

DRS. CORNELL &amp; FISHER

DENTISTS
Corner Sixth and King St.
Over the Bee Hive.
Phone—Office 317, Residence 442

THE LOCAL BUDGET

Mrs. Ella Collar, of Blenheim, is in the city to-day.

The rainfall yesterday amounted to .729 inches to the west, .1 inch to the east, of Wallaceburg, is spending the day in the city.

Mrs. Christine Neilson, of Toronto, is visiting Miss Olive McGavin.

James Beckett, M. D., of Thamesville, was in the city yesterday.

The races at the McKeough school picnic will begin at 6.30 p. m.

Ed. Ross, of Little Rock, Ark., is here for a two weeks' visit to his parents.

Horace Davis, of Toronto, is expected in the city this evening on a few days' visit.

Children's day at McKeough school Thursday, June 22. Sports and band concert in the evening.

Mrs. J. M. Scott and grandson Allan, of Toronto, are visiting Mrs. Wm. Lane, Gravel Road.

The annual statement of the Merchants Bank of Canada that has just been issued shows a profit of $649,238.

Mrs. W. H. Hanford has returned to Detroit after visiting Mrs. E. D. Jordan. She was accompanied by Mr. Geo. Merrim.

Mr. Tompkins Martin, of Loraine, Que., is visiting his nephew, Desha M. Martin, of this city, and his sisters, Mrs. Lucier and Mrs. Cheff, of Dover.

Rev. Mr. Brown officiating. The young couple are well known and highly respected in the township.

James E. Payne and Miss Drucilla Foy were united in the holy bonds of matrimony on Wednesday in Dover Township.

Rev. Mr. Brown officiating. The young couple are well known and highly respected in the township.

Jim Shaver, of Blenheim, has accepted a position in the bent goods factory, Frank Ross, formerly of Seattle, has also located here. Both are acquaintances to the Citizens' Band.

Word has been received in this city from W. B. Knowles, a former pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, that he is practicing law in Moose Jaw and likes his work very much. He is in love with the country and enjoying perfect health.

The remains of the late May Ryan, of Detroit, formerly of this city, were brought here on the Grand T. R. yesterday afternoon and buried in the Maple Leaf cemetery. The funeral took place from the depot and was attended by the relatives of the family only. Rev. A. S. Woodburne, of the Baptist church, officiated.

WANTED BY RELATIVES

Feroj McIntyre, the demented young man, whose eccentricities caused his incarceration in the jail here, and who was recently conveyed to the asylum, again sprang into prominence yesterday.

Sheriff Gemmill was called upon by Mr. Welsh, son of the customs inspector at Windsor, who stated that he had received a letter from some of McIntyre's relatives in Boston, who were endeavoring to find out where the unfortunate young man was. Mr. Welsh stated that McIntyre's people lived in Liverpool, Eng., where they were very prominent.

ON THE WARPATH.

A squaw from Walpole Island answering to the name of Mrs. Jane Seward excited by fire-water went on the war path on the King street trail about eleven o'clock this morning in the neighborhood of the Aurora Store.

Until P. C. Darr arrived, she ran amok, emitting blood-curdling warwhoops. Aided by four men Officer Darr finally succeeded in leading her open a day. In this impromptu patrol wagon she was conveyed to the police station, where she is now, wondering why the same latitude is not allowed the noble red man as is allowed a citizen of New York who can get viciously excited three times a year with impunity.

It's a fellow who can't sing that generally has things offered to him for a song.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Hot, Cold, Medicinal and Electric Baths

Massage (general and facial) electro massage and treatments for all functional troubles. Patients treated at office or at home as desired. The latest and best system of physical culture taught.

W. R. Robert, King St. opp. Bank of Montreal.

WARM DEBATE

The Industrial Committee and the Railway Officials Fight Out the Terms of the Agreement Between City and Company.

Last night the Industrial committee of the City Council met a committee of the stock holders and officers of the electric road and wrestled with them in wordy warfare until far into the watches of the night.

The bone of contention was the settling of the agreement which is to govern the relations between the city and the electric road in the future.

The more important clauses of the proposed agreement, such as the terms of the city's loan to the company and the route of the road, are familiar to those who have been following the negotiations. These main points were settled upon, but the opposing parties deadlocked upon the question of the kind of fender with which the cars are to be equipped.

The railway people wish to use a pilot, which is a contrivance much resembling a cow-catcher. The Industrial committee was firm in its stand that, within the city at any rate, fenders such as are used in Toronto, Detroit and other cities must be used, claiming that pilots afford little or no protection to human life. The question was laid over until it is seen what style others inter-urban lines use.

Another matter which caused considerable discussion was the city's contention that they should be able to regulate fares. The electric road officials contended that as the road was not purely a city line the city had no such right. This point was also laid over.

For the railway there appeared Messrs. Bell, O'Keefe, Rankin, Kerr, Kipp, Hadley and Warburton, in addition to a large number of the stockholders.

GOOD BRIGADE

Lord Aylmer was a delighted visitor to the Chatham Fire Hall Thursday afternoon.

The General and Major Howard were thoroughly pleased with the department and was much taken with our intelligent Chief and his able staff of assistants.

They thought the hall perfectly equipped and were surprised to see the itching done so fast. They thought the department compared very favorably with any they have seen.

STUFFED AGAIN

The same man who solemnly predicted that the St. Thomas regiment was coming to camp on the fair grounds here and recapture from the local regiment the colors the 24th captured from them in a sham battle fought last year, recently had another of his dreams when he reported Duke Kollage as having gone with the Stoddard Stock Co. when it left here.

Duke's friends will be pleased to learn he is still in the city and intends remaining here—at least until this reporter arranges another trip for him, when Duke supposes he will have to take another imaginative journey.

THE FIREMEN

"There is one institution in Chatham that the citizens should feel very proud of," said Dr. A. W. Thornton to The Planet this morning, "and that is the Maple City Fire Department. I have been fortunate enough to visit most of the large cities in the United States as far west as St. Paul and as far south as Louisville, Ky., and all of the large cities in Ontario and Quebec, and I never saw a finer fire department than the one we have right here in Chatham. I have never seen a department turn out in better shape with better looking horses, or horses better handled, certainly. The citizens of this town should give the department every possible encouragement."

HOUSES and LOTS FOR SALE

Frame house, Victoria Ave. $2000.00

Frame house, Witherspoon St. 800.00

Frame house, St. Clair St. 800.00

Frame house, Park Ave. 650.00

Frame house, Park Ave. 2000.00

Frame house, Thames St. 1300.00

Frame house, Pitt St. 1500.00

Frame house, Murray St. 1300.00

Frame house, Park St. 1000.00

Frame house, Pine St. 1000.00

Frame house, St. George St. 1000.00

Frame house, Adelaide St. 900.00

Frame house, Grey St. 550.00

Double house in poor location 1300.00

Modern house with all conveniences 2300.00

Houses and lots in all parts of city for sale.

Apply to DUNN & MERRITT, Real Estate and Insurance, Fifth St. Phone 295

WERE AGREED

The City Council will Have the Privilege of Renting Their Portion of Harrison Hall if They So Desire

A Joint committee from the City and County Councils met yesterday to consider the possibility in view of the erection of the new market building of allowing the city to waive the present agreement whereby Harrison Hall is maintained jointly by city and county and allow the city to sub-let its office.

The committee from the City Council was composed of the Mayor and Ald. Westman, Austin, Bell and Potter, while seven of the County Council members were present, being the Warden, Councilors Chinnick, Ross, French, Horal, Campbell and Stewart.

After some discussion it was agreed that the city should have the privilege of sub-letting its floor space in Harrison Hall to tenants, to be approved of by the County Council.

An agreement was drafted by J. A. Walker, County Solicitor, embodying the terms agreed upon and the meeting adjourned until Friday next, when it is expected this agreement will have been prepared.

