

Notice.

Since the last appearance of the COMPANION, a change of Government has taken place in Quebec and Manitoba, while a general election has been had in no less than four of the Provinces, viz:—in Ontario, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Manitoba. There have been also many new elections to the House of Commons, owing to the operation of the new Election Law for the Dominion, under which thirty-three of the people's representatives have been unseated, rendering a fresh appeal to each constituency affected necessary in every case. The Editor has endeavoured to keep pace with these and other changes, with what success the reader must decide by referring to the pages before him. The Editor is gratified to find that the COMPANION is yearly growing more and more popular in the public estimation, a fact which is evidenced, not only by an increased circulation at home, but by a very noticeable increase of its circulation without the Canadian Union.

Slater Street, Ottawa, February, 1875.