What is the process for writing upon glass, so that the characters are only visible when breathed upon? Writing on glass which will remain invisible until it is breathed upon can be performed with the point of a common pin, or with the point of a (clean) ordinary pen or quill. The process is to trace the characters first, on the surface of the glass; the pin or pen does not scratch it or leave the slightest visible sign when you have finished writing the word or words. Breathe upon and around it so as to completely enclose the spot you have written on with moisture, and after so doing the characters will become visible. The writing will become plainer the closer you approach to the glass after breathing on it; it is advisable not to look directly at it, but sideways, and the characters will thus appear more distinctly. The best time for seeing the effect of this method of writing is at night—tracing the characters on a mirror—and by the light of a candle. The characters, however, are visible under the above conditions by day light or artificial light.

NO RUNS SCORED.

Rochester, N. Y., May 1.—The second game of the Buffalo-Rochester series was called at the end of the seventh innings because of darkness. Neither side scored a run. The weather was cold and disagreeable, and the attendance small. The game was an errorless one and its feature was W. Calihan's magnificent work in the box and his fielding of his position. Seven of the heaviest hitters of the Buffalos were struck out. Gilmore was wild and seemed to have no control of the ball. In the sixth Rainey hit the ball for three bases, and while running to third collided with T. Calihan, whose left wrist was sprained severely. Toy took his place. Score:—

THE RAILWAY DISASTER.

Thirteen Dead Accotoned For—The G. T. R. Officials to Make an Investigation—Opening of the Inquest.

Hamilton, Ont., May 1.—General Manager Hickson, of the Grand Trunk Railway, who arrived here this morning, in company with several other officials of the road, inspected the scene of Sunday's railway disaster. Mr. Hickson declined to give any opinion as to the cause of the accident, but said that after the inquest is over a rigid investigation will be prosecuted into the particulars of the accident, in the interest of the Railway Company.

This morning the railway authorities searched through the unclaimed baggage taken from the wreck, with a view of getting at the names of the unidentified killed, and from it obtained the following list of names:—H. Levy, Chicago; Mrs. Smith, no address; Capt. Cutler, Cook County Insane Asylum, near Chicago; F. Randall Orr, Omaha, Neb., and another piece with no name. Mr. A. C. Co. arrived to-day and identified the body of Morgan R. Scullin, of 781 West Lake street, Chicago, and left with the remains for the latter place this afternoon. Bordman Loviatt, of Chicago, is being enquired after. He was thought to be on the wrecked train, and his name is not among the list of passengers who went through east. None of the other passengers have as yet been identified.

The remains of H. S. Hall, an old man and a retired merchant of Evansville, Ind., which were identified by his son-in-law, were taken away to-day. Henry Pringle, of Chicago, is reported missing. Mrs. George Grummett's remains will be sent to Chicago to-morrow. It is almost certain that Charles J. C. Fraser, of Toronto, J. L. Curnick, of Chicago, and J. B. Sterns, Camden, Maine, are among the dead. Thirteen dead are thus accounted for, leaving six bodies about which no inquiries have been made.

No official investigation will be made until after the Coroner's Jury have concluded their inquest.

At the Coroner's inquest to-night Mr. Joseph Hickson asked permission to speak, and if being granted, he said it was a matter of the deepest regret on the part of the company that the accident had happened, and he hoped no efforts would be spared to get to the very bottom of it.

Captain Hall and Mr. David Walker, of Toronto, were sworn. Their evidence was largely of the nature of details of the accident. Both said that the train was not making more than 25 miles an hour at the very side before the accident. They also said that the groaning and cries for help had ceased before the cars took fire. The inquest will be gone on with on Friday.
