ia.

ncluded wit c in Britain nanner. Th d against b paring to the ministr ver from Ru rliement, be , the Russa fed to answe

rvice; neithe

n it appeare rties in both king ordere m: Mr. Pitt ntinental fy quer, declare ceeded in hi e honourable uperior rank Sir Thoma some time, arite with the interest of ox, fecretary e public bull was not apx, tho' they opposing his nds, were unit v their being , they had fe

s. It is a thing in these mo-considerable

on every occalion, alion, a secretary of state, who was supposed to know nd speak the sentiments of his master. Sir Thomas, eing fensible of their superior interest in parliament. rudently religned on the 10th of November, and the ing afterwards gave the feals of his office to Mr. Fox, nd lord Barrington succeeded Mr. Fox as secretery at var. The popular party, which we call the opposition eing thus excluded, it laid the foundation of that con-usion which marked the following year. Iterations were made, yet the treaties were very far rom meeting with the unanimous approbation of both oules, tho' at length they were approved by the maority. The house next provided for the service of he ensuing year; they voted 100,000l. as a subsidy to he empress of Russia; 54,140l. to the landgrave of the act offet glesse; and 10,000l. to the elector of Bavaria, after everal sharp debates. As the ministry were afraid of a isit from the French, the army was augmented with en new regiments of foot, and eleven troops of light ragoons; 50,000 feamen, including 9000 marines, vere voted, besides 34,000 soldiers, which, with other xpences and deficiences the last year, swelled the suplies to the fum of 7,229,1171.

CHAP. III.

Preparations at Toulon to reduce Minorca. Noise of invading Britain, with its effects. Admiral Bying's expedition. Declaration of war. Seige of Fort St. Philip's. Mesfrs. Fowke's and Bying's trials. King of Prussia takes the field. Battle of Lowoschutz, &c. Affairs in Asia, from 17,49 to the end of 1756.

THE French were at this time very busy in equip-I ping a large fleet at Toulon, for the conquest of Minorca. This is an island in the Mediterranean, about 100 miles fouth of Spain, and is 30 miles long, and 12 road. It is valuable for its harbour of Mahon, where the argest fleets may ride secure from tempests or enemies, he entrance being defended with platforms of guns, and forts strongly fortified. It formerly belonged to pain, but the English made a conquest of it in 1708;