early and superintended the extinguishing of the flames.

The chief telegrapher, Mr. C. J. Smith, and his crew, the men of the tug Wess Laddie, and the men of the tug Wess Laddie, were put to work.

When the fire began there were asleep on the steamer Isaac A. Worden, the black, Mrs. Chase, the stewardess, Miss Wilson, the cook, and Charles Coleman, the fireman.

All awoke about the same time and recognized that from the appearance there would be a hot session aboard the Star in a minute, and consequently the proper course for them to pursue was to get out of the ship as soon as possible.

They stood not upon the order of their going but got out just as soon as possible. They were not dressed to receive visitors.

Worried, the mate, slept in the upper part of the steamer. When he got out of his room and found flames all around him he became bewildered. Mr. Northrup, however, was again called to the emergency and he tried to get the fire under control.

Miss Wilson and the fireman Coleman were already in safety, and Mrs. Chase was the only person left on the burning steamer. She came out on deck clad only in her nightgown, and with Mr. Northrup's assistance was put on board the tug Wess Laddie.

The steamer Wess Laddie took the place of the Star Thursday morning and the tug Wess Laddie was towed to the beach.

Although but a few minutes had elapsed since the blaze was first discovered the ill-fated steamer was already enveloped in flames which wrapped her from end to end like a fiery shroud.

All those aboard lost their clothing and effects. Fortunately there was no freight on the steamer, although she brought down considerable on her last trip which was stored in the warehouse.

The fire made an expensive though beautiful spectacle. The blaze spread from the steamer and caught the large wooden warehouse owned by Mrs. Porter and occupied by the People's Line Steamship Company, P. N. & S. On the lower floor

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make Rich, Red Blood and Drive These Pains from the System—Read the Proof.

A high medical authority has defined neuralgia as "a cry of the nerves for better blood," and to effectively drive it from the system the blood must be made rich and pure. For this purpose there is no other medicine so prompt and sure in result as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

These pills make new, rich, red blood with every dose, and improve the life of the nerves. For this purpose there is no other medicine so prompt and sure in result as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

John McDermott, Bond Head, Ont., writes: "I have suffered from neuralgia for many years. I was unable to do any work and I was in great pain. I tried many medicines but nothing helped. I then tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I was cured. I am now able to do my work and I am in good health."

W. W. Page of Halifax and Miss Florence Sullivan, "The Sweet Singer of the St. Croix," Wed.

St. Stephen, Sept. 24—(Special)—The Church of the Holy Trinity, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion, was the scene of a pretty wedding this morning when Florence C., daughter of Postmaster D. Sullivan, was united to W. W. Page, of the Halifax post office.

Although at an early hour many friends attended the capital mass and wedding services. When the organ pealed forth a march the groom supported by Vincent Sullivan, of Boston, brother of the bride, took his place in front of the altar and awaited the bride, who came up the aisle on the arm of her father and preceded by her maid, Miss Alma, who acted as bridesmaid.

CARLETON COUNTY FAIR BEGINS WELL AT WOODSTOCK.

There Are 1424 Entries by 140 Exhibitors—One of the Best Exhibitions Ever Held in the Province.

Woodstock, Sept. 24—(Special)—The Carleton county exhibition had fine weather for its opening day and a good attendance. The exhibition was formally opened by Lieut.-Governor Snowball, in a well conceived speech.

The governor was escorted to the stand by the Woodstock band and a guard of honor, under Colonel Vince, Captain Ball and Lieutenant McLean, of the militia.

The president, C. H. L. Perkins, occupied the chair, and on behalf of the Agricultural Society thanked the governor for his presence and for his valuable address to the exhibition which he brought from Northumberland county. He thanked him, too, for the interest he showed in the agriculture of the county.

Mayor Belyea, on behalf of the citizens of Woodstock, extended a hearty welcome to his honor, while Warden Saunders did the same on behalf of the county at large.

Other speakers were Hon. Mr. Harris, Mr. Denison, the American consul, and Doctor Trutchell.

There are 1424 entries by 140 exhibitors, all the several classes being full, all of first quality and the general opinion expressed, judged from an agricultural standpoint, is that the exhibition is the best ever held in the county, if not the province.

Governor Snowball and visiting gentlemen expressed the opinion that the exhibition is up to their highest expectations. The entries—poultry, cattle, etc.—are very numerous, and the standard so high that the judges will have a difficult undertaking in awarding the prizes.

The ground floor of the main building is devoted to the display of carriages, sleighs, pumps, etc., from the Woodstock Carriage Company, Loane Bros, and C. Eley, and stoves from Small & Fisher, and heaters from H. E. Burt and W. F. Dibley & Son. The Baird Company make a tastefully arranged show of their proprietary medicines, the Woodstock Woodworking Company a fine exhibit of their work.

The rest of the ground floor is occupied with products of the farm, prominent among which are the handsome specimens from the farms of Governor Snowball and George Fisher, Northumberland county.

Up stairs are to be found the fruits, grains, roots, dairy produce, etc. Here the Carleton Woolen Company make a splendid show of their products. A Henderson has an attractive display of carriages, furniture, etc. Balmrain Bros. show a line of gent's fur coats, and carriage and sleigh robes.

High Hay & Son exhibit a line of expensive fur goods, and they are well seen here. Their arrangement for showing lace curtains is a convenient and ingenious one.

The ladies' handwork is shown on this floor. Atherton Bros. show harnesses of their own manufacture.

In the yard are shown specimens of farm implements manufactured by Smith & Fisher, and Connell Bros, and Balmrain Bros, William McDonald, and others show specimens of the farm implements they produce.

The races in the park will be held tomorrow and Friday. The balloon ascensions will be a prominent feature in the amusement for the next two days.

The attendance was far above that of yesterday. The judges are making good progress in their work. The sheep and pig trials will be held tomorrow.

Woodstock, Sept. 25—(Special)—The exhibition visitors continue to have fine success have been judged. Dairy cattle trials all passed on the weather was fine. The judges were Dr. N. R. Collier, E. R. Teed and Andrew Williams. D. J. Stockford was starter. S. E. Burpee and Dr. W. N. Land, timers, and J. S. Leighton, clerk.

The heats in the 229 were split and the contest was postponed till tomorrow. Following is a summary:
