Ideal Favorite

A range that cannot be beaten for right down good service. You can save money on two of these we have in stock. They have become slightly marked through having other goods piled on them. That makes them below our standard so we give you the opportunity to buy them cheap.

Remember this is one of the most handsome ranges made and one that we fully guarantee and the principle damage is through the enamel being scraped off the reservoir cover.

You can save $4.00 on each one.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

At the Briscoe Opera House—John Griffith—Oct. 11.
On the Bridge at Midnight—Oct.
13.

"KING RICHARD THE THIRD."

There are three very eminent actors on tour this season in Shakespeare's great tragedy, "Richard the Third." They are John Griffith, Robert Mansfield, and Robert Mantell.
They vary some in their individual interpretations, but the version that Mr. Griffith uses is that of Colley Cibber, which is by all odds the most satisfying for modern representation.
It added greatly to the glory of the greatest tragedians of the past, and serves Mr. Griffith's purposes most admirably. He fairly revels in the character, playing it with the greatest animation and effect, fairly compelling his audience to bursts of enthusiasm. Mr. Griffith's support this season is unusually good, and his equipment covers all the requirements that are needed for a thoroughly first-class attraction. His engagement in this city has been arranged for to-night.

The great scenic production, "On the Bridge at Midnight," which is coming to the Briscoe Theatre Saturday night, has other remarkable scenes besides the celebrated reproduction of the jack-knife bridge over the Chicago River. Every act has a most interesting setting and is a fitting complement for a most interesting story in which the love and devotion of a blind mother and a stolen child play important parts. For years the mother searches and is about to yield to adversity when she is unexpectedly successful. An exceptionally strong company have been provided, and the management's well known reputation as a producer has made "On the Bridge at Midnight" one of the best attractions out this season.
