torial article on Mr. Chamberlain's resignation says that it is the bare truth when Premier Balfour declares that Mr. Chamberlain has done more than any man living or dead to bring home to the citizens of the empire a consciousness of their Imperial obligations. Mr. Chamberlain has been filled with the idea of England's historic and moral greatness, her mission in the world, and her ability to fulfill it. He has known how to impart something of his own conception to the whole British race. The article concludes:—"Even our foreign rivals, as they have shown by the persistent virulence of their attacks upon him, have shown that in him they recognize instinctively the potential builder of a free, self-contained, democratic world-empire under the British erown and the British flag, which they dread not less for its ideals than for its material strength." that Mr. Chamberlain has done more

CIVIL SERVANTS' PAY.

Sir William Mulock Proposes a General Increase.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—A new bill, of which Sir Wm. Mulock gave notice, means the application of the proposed increase in salaries to all branches of the civil service, instead of only to the deputy heads and the junior second-class clerks, as was proposed in the bill introduced some weeks ago and withdrawn recently to make way for the wider increase. The general effect is to apply the sliding scale to deputies, as well as the lower branches of the service, and to make an increase of $100 in the lower branches. The deputy who now receives a stationary salary of $2,200 will hereafter start at $3,500 and advance $100 yearly to $4,000, with $1,000 additional in the case of Deputy Ministers of Finance, Justice and Rallways. Chief clerks in the new grade "A" will commence at $2,400, instead of $2,000, and advance at $2,500, instead of $2,000. For first, second and maximum salaries are advanced $100. The old third-class clerks the minimum and maximum salaries are advanced $100. The old third-class clerkship is revived, ranging from $500 to $700. which Sir Wm. Mulock gave notice,

PORT ARTHUR TRAGEDY.

Accidental Death or Suicide of W. A. Leys.

Port Arthur, Sept. 18.-W. A. Leys, a lawyer of this town, was found dead in his office last evening. Deceased was last seen at 6 o'clock last evening at dimner at the Northern Hotel. When his room was entered the body was found on the floor with bullet wounds in the forehead. The ball had evidently passed clear through. There were two holes, as though two balls had entered. In the room was a rifle with the magazine filled with cartriages.

A revolver, with one chamber empty, was found grasped in one hand, the other lying behind his back. The bullet had entered the forehead, passed through the back of his head and upwards, entering the ce'ling back of and at an angle with the other in which he evidently had been sitting. a lawyer of this town, was found dead the chair in which he evidently had been sitting.

Having been arranging for a shooting trip, a number of Mr. Leye' friends think that the shooting was accidental, and maintain that it occurred while he was examining the rev.lver. Again, from conversations he had with friends during the afternoon preceding the shooting, it is thought that he had become insane, through fancied grievances. This is the generally accepted theory.

Mr. Leys was a nephew of Col. F. Leys, M.P., of London, and his mother and sister are living in Toronto. He had considerable interests here, and devoted his time principally to looking after such interests. An inquest will not be held.

A SPLENDID ARGUMENT.

Presentation of the Canadian Case by Sir Robert Finlay.

London, Sept. 18.—The Alaska Tribunal took their seats at II a.m. The nal took their seats at II a.m. The Attorney-General, continuing his argument on the Portland Canal, produced a volume of Vancouver's charts obtained from the London Library, which he stated to be identical with the set used yesterday, and which came from the Parliamentary library at Ottawa. He then proceeded to discuss the argument of the United States based on the Thalweg rule, which is to the effect that where national territories are divided by a river or stream having several channels the middle of the deepest channel should be taken as the boundary, and contended that this rule applied only to rivers and streams and not to an estuary such. as Portland not to an estuary such, as Portland Channel.

Channel.

Mr. Sifton and others of the Canadian party are exceedingly pleased with Attorney-General Finlay's work.

The St.James'Gazette says: "Attorney-General Finlay is in his element over the Alaskan Boundary Commission, whatever may be the conditions of his conferes. No man in the profession on or off the Bench knows his law better. He glories in the technicalities and subtleties of a big cause, such as that he is now engaged in. While he is never known to crack a joke in court, it is equally true he has never been known to miss a point."

George Woolson's Suicide.

Toronto, Sept. 18, — Geo. Woolson, the well-known proprietor of the White Window jewellery store at 186 Queen street west, preferred death to facing a charge of receiving stolen propery at the present sitting of the Court of General Sessions.
