WEEKLY REVIEW. On account of the bad condition of the roads leading to the city, which prevented roads leading to the city, which prevented many farmers from anarketing their produce, the markets held here during the past six days were small in comparison with what they would have been had the roads been in better shape. The amount of business transacted was the smallest in several weeks. At present the demand is brisk for all the offerings. The feature that pleases the farmers is the fact that prices are higher in nearly every line.

Grain—While the supply of oats form the bulk of the offerings in this line, not nearly enough are offered to meet the demand; prices are higher, at $118 to $102 per cwt. Very little wheat is offered; sales are pade at $106 per bu. Hay and Straw—The deliveries of hay during the week were small, amountduring the week were small, amounting to only 43 loads; as a consequence prices are 50c to $1 per ton higher than

and the quality is not of the best; chickens are the principal fowl offered; sales are made at 80c to $125 per pair for dressed, and 65c to 90c for live chickens; few turkeys are offered; the demand is limited, at 14c to 15c per lb, dressed, and 12c per lb alive; there is next to pathing 2c per lb alive; there is next to nothing doing in ducks or geese.

Dressed Hogs—The supply is getting smaller, and, no doubt, will continue so smaller, and, no doubt, will continue so as the warm weather approaches; sales are brisk, at $7.75 per cwt for nearly all Norfolk & Western. 854 e Hogs-The price paid here last Monday was $5 75 per cwt; it is expected that $6 per cwt will be paid for next Monday's shipment; small pigs are offered at $5 per pair fered at $5 per pair.

Potatoes—The supply is on the small side; sales are moderately brisk, at 80c and 85c per bag, mostly at $0c.

Apples—The demand is slow, at $125 per barrel for the best kinds; occasionally $1,50 so obtained; by the best $25. is obtained; by the bag 35c to 50c is the ruling price.
Butchers' Meats—Sales are slow for beef, which sells at $550 to $7 per cwt by the carcase; only the choicest brings the latter figure; veal sells at $750 and $8 per cwt for fairly good; mutton, $6 to $8 per cwt; lamb, 11c to 11½c per lb; pork sells at 9c per lb for hindquarters and $c for forequarters

STOCK MARKETS.

H. C. Becher, stock broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & New York, March 22 .- Noon .- Further liquidation by commission houses, and an absence of support from London and from local banking houses, resulted in a heavy market during the first hour, producing declines ranging up to 1 per cent. The selling movement seemed to be concentrated in Union Pacific which sold down to 129 7-8. The lowest price reached for some time. Moreover, traders became somewhat enthusiastic on the short side, and when they started covering it was disclosed that the liquidation had run its course, and that comparatively a few stocks were offered. New Central rallied with especial ease, it being the opinion of close observers of this stock, that it is being quietly and carefully absorbed on a scale down. The feature of the industrials was the sale of 25,000 shares of A. C. P. by a house which is closely identified with one of the inside inter-The market is mainly professional, commission houses being still inclined to advise caution. Sales to

DEATH OF MRS. PETER DUFFUS. The death occurred last night at Pontiac Mich., of Mrs. Peter Duffus. She was born in London 53 years ago, and was the second daughter of the late John Purdom, of this city. She resided with her husband for some years at Thamesville, and at Detroit, and latterly at Pontiac, where Mr. Duffus was engaged in the lumber business. She leaves her husband and one sister, Mrs. (Dr.) Hicks, to mourn her decease. The remains will briught to London for interment in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The funeral takes place on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

MYSTIFIED. A number of the members of the faculty and the senior and junior classes of the London Medical College visited the London Vaudeville The-ater today, where several tests were given by Miss Abbott, the Georgia magnet. Miss Abbott lifted five men, at once, and performed other wonderful feats. She also stood on the loor and nearly forty men tried to lift her, one at a time, but she resisted them all save one. This latter, a wellknown local physician, succeeded in lifting her from the floor, but it is said that Miss Abbott is ill today, and she was exhausted by the great strain of so many tests this week.

sight when it gradually toppled and then came down headlong.

John Hayman & Sons, contractors, have been at work demolishing the roundhouse for the past few months. By this morning nothing was left but the monster chimney, towering high above a scene of desolation. The old roundhouse was built in the early fifties, when the Great Western Railway extended its line through this city. The chimney, which was one of the biggest in the city, stood at the west end, near the machine shop. This morning the tall pile of masonry stood in vivid contrast to the thousands upon thousands of bricks, scatroundhouse for the past few months. ands upon thousands of bricks, scattered over several acres of land at its base, like the last of an overthrown rice of giants. The work of laying the giant low was naturally very the giant low was naturally very ticklish and involved long and careful preparation. The southeast and northeast corners of the base were removed and heavy wooden props were inserted. Then the bricks were gradually removed from around the props until the weight of the great chimney began to press upon the props. Then two long pieces of timber, pivoted in the middle were arranged so that their ends touched the props. The Last of the Old Grand so that their ends touched the props.

Long ropes were tied to the outer end of these timbers, so arranged that workmen 50 feet away from the chimney could pull the timbers around on the pivots and knock the props out. Real Estate Association Ask for 20-Mill Tax Rate

Think the Council Can Strike It asked in the estimates. There would be nothing left to light the city, to Without Difficulty - A Glance at Civic Finances.

The prospects of a high tax rate this year are beginning to be taken seriously by local business and real estate owners, and it is likely that in deference to public opinion, the aldermen will feel called upon to pare the estimates ruthlessly when the next meeting of the finance committee is held. The Real Estate Association has taken up the matter in earnest, and tolay a copy of a resolution passed by that body was received by the mayor. The resolution states that in view of the fact that the city's assessment has been increased by a million dollars, and that South London must pay the full tax rate this year, the association sees no reason why a substantial relution also points out, is a very poor it industrially. Consequently, the association feels warranted in calling upon this year. To those who know the state of the city's finances, it is patent, however,

that a 20-mill rate

clean the streets, to run the fire departments and so on. Or if the council struck a 20-mill rate and appropriated moneys for the purposes named it would be practically repudiating its It is an absolute impossibility to name a tax rate and then keep within the mark. The city's uncontrollable expenditure for interest and sinking funds on its debt amounts to about 10 mills on the dollar; the Collegiate Institute and schools constitute another uncontrollable expenditure annually of about 7 mills; and city hall salaries, fire department salaries, and so on, mean another 3 mills. And the council of 1905 must also provide for nearly another mill of an overdraft and neglected business for the council of 1904. Thus it is seen that at a 23-mill rate this year's council will have but a couple of mills to spend on the gen eral maintenance of the city. The fact of the matter is the city is mortgaged so heavily, and the other uncontrollable expenditure is so great, that the council as a rule has not a great deal of money to spend as it sees fit. The mayor and Ald. Stevely have been determined to do everything possible to keep the rate at 23 mills, and his worship will ask the hospital trust to cut its figures this year as it is asking $3,000 more than a year ago. All the other bodies will also be approached and will be asked to reduce the city could not do any more than their estimates if at all possible. Nothpay its obligations, and hand over to ing will be done toward striking the the different civid bodies the sums | rate until next week.

That body concluded that a grave mistake had been made when the city was allowed to place the smallpox utensils on county property, and the city was notified forthwith to remove the goods.

The board of health took the matter up but it allowed the time to expire in which the goods were to be removed. This appears to have irritated the county officials, for today County Commissioner Talbot called upon Dr. English and in emphatic language in formed him that if the tents and furniture are not removed by Saturday next he will move the goods together with the building, in which they are stored, onto King street.
