No Bars Up.

When a young man or woman wants to strike out into business there are no obstacles in the way—no examinations to be passed—no one to say Yes or No.

All that is needed is a common school education, a clean character, and a desire to succeed.

Give us that and we can fit a young person for splendid opportunities in the business field.

We are doing it every day, and still the demand is greater than the supply. Even while we write our employment docket shows more than 10 calls for help that we are unable to fill.

A business course is certainly the easiest success proposition open to-day. Learn more about it by writing to the Central Business College of Toronto, W. H. Shaw, Principal.
