FITZ AT BAY.

Muldoon, the wrestler, gives his opinion of Fitzsimmons. Muldoon says, among other things: "I visited Fitznons at his training quarters yesterday to see him go through all of his work. He began by punching the bag. In an instant his eyes snapped and brightened, It was a revelation the difference between Fitz's serious work and Fitz with nothing particular on his mind. I am inclined to believe that he has been in training so long that he has been in training so long that it requires exercise to stimulate him to look what he really is—the most marvelous piece of physical development that I ever saw in action. His bag punching was more vigorous and more difficult tricks than I noticed during Corbett's performance. It was easy to see that his more powerful casy to see that his more powerful plays are his short arm hooks, jolts and pushes. While his movements have not the same grace and precision as Corbett's, they seem to pos sess more vigorousness and appear to the equalty as quick, both as to foot swork and to hand work. Like Corbett, the seems to be a tireless worker, and needs no urging or any kind. I should say that his ds about 162 pounds, and that Corbett is at least 15 pounds heavier than Fitz. There is one thing to say about the physical condition of both the contestants, and that is they are both fit to make the best fight of their lives, and can only say that it will be a battle of good judgment, and the one that first commits a serious error will be pretty sure to get second place.

JOHN L. IS THERE. The train bearing John L. Sullivan and party of 200, picked up en route, arrived last evening. The Southern arrived last evening. The Southern Pacific excursions and Harry Corbett's two specials from Virginia City turned in a crowd of 200 Cornish miners vesterday morning, and 500 more are expected on the local.

In an interview, ex-Champion Sullivan said: "Corbett was a sure win-ner of the coming fight."

THE MEN'S CONDITION. Fitz's right wrist, which he sprained has favored in his training, is as sound as ever. Bob tried it yesterday morning in the most severe manner with-

Corbett is absolutely without blem-ish. His hands, usually tender, are as hard as nails, and there is not a sore tendon or aching joint in his body. He never received a scratch while training, and was fortunate in voiding colds and chills.

The Australian seemed a trifle careless in exposing himself, and did not hesitate to go out. He is more rug-

BETTING. New York, March 17.—Since the bet-ting began Corbett has been the favite, and a majority of the wagers in this city have been made at the rate of 5 to 4 on Corbett. There is an abundance of Corbett money in sight, but those who favor Jim's chances and are willing to back their opinion, were not inclined to better odds than 10 to 8. Fitzsimmon's backers seemed to be looking for better odds all along the line, and wanted $10 put up for every $7 of their money.

A London cable says there is very little betting in sporting or other circles on the fight between Corbett and Fitzsimmons, and what few wagers have been made have chiefly been at even money. One offer of £200 even on veteran pugilist's trainer and second, Jack Baldock, says: "I think Fitzsimmons will win, but it is foolish to underrate Corbett."

He did not work after eating, remaining in the open air, bareheaded, Julian and his assistants, and playing gently with Yarrum, his dog. The con-ference with his trainers and helpers was not long, as all the needed advice as to fighting Corbett and meeting his known or possible methods of attack, had been given during the progress of Fitzsimmons' work. Not much preparation was necessary for the start to the arena. Fitz put on his cap and was ready. He wore over his fighting costume of green tights and colors a

"I'll expect to hear good news from you." "You will," replied Fitzsimmons.
The little party left the ranch in ample ime to make the journey of three miles, driving leisurely. Fitz was in excellent spirits, and really in good humor, and his confidence seemed to be so great that there was no need for encouragement from his com-panions.
