

James was a little indignant. "John," said he, "if you got your ideas of repairs from the Malays, I think they must be first cousins to the Goths and Vandals, for I'm blessed if I can see that any of the old house is left."

John laughed, and James soon became reconciled to the superior comforts of the new mansion, which is now declared to be the finest house in Cumberland county.

JAMES HANNAY.

THE END.

THE JANUARY NUMBER.

With the January number of The New Brunswick Magazine a new volume will be started. The page of the Magazine will be enlarged to make room for illustrations and with a new press to do the printing, it is hoped to produce a Magazine that will be attractive in all departments. The Magazine has been well received so far, and has already a goodly circulation in the City of St. John.
