ENORMOUS FOOD LOSSES ALREADY FACE GERMANY

Prices Go Up Fast and Cost of Living Has Doubled in Berlin

HARVEST IS RUINED

Owing to Lack of Reapers—
Nine Million Men Are Under Arms

London, Aug. 14.—Ordinary people suffer in London. In Berlin they suffer more. When the full levy of all between the ages of twenty and fifty years is complete, it is estimated that about nine million Germans will be at war or ready.

Prices are rushing up fast. The Government has tried to fix the price of rye, wheat flour, maize and salt, but still the cost of living has doubled. The families of the reservists have to live somehow. The Government has issued forms under which stricken wives may apply for an allowance with something extra for every child under fourteen years old, but it is a hard pinch. The Government has also issued regulations for the billeting of soldiers in private houses, the payment ranging from $1.75 for lodging of officers, down to 25 cents for soldiers. But this is little against the expense of the trouble.

Enormous Food Loss.

Then there is the harvest. It is ripe, a good deal is cut and bound in sheaves. Bands of students and schoolboys have volunteered to gather it in. Women toil day and night in the fields. But still the loss of food is incalculable.

PATRIOTISM RULING SPIRIT OF ALL BELGIUM

All Classes Volunteering for Active Service in the Field

EVEN THE WOUNDED

Will Scarcely Wait for Hurts to Heal Before Rejoining Forces

Brussels, Aug. 14.—The populace has adapted itself readily to the system of government under martial law which has facilitated the maintenance of order and has helped the authorities to discover and arrest numerous persons suspected of acting as German spies.

Troops Are Spirited.

Patriotic enthusiasm reigns among all classes and thousands of volunteers have joined the young recruits called to the colors to assist in the national defence. All the troops sent to the front have displayed excellent spirit while many of the soldiers wounded at Liege have asked to be sent to rejoin their regiments as soon as their wounds have been healed.

Confidence that the final outcome of the war will be victory for the Belgians is general here.

German Socialists Quit.

A German officer and a number of German soldiers, who surrendered to the Belgians at Liege, declared they had done so because they were Socialists.

They condemned the war as unjust.

Over Two Million Men Engaged, Beside Reserves Forming the Rear

London, Aug. 16.—The Times' military expert judges from the various countries' data that the bulk of the great German armies to operate against France is located northward of Lorraine. His opinion is that twenty army corps are ready to advance, including the 14th Austrian corps, which, according to reports, have reached Loerach, and three German corps which at present have not been located. Their general disposition, however, is quite clear. With the Austrians in Loerach and in Alsace is the 15th German corps.

The 21st German corps is between Metz and Saarburg, and all the others are northward from the line between Saarbruck, Thionville and Montargis, showing that an advance through the Belgian Ardennes is intended. Six German corps are on the Russian frontier.

The figures of the German combatant strength in the west are given as 783,000 infantry, 65,000 cavalry, 4,416 guns and 1,488 machine guns, making a first line strength, disregarding the reserves forming the rear, of approximately one million. France and her allies outnumber these, and there is no reason why they should not at least arrest the German offensive movement, in which case the German plan of campaign will collapse.

The expert thinks the chief danger is lest von Emmich's army and its supporting corps of cavalry should overwhelm the Belgian field army. He sees a multitude of disadvantages in the German plan, but thinks they all are atoned for by the fact that the mass of the army is able to act together in any direction. It is assumed that the Germans hope to outflank the French on the north and give them a knock-out blow, following with a relentless and shattering pursuit, but he is confident that the French can prevent them.

The Times' expert foresees that it will be the most frightfully destructive collision in modern history.
