LIGHTNING BADLY INJURES RIVER GLADE YOUNG MAN

Ora Jones' Right Side Paralyzed—Has Lost Sight of Eye and Hearing—Struck While Carrying Pail of Milk and His Grip Could Not Be Loosened.

Salisbury, N. B., May 30.—Word reached here this morning that during the electric storm of Monday evening, Ora Jones, a young man of River Glade, son of Byron C. Jones, a prominent farmer of the district, was shocked by lightning, his right side being paralyzed, depriving him of the sight of his right eye and the hearing of his right ear.

It seems that the unfortunate young man and his father had just finished the milking and were carrying the milk in tin pails from the barn to the house, when near the kitchen door a flash of lightning gave the young man the shock. His right hand gripped the bail of the pail like a vice, and it was necessary in order to get the bail out of this vice-like grip to detach it from the vessel and draw it from the hand.

A doctor was summoned and at last accounts there was no change reported in the young man's condition, and it will take some time to determine whether the shock will have a permanent or only a temporary effect.

The young man was a student in Principal Goodwin's department of the school here for some time, and has a number of friends in the village, who learned of the accident with much regret.
