THE WHALE.

The other day I saw a whale, the first my old eyes ever viewed; it troloked on the water pale, and made me think I must be stewed. For I was gazing out to sea, my mind concerned with fancies light, a book of verse open, my feet not prepared for such a sight. It seemed a ray and happy fish, optimistic whale, and made the so kerawish, when'er it flap about tall. An ancient seaman side looked on, with trouble on his brow: "The whales are getting scarce," he cried, "we do not often see them now. The whale you see may be the last, where countless thousands used to lurk; they're killing off the poor things fast—Machinery now does the work. The risky life seemed good to me when I fought whales, in bygone years, but now they butcher whales at sea as K. C. packers butcher steers. The good old monsters of the deep don't have a chance to keep their goats; the harvesters go forth to reap the whales as farmers harvest oats. They used to haunt this sunny coast, you'd see them any winter day; but they have yielded up the ghost, they're killed and canned and shipped away. And still the whale seemed void of care, from every dread and trouble free; it stood on end and leaped in air, and gambled in a silver sea.

Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review.)

Codfish.—The exports of dried codfish this week totalled 27,073 quintals, viz: 10,866 from St. John's by various exporters to New York; by the S.S. Sachem, and 16,207 quintals by the S.S. Norheimund to Gibraltar from Harbor Grace, Carbonear and Bay Roberts, from W. A. Munn and others. There is still an over supply in Oporto and Mediterranean markets, but conditions are likely to improve next month. There is only about the same quantity of fish held in St. John's today as is held the 1st of April in normal years.

Cod Oil.—The exports this week were 27,589 gallons, viz: 15,979 by the S.S. Digby to Boston, and 11,610 by the S.S. Sachem to Liverpool. The markets on both sides of the Atlantic are still dull. There is very little now left in Newfoundland of 1921 oil, and no new product will be available for five months.

Cod Liver Oil.—The prospect is slightly improved and the United States demand shows signs of revival. It is realized that the visible supply of Cod Liver Oil in the primary markets is far below normal, and higher prices are looked for. Norwegian sold last week in New York for $23 per barrel. The same oil was $18 to $19 a month ago.

Flour.—The market took a strong turn in the first part of the week, and wheat advanced steadily in New York and Canada Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, making flour 30 cents additional per barrel from the low point at New Year. Since Thursday there was a slight reaction and the advance would appear to be only a temporary flurry caused artificially by speculations. The imports this week were 4,888 barrels and the quotation is still $9.60 to $9.70 for leading brands, wholesale.

Beef.—The beef market continues easy at the old prices, with no indications of any drastic change. There is an over supply at the packing houses, and the export trade to the European countries is so moderate in comparison with the supply, and will continue so all the winter, that prices are likely to continue for several months at the present low levels, viz: $25.00 for Bos. Plank; $20.00 for Bos. Packet; $21.00 Family, and $21.50 Boneless per barrel, wholesale. The week's importations were 794 barrels, including the "Rosamund" consignments.

Pork.—The market indications this week are for firmness and higher prices. The importations were 805 barrels viz: 215 by the S.S. Sachem and 590 by S.S. Rosamund from New York. Trade in pork is very dull as is usual at this time of the year, but it is intensified by the general trade depression. Mess Pork is quoted here at $29.00; Fat Back $28.50; Boston Butt $30.00; Ham Butt $31.00; Family Mess $45.00, and Spare Ribs $25.00 per barrel, wholesale.

Molasses.—By the last S.S. Sachem 23 puncheons and 15 barrels were imported from Halifax. The schooner "Czarina" will also be due in a few days with 500 puncheons, which will fill the depletion in local stocks, and afford sufficient after supplying the dealers to fill requirements till the new molasses arrives. The local prices are unchanged, viz: Fancy 80 cents per gallon, and Grocery 83 cents, wholesale. Tierces, Fancy, are three cents and barrels five cents additional.

Sugar.—The imports by the S.S. Maplelawn this week were 875 barrels, 300 cases, 50 bags, and 50 boxes, and 480 barrels by the S.S. Rosamund. There was a sudden upward change in the market the end of last week, which means 40 to 50 cents per 100 lbs. on white American granulated. Brisk buying started as a result. Whilst most dealers have believed that the market has seen its lowest point for the season, there are a few who say that this is only a temporary flurry and that values will go back again. The local quotation has gone from $9.90 to $10.30 per 100 lbs.

