PARISH HOUSE

Unseen Hands Rip Up Bedclothes, Break Up Furniture, Three Large Business Blocks and Rattle Dishes

Alarm Clock Hurled Downstairs by "Strange Phenomena" Freight is Moving at the Rate of 5,000 Cars Per Week; Town as Yet Unexplained

South Hanover, Mass., Aug 5 .-Shosts-violent ghosts have driven from the parish house of the Church of the Sacred Heart, the Rev. Father Chas. F. Donoghue and his household. According to his own story, furniture has been dashed about and broken apparently without any plausible ex-planation. Unseen hands have ripped bed clothes and played havoc crockery and glassware. Father Donoghue today said he would not attempt to explain the "strange phenomena."

"I cannot account for it all" he asserted. "For two weeks and longer, the strangest things have been going on in the house and Miss O'Connell, my housekeeper, is in such a state that she cannot remain in the place. I realize how it sounds, but it is true nevertheless, that I have seen pieces of furniture dashed to the floor and broken with no possible explanation at hand. It is all very mysterious.

"Why, a few nights ago, I was com pelled to sleep on a cot just outside the room where Miss O'Connell and Mrs. A. E. Hoban and her daughter ness blocks, the cost of which will aggregate over $80,000. This is an evidence of concrete advancement, and that is the only kind of advancement terrified by their furniture being dashed about the room in the dead of night. I had placed my alarm clock on a stand nearby and barely crept into bed when the clock was hurled doin' ennythin' bad in th' old days.