CHATHAM NEXT

A message was received by Ed. Danne yesterday morning from T. J. Doyle, who is attending the annual convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters, saying that he had secured the next annual convention for Chatham.

When he left Mr. Doyle was instructed to obtain this important convention for Chatham if possible, and those interested in the city's progress will be pleased to learn of his success. It will mean that, at least, 300 people will be in the city for several days, and they will return to their homes to scatter broadcast the name of the Maple City.

J. J. Guttard, who was a former proprietor of the Rankin Hotel here, was elected delegate to the international convention, and Mr. Montreuil of Wilkerville, was elected Chief Ranger.

POPULAR ICE CREAM PARLORS.

The old Wiggell ice cream parlors are crowded every night with many parties of young people enjoying the beverages and deliciously flavored ice cream that have made the place so popular.

James H. Rhody is in charge of the business and is giving it his personal attention, and associated with him is George McKay. A handsome circular counter, manufactured by John Eggert & Sons, of this city, has been installed for the convenience and comfort of the patrons of this popular establishment.

The latest popular summer drink, pine apple snow, has been in great demand at all the most fashionable summer resorts last year, and this, with their many other popular preparations, attract hundreds of young people every day. Private parties and public assemblies can get ice cream and fruits at lowest wholesale prices.

CHATHAM WON

The Chatham lacrosse team was successful in the game at Wallaceburg yesterday winning out by the score of 9 to 3.

The game was a good one but the Chatham bunch was too fast for the players of the glass town. The play was fairly free from roughness although one of the Wallaceburg spectators struck George Chatham player inflicting a nasty wound over the left eye.

The fresh spectators will be presented. Special praise is due a young Chatham lad named McKinley, who played between the legs for Chatham. He stopped many a hot shot. Tierney and Rose, two well known players occupied places on the Wallaceburg team.

THE MARKETS

There was a large market this morning, considering the inconvenience the farmers are put to. Spring chickens are obtaining at prices ranging from 12c to 20c. Cherries and currants have, also, made their appearance.

Following is the full price list:—

DAIRY PRODUCE.

Eggs, per dozen, 16c.

Butter, per pound, 17c to 18c.

Spring chickens, each, 12c to 20c.

VEGETABLES.

Strawberries, 12c per box, two for 25c.

Currants, per quart, 8c.

Cherries, per quart, 12c.

Parsnips, per peck, 12c.

Onions, per peck, 30c.

Potatoes, 20c to 30c per peck.

Apples, per peck, 10c to 15c.

Lettuce, 4 for 5c.

Asparagus, per bunch, 7c.

New beets, 5c a bunch.

Cabbage, each, 5c to 6c.

Onionflower, per box, 10c.

Rhubarb, per bunch, 3 for 5c.

Cabbage plants, per box, 10c.

Radishes, 2 bunches for 5c.

Green onions, per bunch, 5c.

Pork, 8c and 9c.

Beef, 5c and 6c lb.

MINIERY FULLY EXPLOITED FOR THE SEASON.

Catchy Caprices From Paris — All Hats Were With a Smart Forward Tilt—The Hair Very Much in Evidence—Pointed Toes.

Paris is at her very latest in the shape of large plateau or low crown straw hats set at an acute forward angle on a mountainous plateau of flowers or velvet loops, while for the adornment of the crown three shaded or assorted ostrich feathers stand almost upright from near the center of the crown. This is quite the most advanced model of the hour.

The extremely becoming leghorn plateau of the first cut is folded over like an omelette, a wealth of mauve

and white lilacs being encoined between the two brims. The brim is prettily lined with frill upon frill of ivory valenciennes lace, while the back is literally smothered in loops of light green ribbon velvet.

Simpler in motive and of fashionably moderate proportions is the chapeau of the second cut, a corse fancy straw, the low crown walled round by loops of velvet the same shade and the brim very lightly and artistically trailed with rose tendrils. A quite inconspicuous, impertinent little bow is perched at the right side, and the smart forward tilt accounted for by one of those high cache-peignes of dark rose.