Potatoes.—The recent spurt of cold weather has cut down the receipts of potatoes, and the new stocks held at New Year have been considerably diminished. The market is better from the holders' standpoint, and selected stocks of home-grown can command $4.00 a barrel, but these are rare, as the farmers do not want to open their cellars. There were none imported.

the past week, and P.E.I. and Nova Scotia are selling at $3.00 to $4.00 per sack of 140 lbs.

Onions.—The price of onions which was $5.00 per sack last July, advanced by gradual steps to the present high figure of $14.00 per sack of 100 lbs. They have once more become a wartime luxury. This is chiefly owing to the partial failure of the crop in Texas and other Southern States. Further advances are likely as the Spanish Onions which come here via Liverpool now control the market.

Hay.—The imports the past week were 1,344 bales by the S.S. Maplelawn from Halifax, and 202 bales by the S.S. Rosamund. Prices are stronger at home and abroad. The New York market is $1.00 per ton higher this week. No. 2 Timothy being quoted at $28.00 to $29.00 per ton from the cars. The Montreal market is quiet and steady, with car lot sales of No. 2 Timothy at $27.00 to $28.00 per ton ex-track, which is equivalent to $52.00 to $53.00 in the St. John's Nfld. market. These quotations may grow stronger in the spring.

Oats.—The importations were quite heavy this week by the S.S. Sabie 1,236 tons, and by the S.S. Maplelawn 2,996 sacks, total 5,261. This supply came at an opportune time, when stocks were getting low. A declining market all the season kept orders at normal size from going forward. Now, however it is believed that the low point has been passed. The local quotations are $3.80 to $3.90 per sack for White and $3.70 to $3.90 for mixed.

Curriculum

OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING COLLEGE.

In an interview to-day, Mr. Southgate stated that there will be an elementary as well as an advanced class in Electrical Engineering. The elementary course will embrace the following subjects:—Principles of Electricity and Magnetism, Ohm's Law, and simple Electrical Calculations, measurement of resistance by means of Wheatstone's Bridge, Direct Current Dynamos and Motors, Storage Batteries, and Induction Coils. The advanced classes will include Modern Direct Current Dynamos and Motors, Voltage regulating devices, Single Two and Three Phase Alternating Current Generators, Induction and synchronous motors, Transformers, and high voltage transmission and distribution systems. There will also be a special class for telephone and telegraph electricians. A large amount of Electrical Equipment will be installed, including a 5 h.p. Induction Motor driving a 2 K.W. D.C. Generator, a 2200-volt power transformer, a Wheatstone Bridge for the measurement of resistances, a Tungar Rectifier, for changing A.C. to D.C., as well as voltmeters, ammeters, and Watt-hour Meters. The Avalon Telephone Co. is also loaning the college a quantity of telephone equipment for instructional purposes. Now that the Wireless Mast has been erected classes will also be commenced in Wireless Telephony. This college will enable our young men, who heretofore have had to go to Halifax or Montreal for electrical training, to obtain a thorough knowledge of electrical apparatus right in our city, and we hope that all the electrical firms will cooperate with Mr. Southgate in making this college a permanent establishment here.

"Captain" Horatio Nelson.

In 1793 Enrope was horrified by the news that the French had beheaded their king and queen, and had promised assistance to those peoples and countries wishing to be free. This was a direct challenge to all forms of law and order, and was a threat to the loyal people of Britain, who were wisely and kindly governed, and had no wish for any change. The country had need of her seamen and on Jan. 30 Nelson, the greatest seaman that the world has ever known, got what he had always wished for, namely, the command of a battleship, the "Agamemnon," of 64 guns. Although quite a young man, Nelson had already become known as a brave and kind captain to serve under and a fresh proof of his popularity was given on his taking up his new appointment. From his native country, Norfolk, sailors flocked in numbers to his flag, and captains whose ships were filled by the aid of the hated press-gang, looked with envy at the ease with which the "Agamemnon" secured a crew. Nor were friends of Nelson's own rank lacking; for besides his stepson, Josiah Nisbet, who went with him, many of his neighbours, the Norfolk squire, were glad to let their sons serve under him. Needless to say, Captain Nelson proved his capacity, and daring against the French. In the following year also, at the siege of Calvi, he greatly distinguished himself, but he lost the sight of his right eye in the action. In 1797 he lost his right arm; yet, in spite of these injuries, he achieved several other victories and eventually became a national hero by winning the Battle of Trafalgar in 1805. Indeed, he left a name which is our pride, and an example which will continue to be our shield and strength for generations to come.
