

Also exhibited are works of art that belong to the Department's fine art collection, which contains nearly 5000 works by Canadian artists. Since the 1930s, donations and purchases have added to this distinguished assemblage of paintings, sculptures, prints, drawings, photographs and fabric arts. While some of the collection is displayed at Headquarters in Ottawa, most of it is located at Canadian diplomatic missions abroad to promote and heighten awareness of Canada's cultural identity.