Woman in the first sight of millinery fashion this season comes very close to the "uncovered hair." The newest and best accepted millinery leaves almost as much of the hair exposed as if without a hat at all. It calls for the most perfect hairdressing and the most abundant locks—whether art or nature is immaterial—in view of the fact that the coiffure will be very much in evidence. The hatpins and hairpins are matters of moment. The former are large and works of art, chiefly big baroque pearls or uncut amethysts or emeralds, while clear tortoise shell or dull gold looped pins catch up the hair in seemingly careless waves. Between this eminently feminine coiffure and the severe fluen collar, which is the mode with the newest shirts, there is all the piquancy of contrast.

Generally acceptable and popular in style is the pretty pointed toque of fancy straw, plain, trimmed with soft satin ribbon and velvet, loops of the latter held by an ornamental buckle.

CHATHAM NEXT

A CHARMING LEIGHON PLATINUM.

And white lilacs being encoined between the two brims. The brim is prettily lined with frill upon frill of ivory valenciennes lace, while the back is literally smothered in loops of light green ribbon velvet.

Simpler in motive and of fashionably moderate proportions is the chapeau of the second cut, a corse fancy straw, the low crown walled round by loops of velvet the same shade and the brim very lightly and artistically trailed with rose tendrils. A quite inconspicuous, impertinent little bow is perched at the right side, and the smart forward tilt accounted for by one of those high cache-peignes of dark rose.

Woman in the first sight of millinery fashion this season comes very close to the "uncovered hair." The newest and best accepted millinery leaves almost as much of the hair exposed as if without a hat at all. It calls for the most perfect hairdressing and the most abundant locks—whether art or nature is immaterial—in view of the fact that the coiffure will be very much in evidence. The hatpins and hairpins are matters of moment. The former are large and works of art, chiefly big baroque pearls or uncut amethysts or emeralds, while clear tortoise shell or dull gold looped pins catch up the hair in seemingly careless waves. Between this eminently feminine coiffure and the severe fluen collar, which is the mode with the newest shirts, there is all the piquancy of contrast.

Generally acceptable and popular in style is the pretty pointed toque of fancy straw, plain, trimmed with soft satin ribbon and velvet, loops of the latter held by an ornamental buckle.

CHATHAM NEXT

A CHARMING LEIGHON PLATINUM.

And white lilacs being encoined between the two brims. The brim is prettily lined with frill upon frill of ivory valenciennes lace, while the back is literally smothered in loops of light green ribbon velvet.

Simpler in motive and of fashionably moderate proportions is the chapeau of the second cut, a corse fancy straw, the low crown walled round by loops of velvet the same shade and the brim very lightly and artistically trailed with rose tendrils. A quite inconspicuous, impertinent little bow is perched at the right side, and the smart forward tilt accounted for by one of those high cache-peignes of dark rose.

Woman in the first sight of millinery fashion this season comes very close to the "uncovered hair." The newest and best accepted millinery leaves almost as much of the hair exposed as if without a hat at all. It calls for the most perfect hairdressing and the most abundant locks—whether art or nature is immaterial—in view of the fact that the coiffure will be very much in evidence. The hatpins and hairpins are matters of moment. The former are large and works of art, chiefly big baroque pearls or uncut amethysts or emeralds, while clear tortoise shell or dull gold looped pins catch up the hair in seemingly careless waves. Between this eminently feminine coiffure and the severe fluen collar, which is the mode with the newest shirts, there is all the piquancy of contrast.

Generally acceptable and popular in style is the pretty pointed toque of fancy straw, plain, trimmed with soft satin ribbon and velvet, loops of the latter held by an ornamental buckle.

CHATHAM NEXT

A CHARMING LEIGHON PLATINUM.

And white lilacs being encoined between the two brims. The brim is prettily lined with frill upon frill of ivory valenciennes lace, while the back is literally smothered in loops of light green ribbon velvet.

