

Handwritten text on a lined page, possibly a ledger or account book. The text is written in a cursive script and is organized into columns by vertical lines. The page shows signs of age and wear, with a dark, irregular border along the left edge.