The Bachelor-Do you dress to please the men? The Married Man-No, to impoverish hem.-New York World.

The Truth, the Whole Truth. A worthy squire had a cow that always kicked and reared when milked He decided to get rid of it and, calling one of his farm hands, told him to take he animal to market.

"Sell the brute," he said, "but, mind you, tell no lies. I've been unlucky in ny purchase, but that's no reason why I should deceive others." Two hours later the man returned from market with a larger sum than the squire had expected. "I'm sure you lied about that cow," he said. "Not a bit of it," replied the man "Every time I was asked if she was a good milker I simply said, 'You'll get dead tired of milking before you've got all her milk.' A RAZOR'S EDGE.

Results That Come From Stropping and Long Use. .

Very thin is the edge of a razor blade. Its thickness has been estimated at about one half millionth of an inch. A writer says of this wonderfully thin bit of steel, when seen under a powerful microscope: "The extreme edge of the section is distinctly bent to one side. This is nearly always seen in razor edges. The actual bend represents the effect of the last stroke on the strop which this blade has received. Now, this bending of the metal quite near the edge, minute as it is, has some very important practical consequences If the razor be us 1 in such a way that the bend is toward the skin there will be a tendenc; for the edge itself to burrow downwas: into the skin, instead of sliding easily over the surface and merely cutting away the projecting hairs. If, on the other hand, the blade be applied to the face in such way that the bend of the edge is awa; from the skin the edge will slide much more smoothly, with less tendency to cut or scratch the skin, while it will act upon the hairs in a slightly upward direction and thus tend to pull them tight while cutting. The direction of the bend of the edge can be regulated by the last few strokes on the strop. "This minute amount of bending un dergone by the metal near the edge o a razor blade has another practical result. We all know that a piece of wire which will quite easily stand being bent double will be broken if it be bent backward and forward many times. What really takes place is that the netal, which was strong and ductile to begin with, is gradually made hard and brittle and then finally breaks off. Now, the metal near the edge of a razor is being subjected to very similar treatment. Every turn on the strop reverses the direction of the bend near the edge, and, although the amount of bending is too slight ever to bring about actual breakage of such an elastic metal as hardened steel, it is yet sufficient to bring about a change in the metal which renders it less elastic and able to stand the strain. This is why a razor which has been used long ceases to cut well or to hold a good edge.

"Now it has been discovered that steel which has lost its proper elastic qualities by such a process of 'fatigue.' as it is called, is capable of recovering its good qualities under favorable cirastances. It will recover in this way if left at rest, though this is a comparatively slow process, which explains the fact that a tool which has become useless through continued use will be as good as ever after a prolonged rest. But recovery will take place much more rapidly if the steel be warmed, so that a few minutes' exposure to the temperature of boiling wa-ter will bring about recovery to an extent that would have required several days' rest at the ordinary tempera tures. This fact explains the advantage to be derived from the familiar prac ice of 'steaming' a razor before use." Don't Starve Your Bird It is a common mistake to think that pets can only be taught when hungry and to commence a bird's training by depriving it of breakfast, dinner or supper is a most unhappy beginning In reality the feathered folk are just as apt and full of fun after a comfortable meal as before it, and to starve, scold or otherwise ill treat the little creature will usually render it too un-happy to learn quickly if at all. Birds are extremely nervous beings. They love a low, quiet voice and gentle movements-love to be talked to, coaxed and made much of. If the net is a new one and seems specially excitable or timid, you will have to teach it first of all not to fear you. Any little games e is to learn must be a ward.-Mary Dawson in St. Nicholas. A Singer's Lungs. The singer at the end of the practice aria panted heavily. "I sang 196 notes that time," he said, without once taking breath." "Indeed. That must be a record."

"No. The record is held by Courtice Pounds. Pounds sang 316 notes without respiration in 1898. The record previous to that was held by Farinelli, with 300 notes. Norman Salmond has sung 287 notes in this way. "It is wonderful what lungs trained singers have. The average man could hardly sing fifty notes without breathing, whereas to the singer 200 would be nothing." Nome Means Home. It is said that the name of Nome was the result of an error made by some Englishman in writing a letter. He evidently intended to write the word "home," but the makers of the maps read it Nome, and thus the name Nome belongs to history and the great district of Alaska. Some authorities claim that the word Nome is a corruption of the Indian phrase or word Knoma, meaning something like "I know it." Happiness. If you cannot be happy in one way, in another, and this facility of disosition wants but little aid from philosophy, for health and good humor are almost the whole affair. Many run about after felicity, like an absentminded man hunting for his hat while t is in his hand or on his head.

Martyrdom. "Sympathetic people have a hard time in this world." 'In what way?'

"They have to listen to other peoorde's troubles and never get a chance to tell their own."

A Land of Contrasts

Just now China is a land of contrasts so wide, so sharp and so forcible that the dullest observer can hardly fail to observe them. She is going straight wheelbarrows and springless carts, or sedan chairs, to express trains; in place of special messengers she adopts the telegraph; from rush lights she goes to electricity, and from the extreme of antimilitarism she is develop-ing a taste for patriotic volunteering.— Shanghai Celestial Empire

Chirography's Flaws. Alfred Binet, director of the psycho logical laboratory at the Sor Paris, has been investigating the value of handwriting experts. An expert who was given a specimen of Ernest Renan's chirography said the writer was a person of only moderate intelli gence, credulous and garrulous. Vital, a criminal who murdered several won en with revolting barbarity, appeared to another expert as "a timid girl, dis-tinguished by moderation."

An Invigorating Drink. "Pusky" is a new soda water foun-tain drink at Eufala, Okla. Pusky was invented by the Creek Indians. that is just hard enough to shell is heated in a pot until it is brown. Then it is broken in a mortar into a fine powder: "Mixed with sweet milk or with carbonated water and sirups, pusky," says an enthusiastic local paper, "is a drink that makes a man carry his wife around in his arms just for the exercise."

A Cat With Wings.
The boatswain of the Caspian, an English schooner, brought with him from India on a recent trip a strange animal-bird, which he always referred to as his "Tabby." It certainly looked more like a cat than anything else, but t was probably some freak of the animal world. It had two pairs of wings, but could fly only with difficulty, like