Simpler in motive and of fashionably moderate proportions is the chapeau of the second cut, a corse fancy straw, the low crown walled round by loops of velvet the same shade and the brim very lightly and artistically trailed with rose tendrils. A quite inconspicuous, impertinent little bow is perched at the right side, and the smart forward tilt accounted for by one of those high cache-peignes of dark rose.

Woman in the first sight of millinery fashion this season comes very close to the "uncovered hair." The newest and best accepted millinery leaves almost as much of the hair exposed as if without a hat at all. It calls for the most perfect hairdressing and the most abundant locks—whether art or nature is immaterial—in view of the fact that the coiffure will be very much in evidence. The hatpins and hairpins are matters of moment. The former are large and works of art, chiefly big baroque pearls or uncut amethysts or emeralds, while clear tortoise shell or dull gold looped pins catch up the hair in seemingly careless waves. Between this eminently feminine coiffure and the severe fluen collar, which is the mode with the newest shirts, there is all the piquancy of contrast.

Generally acceptable and popular in style is the pretty pointed toque of fancy straw, plain, trimmed with soft satin ribbon and velvet, loops of the latter held by an ornamental buckle.

CHATHAM NEXT

A CHARMING LEIGHON PLATINUM.

And white lilacs being encoined between the two brims. The brim is prettily lined with frill upon frill of ivory valenciennes lace, while the back is literally smothered in loops of light green ribbon velvet.

Simpler in motive and of fashionably moderate proportions is the chapeau of the second cut, a corse fancy straw, the low crown walled round by loops of velvet the same shade and the brim very lightly and artistically trailed with rose tendrils. A quite inconspicuous, impertinent little bow is perched at the right side, and the smart forward tilt accounted for by one of those high cache-peignes of dark rose.

Woman in the first sight of millinery fashion this season comes very close to the "uncovered hair." The newest and best accepted millinery leaves almost as much of the hair exposed as if without a hat at all. It calls for the most perfect hairdressing and the most abundant locks—whether art or nature is immaterial—in view of the fact that the coiffure will be very much in evidence. The hatpins and hairpins are matters of moment. The former are large and works of art, chiefly big baroque pearls or uncut amethysts or emeralds, while clear tortoise shell or dull gold looped pins catch up the hair in seemingly careless waves. Between this eminently feminine coiffure and the severe fluen collar, which is the mode with the newest shirts, there is all the piquancy of contrast.

Generally acceptable and popular in style is the pretty pointed toque of fancy straw, plain, trimmed with soft satin ribbon and velvet, loops of the latter held by an ornamental buckle.

CHATHAM NEXT

A CHARMING LEIGHON PLATINUM.

And white lilacs being encoined between the two brims. The brim is prettily lined with frill upon frill of ivory valenciennes lace, while the back is literally smothered in loops of light green ribbon velvet.

Simpler in motive and of fashionably moderate proportions is the chapeau of the second cut, a corse fancy straw, the low crown walled round by loops of velvet the same shade and the brim very lightly and artistically trailed with rose tendrils. A quite inconspicuous, impertinent little bow is perched at the right side, and the smart forward tilt accounted for by one of those high cache-peignes of dark rose.

Woman in the first sight of millinery fashion this season comes very close to the "uncovered hair." The newest and best accepted millinery leaves almost as much of the hair exposed as if without a hat at all. It calls for the most perfect hairdressing and the most abundant locks—whether art or nature is immaterial—in view of the fact that the coiffure will be very much in evidence. The hatpins and hairpins are matters of moment. The former are large and works of art, chiefly big baroque pearls or uncut amethysts or emeralds, while clear tortoise shell or dull gold looped pins catch up the hair in seemingly careless waves. Between this eminently feminine coiffure and the severe fluen collar, which is the mode with the newest shirts, there is all the piquancy of contrast.

Generally acceptable and popular in style is the pretty pointed toque of fancy straw, plain, trimmed with soft satin ribbon and velvet, loops of the latter held by an ornamental buckle.

CHATHAM NEXT

A CHARMING LEIGHON PLATINUM.

And white lilacs being encoined between the two brims. The brim is prettily lined with frill upon frill of ivory valenciennes lace, while the back is literally smothered in loops of light green ribbon velvet.

