

NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

THIS WEEK AT THE THEATRES

The White Feather

All roads will lead to the Alameda Theatre tonight, when the much-heralded "The White Feather" returns to town with all the favorites of last year's brilliant cast, including the popular Albert Brown, who will be seen in his inimitable characterization of the role of Brent, the English secret service officer. "The White Feather" should be witnessed by every true Britisher, every loyal Canadian in Toronto who believes in wholesomeness and truth in stage entertainment, and by anyone who is a reflection of our lives of today, of the things we are talking about, and the thoughts that are in our minds.

Bringing Up Father
The advent of "Bringing Up Father," the popular musical comedy, in three acts, at the Grand Opera House this week will have a double significance. Besides providing local theatre-goers with a most enjoyable entertainment, a production sure to find immediate acclaim, it will mark the introduction of George McManus as a full fledged playwright. To those who might not be able to recall Mr. McManus without diving in the archives of one's memory, let it be chronicled in bold black type that he is the noted artist whose cartoons

Lulu Glaser at Shea's

Lulu Glaser comes to Shea's in "First Love," a playlet with music, as the headline attraction of this week's bill. Miss Glaser will be assisted by Tom Richards, and with him will be heard in many pleasing songs. Margaret and William Cutty of the Six Musical Cutties are clever musicians who will offer a number of instrumental selections. Frank North and company, who offered the amusing "Those Were Happy Days," presents a sequel to that sketch in his latest playlet, "Back to Wellington." May Melville is an eccentric singing comedienne, with some new songs and graceful dances, while Eva Taylor and company offer the amusing playlet, "Suspicious of Hubby," and the scenic and costume equipment are lavish and magnificent. The story of the piece is broadly humorous in consistent plot. It is constructed in such a manner that it permits the introduction of novel and attractive specialties.

are known far and wide, from one end of this vast country to the other. The play is based on his comics, which now seem to be more popular than ever.

Kissing Girls—Gayety

"All the world loves to be made merry." That is an old axiom, and it is unusually exemplified in Sam Howe's "Kissing Girls" Company, which is to be the attraction at the Gayety Theatre commencing this afternoon, with the usual matinees.

At the Hippodrome

For this week the Hippodrome management offers as the headline attraction of a bright bill Lida McMillan and her clever company in the amusing comedy playlet, "The Star Boarder." Stirring adventures on a cannibal island in the South Seas will feature this week's episode of the thrilling "movie" serial, "Sea of the Navy." Eddie Girard and Jessie Gardner, two clever entertainers, will present their amusing sketch, "Dooley and the Diamond." Lesser and Mourie, in song, dance and comedy, are said to be very good, while Fitch Cooper, "The Musical Hub," has a unique instrumental offering. The Billy Johnson Trio have an amusing musical melange, while Collier and De Walle are premier roller skaters. Ruth Howell and company, in a daring aerial offering, and feature film attractions, complete the bill.

At the Strand

The bill for today, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Strand Theatre will be an excellent one for its patriotic features. The feature playlet will be "The Man Who Stayed at Home," the photo-play version of "The White Feather," with Dennis Eadie in his original part of Christopher Brent. The bill will also include motion pictures of Sir Robert Horden reviewing the men of the second Canadian division at Shorncliffe. The eighth instalment of "The Soldier's Boy" will be presented, as well as the Pathe News, and as a special added feature there will be motion pictures of the great march from Niagara to Toronto; the patriotic song, "Good Luck to the Boys of the Allies," being sung by Mr. Manley, the author, while they are being shown.

Abbe Attell at Loew's

Abbe Attell, in his new monologues, will be the feature act at Loew's Theatre this week. The celebrated comic star, who for twelve years has held the featherweight championship of the world, has made himself quite popular with the public in his original stories. Roland Oliver's comedy playlet, called "Dugan's Money," is second headliner. Popular and catchy songs are used by Harry Gorrard and Clara West. Crumby, Bush and Robinson have a conglomeration of comedy and song. Bob Tip & Co. give something out of the ordinary. The second story of the Wallingford series, called "Three Rings and a Goat," will be shown.

Tip Top Girls at Star

Lovers of good clean and up-to-date burlesque will be pleased with the "Tip-Top-Girls" who will be at the Star Theatre this week. The principals of this company are particularly noteworthy as artists in their field, and the scenic and costume equipment are lavish and magnificent.
