

Petition Cancels Council Financial Move; No Admission Charge Formal

In the Oak Room in the Students' Memorial Centre on Nov. 7, the regular meeting of the S.R.C. was held with President Jim MacDonald in the chair. In the course of the meeting a letter signed by 20% of the student body was read by the President. In their letter the students requested that the motion of the council concerning the charging of fees for entrance to formal dances be repealed.

Under Article X, Section 4 of the Constitution of the S.R.C., any petition signed by 20% of the student body has the power to initiate or prevent the enacting of a specific piece of legislation. As a result of the above the council repealed its motion; consequently, any students wishing to attend the Fall Formal may do so without paying admission.

Other business carried on during the unusually quiet meeting concerned the final appraisal of the budget. The budgets of the Brunswickan, the Social Committee and of the Camera Club were all completed. The total budget for the Brunswickan has been set at $1,675.

One of the interesting results of the meeting was the appointment of Carel Van Vredenburg to investigate the advisability of conducting regular dances sponsored by the S.R.C.

Acadia Back In N.F.C.U.S.

The students of Acadia University in Wolfville voted on Wednesday to rejoin NFCUS. The University students council had withdrawn from the organization after the national Conference in 1954.

The vote of 319 in favour and 230 against climaxed nearly two weeks of intensive discussion of the federation on the campus. The president of the Students' Council, Don MacPherson, supported Acadia re-entry. The council appointed Mel Campbell chairman of a committee to educate the students about NFCUS, and the success of the vote was largely as a result of his efforts. Dave Peel, the Atlantic Regional President of the organization and Lew Matheson, a fellow student at Dalhousie spoke to the student council and student body over

Tickets Remain on Sale for Players

The sale of tickets for the visit of the Canadian Players to Fredericton next February will continue throughout the coming week. The price of the tickets is two dollars, a price which includes the performances on both nights of the visit.

The tickets on sale on the campus are special student tickets, the number of which is restricted. They are being sold at a price considerably lower than those on sale downtown. This is a great opportunity for students up the hill, as it is quite possible that this visit will be the only one by a professional group of such calibre for many years.

The offshoot of the famous Stratford Players, who have earned a world-wide reputation during the past four years, will stage two excellent plays. The first will be one of the best known plays ever written, Hamlet, by a certain William Shakespeare and Peer Gynt, by the famous Danish author Henrik Ibsen.

Tickets will be on sale at the Student Centre at lunch time during the next week. The Library has tickets which can be bought at any time during the day. These special student tickets may also be bought from either Steve Fay

COMMISSIONER SPEAKS OF STUDENT NEED

In an address to the combined student body and faculty the Indian High Commissioner to Canada, His Excellency Dr. M. A. Rauf, spoke of the great needs among the students of this world. This need as he said, was not so much the need of the dollar, but the need for a feeling of oneness, wherein the future of a better world lies. It is of course not only this feeling that will help them, for the facilities at the universities in the Eastern world are not by far sufficient for the number of students, so the material help is also of great importance.

While dwelling on the subject of war His Excellency spoke of how at one time war was considered as a natural thing and how in these days, with the atom bomb having acted as eye-opener, we have become a little wiser.

BULLETIN!

A telegram from Acadia University, Wolfville, Nova Scotia, has been received stating that the Acadia Students council dispatched a wire to the Secretary-General of the United Nations, deploring alleged cruelty to students in Hungary, and urging the UN to do all in its power to alleviate the strife.

BLOODY FAILURE

The question of school spirit was perhaps best answered in the recent blood donor clinic. The faculties with less than 50% turnout are not contributory either to their own faculty, or the University campus life. Upon further

There are however still people who in their clamour for power and wealth find arguments for war, and it can only be through the younger generation (i.e. the present student generation) that those future wars can be prevented.

In answering the question whether trouble in Egypt might split the Commonwealth His Excellency said that such is very unlikely to happen. This is only temporarily and quoting Nehru "We are much too busy to even think about it".

The address, given in Memorial Hall, was given after an introduction by the President Dr. Mackay. Although the Hall was not filled to capacity, the meeting was well attended. It is however a pity that people seem to be afraid to sit too close to the speaker, and tend to leave the front rows open, which is not exactly courteous to speakers of this calibre.

BOB McNUTT

Nominations for President, Senior Class

HAZEN MARR

JIM BROOKS

Here's How You Can Vote

The voting for the SRC's Fall elections which take place next Tuesday begins early and takes place at many centres on the campus, so there can be little excuse for not registering your vote. This election applies only to Sophomores and Seniors for they are the only classes which have representatives to elect. Any hope of a good competition was unfortunately ruled out by a distinct lack of imagination by the new class who proposed only six candidates, who were, therefore elected by acclamation.

The polls will be located in the Forestry, Arts and Engineering buildings, and it is expected that polling booths will be open from 10.00-12.30 and from 2.00-3.30.

RAUF ALSO SPEAKS AT DINNER

At a dinner, tendered by the province at the Lord Beaverbrook Hotel on Monday, Dr. Mohamed Rauf, Indian High Commissioner to Canada, told guests of the close co-operation and mutual respect between his country and Canada. In addition, Dr. Rauf pointed to the unanimity of purpose of the two countries in the United Nations and forecast continued good relations between both commonwealth countries.

The Indian Diplomat said he was impressed with the fine way Indian students were received in Canada, and continued "... there has not been a single student come to me with any complaint of discriminatory practise. Every one has been received with the utmost kindness and consideration." Dr. Rauf made special mention of the thirty students currently studying at Chalk River, Canada's Atomic Research Centre. These students are in Canada under the auspices of the Colombo Plan, whose work Dr. Rauf praised highly. He went on to express gratitude to the Canadian Government for the gift of an atomic reactor, which, he added, would be "a reactor for peace."

In closing, the Indian High Commissioner remarked on the beauties of New Brunswick, and voiced regret that he had not before been able to visit the Atlantic Province during his two years in Ottawa.
