Sarnia Commission Appoints Committee To Report On Project.
[Special To The Advertiser.]
SARNIA, July 15.—The Sarnia Hydro-Electric Commission at a meeting this afternoon appointed a committee consisting of James S. Crawford, W. H.
Kearney and J. E. B. Phelps to investigate the possibilities of the sale of power to the St. Clair Tunnel Company.
Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario commission, and other officials will be interviewed and a report presented at a subsequent meeting of the board.
"No doubt you have learned from the press that the export of hydro power to the city of Detroit is being considered," said Chairman Crawford in introducing this subject, "and with power available in the near future, I think a special committee should be appointed to interview Sir Adam Beck and get his co-operation in this move, and, if necessary, we can go to the chairman of the railway commission, now that the roads are under Government control."

Attack.
[Special To The Advertiser.]
DETROIT, July 15.—With 25 separate and distinct wounds in her body, some of them two inches deep, Miss Hazel Atkinson, 22 years old, was taken to the receiving hospital today as a result of an attack made upon her by a ferocious bulldog at her boarding house, 906 Euclid avenue.
The young woman had gone into the cellar and was about to open one of her trunks when the bulldog jumped at her. With one leap the infuriated animal knocked the girl down and sank its teeth into her neck. The girl's screams alarmed those in the upper part of the house and they rushed to her assistance, but were unable to beat the dog off until he had bitten her all over the body. The animal is not said to be suffering with rabies.

HERE'S THE LAST WORD ON VAMPIRING.
All the accepted rules for plain and fancy "vamping," as practiced for the screen, will be revised if Alice Lake has her way.
For Alice is convinced that no man in real life ever would be won if the girl depended on the bag of tricks revealed by some screen "vamps," as known to the patrons of picture theatres. And, to show the newer methods of approach, she is practicing her theories on Jack Dougherty, her red-haired leading man in the newest starring vehicle, "The Greater Claim," showing at Loew's Theatre Thursday next.

Miss Lake here appears in the role of a chorus girl who wins the son of a wealthy family. But her methods of winning the affections of the man of her choice are so different that Alice thinks she can teach the famous vampires of the stage something in their own fields of endeavor.
"Who ever heard of a man being won in real life by the slinking, stant-eyed methods of the professional picture vampire?" asked Alice. "I can't imagine what sort of a man would permit himself to be led from the straight and narrow path by a woman who cursues him in the air, twines herself about her victim and makes hypnotic eyes at him."

AT ALLEN'S.
"PAYING THE PIPER" AT THE
ALLEN MONDAY, TUESDAY, WED-NESDAY NEXT WEEK.
Money versus the finer qualities of love and human nature furnish the motif of the George Fitzmaurice production "Paying the Piper," which will be the feature attraction at the Allen Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. The story deals with the idle rich—the cigarette-smoking, caviare-loving class of New York—and the chief character is Barbara Wyndham, by Dorothy Dickson, who makes her screen debut in this picture. Dorothy is married to an idle rich young man, but there is little love in the union until their wealth is swept away by a crash in Wall Street. They are forced to take a humble home much to the indignation of Barbara, who makes an effort to plunge again in the gaiety of her old life and suffers a bitter experience which brings her to the full realization that money means but little and that the big things of life are what really count.

In addition to "Paying the Piper," a "Snub" Pollard comedy, "High Rollers," Allen World News, Chester Outing Pictures and a musical program will also be given.
THOMAS MEIGHAN IN "CIVILIAN CLOTHES," FEATURE ATTRAC-TION AT THE ALLEN LAST SAT-URDAY NEXT WEEK.
Becoming a butler in one's own household in order to cure one's wife of snobbishness is going pretty far, but it works out effectively and resulted in much good humor in Thomas Meighan's new starring vehicle, "Civilian Clothes," which will be the feature attraction at the Allen Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. "Civilian Clothes" is the story of an American army captain who marries a young society girl in France. She is in love with the man who wears it. Consequently when, after she has believed him killed in action, he returns to America and calls upon her in ill-fitting clothes, she cannot conceal her disgust for him. Thereupon he sets out to teach her a much-needed lesson, and succeeds in his former hopes.

Martha Mansfield is charming as the heroine.

Among the added attractions will be shown the third episode of "The Hope Diamond Mystery." "The Forged Note," Allen World News; another of those famous mermaid comedies, featuring the king of funmakers, Lloyd (Ham) Hamilton, entitled "Simp."

AT LOEW'S.
NEW PRODUCTION, "A MESSAGE FROM MARS," CONTAINS MORE THAN 300 DOUBLE EXPOSURES.
More than three hundred double exposures, a record number in the production of any motion picture, were made in "A Message From Mars." Bert Ly-tell's production, which will be the feature attraction at Loew's Theatre, beginning Monday.

The setting of a record of this sort came from no premeditation on the part of the director of the picture, Maxwell Karger, but was occasioned by the peculiar character of the story itself.
The story relates the happenings of one Horace Parker, a selfish young scientist who is visited in a dream by a messenger from the planet Mars.

The fantastic order of this theme made necessary the employment of some trick photography that would render it convincing, and after mature deliberation and consultation with Mr. Lytell, the star, Maxwell Karger, who is personally directing the picture, decided that the double exposure would need to be employed in order to present the Martian messenger in a transparent form.

The story of the play treats of the conversion of Parker by the messenger from Mars through the latter's taking him out into the streets of the city of London at night and showing him the wealth of the great metropolis in contrast to the destitution and poverty of the east end. So extensively does the message from Mars enter into the story of the play, that the scenes in which he appeared with Mr. Lytell, the star, occasioned the taking of over 300 double exposures.