Simpler in motive and of fashionably moderate proportions is the chapeau of the second cut, a corse fancy straw, the low crown walled round by loops of velvet the same shade and the brim very lightly and artistically trailed with rose tendrils. A quite inconspicuous, impertinent little bow is perched at the right side, and the smart forward tilt accounted for by one of those high cache-peignes of dark rose.

Woman in the first sight of millinery fashion this season comes very close to the "uncovered hair." The newest and best accepted millinery leaves almost as much of the hair exposed as if without a hat at all. It calls for the most perfect hairdressing and the most abundant locks—whether art or nature is immaterial—in view of the fact that the coiffure will be very much in evidence. The hatpins and hairpins are matters of moment. The former are large and works of art, chiefly big baroque pearls or uncut amethysts or emeralds, while clear tortoise shell or dull gold looped pins catch up the hair in seemingly careless waves. Between this eminently feminine coiffure and the severe fluen collar, which is the mode with the newest shirts, there is all the piquancy of contrast.

Generally acceptable and popular in style is the pretty pointed toque of fancy straw, plain, trimmed with soft satin ribbon and velvet, loops of the latter held by an ornamental buckle.

CHATHAM NEXT

A CHARMING LEIGHON PLATINUM.

And white lilacs being encoined between the two brims. The brim is prettily lined with frill upon frill of ivory valenciennes lace, while the back is literally smothered in loops of light green ribbon velvet.

Simpler in motive and of fashionably moderate proportions is the chapeau of the second cut, a corse fancy straw, the low crown walled round by loops of velvet the same shade and the brim very lightly and artistically trailed with rose tendrils. A quite inconspicuous, impertinent little bow is perched at the right side, and the smart forward tilt accounted for by one of those high cache-peignes of dark rose.

Woman in the first sight of millinery fashion this season comes very close to the "uncovered hair." The newest and best accepted millinery leaves almost as much of the hair exposed as if without a hat at all. It calls for the most perfect hairdressing and the most abundant locks—whether art or nature is immaterial—in view of the fact that the coiffure will be very much in evidence. The hatpins and hairpins are matters of moment. The former are large and works of art, chiefly big baroque pearls or uncut amethysts or emeralds, while clear tortoise shell or dull gold looped pins catch up the hair in seemingly careless waves. Between this eminently feminine coiffure and the severe fluen collar, which is the mode with the newest shirts, there is all the piquancy of contrast.

Generally acceptable and popular in style is the pretty pointed toque of fancy straw, plain, trimmed with soft satin ribbon and velvet, loops of the latter held by an ornamental buckle.

CHATHAM NEXT

A CHARMING LEIGHON PLATINUM.

And white lilacs being encoined between the two brims. The brim is prettily lined with frill upon frill of ivory valenciennes lace, while the back is literally smothered in loops of light green ribbon velvet.

Simpler in motive and of fashionably moderate proportions is the chapeau of the second cut, a corse fancy straw, the low crown walled round by loops of velvet the same shade and the brim very lightly and artistically trailed with rose tendrils. A quite inconspicuous, impertinent little bow is perched at the right side, and the smart forward tilt accounted for by one of those high cache-peignes of dark rose.

Woman in the first sight of millinery fashion this season comes very close to the "uncovered hair." The newest and best accepted millinery leaves almost as much of the hair exposed as if without a hat at all. It calls for the most perfect hairdressing and the most abundant locks—whether art or nature is immaterial—in view of the fact that the coiffure will be very much in evidence. The hatpins and hairpins are matters of moment. The former are large and works of art, chiefly big baroque pearls or uncut amethysts or emeralds, while clear tortoise shell or dull gold looped pins catch up the hair in seemingly careless waves. Between this eminently feminine coiffure and the severe fluen collar, which is the mode with the newest shirts, there is all the piquancy of contrast.

Generally acceptable and popular in style is the pretty pointed toque of fancy straw, plain, trimmed with soft satin ribbon and