MILL ALMOST TOTALLY DESTROYED

Chatham Plant of Miramichi Pulp and Paper Co. on Fire Monday Evening

The property known as the Miramichi Pulp and Paper Mill, now owned by the Dominion Pulp Co., was almost totally destroyed by fire Monday evening, only the offices, small warehouse and blacksmith shop being saved from the flames.

The fire started about five o'clock in the afternoon in the building known as the wood-room, at the northeast corner, and had gained considerable headway before the blaze was discovered issuing from the roof. An effort was made to ring in an alarm from box 23, corner of Frost and Water streets, but the box was not in working order. R. A. Snowball, who was one of the first on the scene, phoned the town hall from the Snowball mill office.

The department responded promptly, but the fire, fanned by a strong wind, spread from one building to another with wonderful rapidity, until practically the entire plant was in flames. The firemen, assisted by a willing volunteer corps, devoted their energies mainly towards saving the adjoining houses, and though at times it seemed an impossible task, were successful in confining the fire to the mill property.

From the wood room the fire spread to the digester room, thence to the paper room, screen room, towers, acid plant and sulphur shed, and in a very short time the whole was a seething mass of flame. The buildings on St. Andrew's street were on fire many times, but fortunately the fires were extinguished before any damage had been done. The fences and grass in the old St. Andrew's burying ground also took fire, and the fences were torn down and the blaze drowned out. In a very short time an immense crowd of people assembled, who watched the conflagration from every point of vantage. The heat was intense, and at intervals when the interior supports of the different portions of the plant had been burned away, the walls fell in with a crash and rumble like thunder.

The most spectacular feature of the fire was the falling of the big towers, which were about 175 feet high. Many of the spectators who had arrived early on the scene remained superfluous, awaiting the towers to topple over. The firemen kept the water playing on the north side of the towers so as to have them fall into the yard in the rear, and succeeding in their efforts, prevented damage to the office building.

The origin of the fire is unknown. Manager Stevens and Arthur Spry the day watchman, were in the nation's shop over the wood-room a short time before the fire broke out and saw nothing amiss.

The plant had not been in operation for several years and the greater part of the machinery had been removed to the Dominion Pulp Company's mill at Millbank when that plant was enlarged a short time ago. Much valuable machinery, however, remained in the different departments at the time of the fire, and the loss to the Company will doubtless be a heavy one.

NEW MODELS OUT

FOR STUDEBAKER

Price Reductions Announced
That are Startling to Motoring Public

By announcing for 1916 a seven-passenger, 40 horse-power FOUR at $1,195, and a seven-passenger, 50 Horse-power SIX at $1,395, Studebaker has once more startled the motoring public.

And once more Studebaker has proved that quantity production, scientific manufacturing methods, and a wealth of manufacturing experience can reduce prices and yet maintain high standards of quality.

That these are high grade cars in every essential will be evident from the most superficial examination, and the specifications as given by the Engineering Department indicate that the quality is even higher than with last year's cars. They show that finer steels have been used; that the upholstery is of the highest grade of leather the market affords; that the finishing operations have been increased to twenty-five in number, while numerous other details of manufacture are still further indicative of quality.

Yet despite all these improvements, and changes, the prices have been radically reduced in comparison with those of last year. No FOUR of this size and power has ever been offered at anywhere near the price of $1,195. No seven-passenger Fifty horse-power SIX ever came within hundreds of dollars of the new price of $1,395.

The new cars illustrate more conclusively than ever the accepted Studebaker policy of dignity in design. The Studebaker has never gone in for unusual lines, believing that the public does not care for cars that follow the fads of style that each new season sees.

Accordingly, in this year's cars, Studebaker has adhered to its customary lines, simply improving them in some slight details that add to effect.

The line of the hood melts into the cowl, and the cowl itself has been made longer. The crown fenders are of a deeper design than ever and cling more closely to the curves of the wheels, and the lines of the entire car flow in unbroken curves from the radiator back to the tail-lamp. Grace is the dominant note of the whole design, and while the new cars are larger than ever and more massive in looks, they are among the handsomest cars that have ever been produced.

ALLISON—BRANCH

(From the Gloucester Northern Light)

At the Methodist church, which had been prettily decorated, on Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock, Miss Mildred Weddall Branch, daughter of Mr. Angus Branch, was united in marriage to Mr. George David Allison in the presence of relatives and a large number of friends. The bride, who was unattended, looked very well, in a becoming travelling costume of navy cloth with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of carnations and sweet peas. Rev. F. A. Wightman, pastor of the church was the officiating clergyman. Mr. and Mrs. Allison left on the Limited for a short wedding journey and will on their return reside in Bathurst.

A large number of handsome and useful gifts were received by the bride, who is one of the popular young ladies of our town. The Methodist Church choir of which she was a member, presented a very fine chair. A check for fifty dollars was the gift of the bride's father. The "Northern Light" joins with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Allison in extending to them, many wishes for a happy married life.

BANISH BILE!

A bilious condition of the system is the result of inaction of the liver, often causing severe headache through the eyes and temples, culminating sometimes in nausea and vomiting, which is frequently followed by a bilious diarrhoea.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt, when taken as directed, stimulates the peptic glands of the stomach and increases the contraction of its muscles from above downward. This action is communicated to the intestines and increases the flow of the intestinal juice, thus stimulating the ducts of the liver to pour out the bile, when it can be carried downward by the laxative action of the Salt, instead of remaining to clog up the liver and flow back into the stomach.

Thus, if a person who is subject to Biliousness and Bilious Headache will use Abbey's Effervescent Salt, the natural action of the Stomach, liver and intestine will be kept up and no bile can accumulate in the system. Sold everywhere at 25c. and 60c.

PITY THE EDITOR.

"What's the matter?" inquired the foreman as he entered the sanctum for copy, and noted the editor's swollen forehead, puffed red eye and tattered, dusty coat. "Did you fall down stairs?"

"No—only that," replied the editor, pointing to a paragraph with his finger in the paper before him. "It's in our account of the Crapley-Smith wedding. It ought to read: 'Miss Smith's simpled, shining face formed a pleasing contrast to Mr. Crapley's strong, bold physiognomy.' But see how it was printed."

And the foreman read: "Miss Smith's pimpled, skinny face formed a pleasing contrast to Mr. Crapley's strange, bald physiognomy."

"Crapley was in here just now," concluded the editor, sadly.

DID SHE REALLY SAY IT?

The fair maid gnawed fiercely at the handle of her pen. Then she bent again over the sheet of note-paper and wrote rapidly.

"You are no gentleman," the letter ran, "if you think I said such a thing as she said you said I had said."

Next day came the reply. "Dear girl," wrote the man,—"You must not think I think you think you must be if you said such a thing as you said she said I said you said you had said."

It seems he knew she knew he knew she said just what she said he heard he had heard her friend had heard him say he had heard her say, but, with infinite feminine tact, she accepted his apology.
