

the aged pastor and his flock were bathed in tears of joy, and one worldly, impenitent heart at least received impressions never to be forgotten. Having obtained this pearl of great price herself, she ardently desired that all around her might share in the priceless treasure. One of her youthful associates, beautiful as the morning rose, but immersed in the fascinations of the world, so enlisted her sympathies and anxieties that she hastened to her with the message of redeeming love. It was to her the power of God unto salvation, and they are now together on the shining shore.

About this time she was buried with Christ in baptism by the now glorified Manning, and joyfully received as a member of the First Cornwallis church.

Up to this period we were strangers to each other; but not long after it pleased God to lead us also to embrace the Saviour, and enter upon the duties of the Christian life. This naturally brought us into each other's society, and as acquaintance matured, her personal charms, her unassuming and quiet manner, and her unquestioned piety, so impressed us, that we proposed to her a union of hearts and of interests for life. The proposition was accepted, and on April the 2nd, 1826, at her adopted home, the residence of the late renowned William Allen Chipman, Esquire, our spiritual father, Elder Manning, performed for us with a