In addition to Bert Lytell, the picture program will include a Sennett Comedy, "Wedding Bells Out of Tune"; also Loew's Screen Pictorial.

SAYS WIFE AND
HE DRINK TWO BOTTLES A DAY
Simcoe Resident Charged With Illegal Sale of Liquor.
DECISION IS RESERVED
Witness Declares He Gets Booze For Nothing At Shaw's.

[Special To The Advertiser.] SIMCOE, July 15.—Charged with illegally selling liquor, James F. Shaw, a former local restaurant-keeper told in police court today how he disposed of at least two bottles of whiskey every day.
"Between me and my wife, we drink a bottle a day, but never get drunk," he said in answer to questions put by the crown attorney W. C. Kelly. "We give a bottle away in 'hookers' to our friends."
Mrs. Shaw, in the witness-box, stated that she drank at least a pint of liquor a day, and "never was full."
"I put whiskey in the water in the bathtub when I have a bath," she added.
Evidence of the quantity of liquor used at Shaw's home on Kent street followed License Inspector Edmund's testimony that 198 bottles of whiskey disappeared between June 25 and July 4.
Produced Vouchers.
Duncan Campbell, express agent at the L. E. and N. station, produced vouchers showing that Shaw had received four cases labelled liquor on January 10, ten cases on March 17 and on May 10. Inspector Edmund's testimony said he visited Shaw's residence on June 25 and found thirteen cases and six bottles of liquor. On July 4, he found twelve full cases and 46 empty bottles in the Shaw home.

Charles Gay, night constable, said he saw crowds of men coming from Shaw's home on an average of four nights a week.
"They go in singly and come out in bunches," he said.
"What condition were they in?" asked the crown attorney.
"They felt better than when they went in," said Gay, to the amusement of the court.
"Whom did you see going into Shaw's?" demanded H. P. Innes, for the accused.
"Oh, lots of people," replied Gay.
"Now, don't get gay, Mr. Gay," said McInnes. "I asked you for the names of these people you saw coming out.
Give them." "I have seen Carl Coates, Arthur Mason, Cliff Abbey, Herb Macdonald and Richard Wile coming out of Shaw's place at 2 o'clock in the morning," Gay alleged. "There was a man by the name of Rooney and Earl Sutton, too."
"Is that the whole troupe?" demanded Mr. Innes.
"At this juncture Crown Attorney Kelly objected to Mr. Innes' tactics.
"You have no right to stand before a witness and shove your fist in his face," he said.
Innes—"Is that so?"
Kelly—"You're getting excited. You don't like the evidence." William Thomas, a clerk for John Sutton, owner of a wholesale tobacco and soft drink emporium opposite Shaw's home, said he bought three bags of "Seagram's 83" bottles from Shaw.
Each bag contained three dozen bottles.

Arthur Mason, one of the men named by Constable Gay as being seen coming out of Shaw's at 2 o'clock in the morning, admitted that he went to Shaw's home four or five times a week.
"What for?" asked the crown attorney.
"They've got a gramophone up there, and I'm fond of music," replied Mason.

"Do you usually get anything to drink?"
"Oh, yes! Mrs. Shaw takes three hookers, Mr. Shaw the same amount, I got three and Herbert Macdonald the same."
"You never pay for them?"
"No, he gives it to us for nothing."
"When do you get the three hook-ers?"
"First hooker at 9:30 p.m., second at 10:30 o'clock and the nightcap at 12:30 when we go out."
"Booze is a good thing to leave alone," observed the crown attorney.
"It's good for my nerves," explained Mason.
"But you go to Shaw's for the music?"
"Yes, the booze is just a side line." Shaw in the box corroborated his wife's evidence that she drank at least a pint of whiskey a day.
"So your wife would drink 50 bottles of liquor in 100 days?" asked the crown attorney.
"She would," replied Shaw.
Earl Coates, one of the men named by Constable Gay, came into court with a confident air and was asked to take the stand.
"Where do you live?" asked the crown attorney.
"In the icehouse," was the witness' reply.
"Were you ever in Shaw's home?"
"Never in my life," said Coates, looking fiercely at Constable Gay.
When he went out the door he called day a few choice names and such was the amusement of the spectators that it took several minutes for order to be restored.

Money in the Bank.
Statements of M. M. Smith, manager of the local branch of the Moisons Bank, showed that Shaw deposited $700 on May 17, $43.50 on May 18, $163.75 on June 17 and $20 on June 29.
On advice of his counsel, Shaw refused to answer Crown Attorney Kelly as to where the money came from.
Decision in the case was reserved until next Tuesday.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Thousands of United States residents seeking expro-gratification at the liquor laws there, which permit them to have all the light wines and beer they desire with their meals. Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania declared upon his arrival here on the steamship Port George after a vacation in the Dominion.

"There are an unusual number of visitors from the United States in Canada," the Governor said. "I would not care to say that the Volstead act is responsible for their leaving this country for their vacations, but the fact remains that every tourist meets expresses pleasure at the liquor

Right habits of eating—Go slow on rich foods!
'Many Dishes, Many Diseases'
---So said Benjamin Franklin two hundred years ago. And he knew!

When you eat meat you do not need, you are taking slow poison. Beyond a certain point it fails to nourish.
Then it generates the poison that causes loss of health and vigor; the gradual slowing down we call "Old Age."

To keep the zest and energy that stand for health and joy in living, eat simple, nourishing foods—chief among which is Bread.

Increase health and vigor by eating plenty of the most wholesome and delicious of all Breads—
